A Loss to the Nation.
Demanded Much, Got Clubbed.
An Ancient Dread.
Watch, and See a Fight.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

SAD news for the nation yesterday when doctors announced that William Howard Taft might not live another day.

Mr. Taft was a kindly man, generous, tolerant and a man of power.

There was great strength back of his friendly smile.

His life was a succession of honors, every one earned and well deserved.

FIVE HUNDRED radicals, called "Reds," decided to parade in New York City yesterday, protesting against lack of employment.

Red signs across a building in Union Square, next door to Tammany Hall, called upon workmen to get out and demonstrate.

Police gathered as the crowd was about to start and demonstrated, SUCESSFULLY.

Reporters say many heads were "thwacked," also that 180 uniformed men and 25 plain-clothes detectives had instructions to "hit at the feet, not at the head."

A police captain had instructed his men "not to pile up a list of hospital cases."

THE paraders had had no parade permit and were therefore gathered illegally. They started their parade about the City Hall.

Banners read:

"Workers, fight or starve! Demand work or wages."

"We refuse to starve."

"We say fight."

"We demand free rent for unemployed."

"We demand free food and clothing for our children."

"We demand unemployment insurance."

IN THIS country we know nothing about the British "dole" for unemployed, and expect each man to shift for himself. The marchers were demanding a good deal.

However, it would be desirable in these cases to use the club as little as possible and to "pile up hospital cases" as few as possible.

WE ARE a wonderfully rich, prosperous nation.

Many of us cannot even imagine what it is to be hungry or worried about our children. But something can always happen, and it is possible to start something that you can't stop.

SIGNALS to protect pedestrians from automobiles are to be installed in big cities and "amber-colored" lights were suggested. The police say:

"Drivers will pay no attention to anything but RED. That makes them stop."

Why is it that red impresses men, and even the lower animals? Is it, perhaps, because men, for forty million years, and animals, through hundreds of millions of years before men came, have known and inherited one great dread, the red blaze of a forest or prairie fire?

THE REV. DR. RYAN, professor in the Catholic University of America, calls prohibition enforcement "Toryism," and says "the President is not the supreme arbiter of the moral duty of men."

The President, reading that, will perhaps murmur that under our system of government, Father Ryan is not "the supreme arbiter of the moral duty of men either."

PROHIBITION promises to develop an interesting political fight. Watch, and wait, and you will see things not seen hitherto.

But do not believe that the prohibition amendment will be repealed. It will NOT.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR., says — and every well-informed man believes it, since Mr. Rockefeller tells the truth —that neither he nor his father caused the recent cut in crude oil prices. They learned of such cuts from newspapers. The elder Mr. Rockefeller does not pull any strings from "behind the scenes," but probably follows what goes on with mild interest. Past 90 years of age, Mr. Rockefeller is interested in making his money useful. He has sailed the ocean of millions for many years. A few dollar waves more or less make as little difference to him as salt waves do to an old captain.

THE president of the Pennsylvania, Gen. Atterbury, head of one of the greatest railroad systems in the world, says prohibition should be repealed, has not been a help to railroads, and has not affected men's discipline.

He includes "official corruption and youth's revolt" among prohibition evils.

TAXI STRIKERS MEET FOR VOTE

SNOOK CALM NEARING CHAIR

Slayer to Wear Tuxedo at Last Meal; Loyal Wife With Killer of Co-Ed

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 28.—(AP.)—Dr. James Howard Snook, the 50-year-old former Ohio State University professor who is to die tonight in the electric chair for the murder, last June 13, of Miss Theora Hix, a student, will eat his last meal with Mrs. Snook, Warden P. E. Thomas announced today.

Warden Thomas granted the request after a conference with Mrs. Snook, the Rev. Isaac E. Miller, pastor of the King Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, and Mrs. Thomas, the warden's wife.

CHICKEN DINNER

Dr. and Mrs. Snook will eat a chicken dinner between 5 and 6 o'clock today, and within two hours the former professor of veterinary medicine will be led into the death chamber.

Mrs. Thomas, who always prepares the last meal for the condemnied prisoners which they order themselves, will serve a chicken dinner.

It is probable that Dr. Snook will eat his last meal in a tuxedo, Warden Thomas said. The warden told newspapermen that Mrs. Snook had asked permission to bring the garments to the prison when she arrives for the dinner.

Only close relatives were permitted to see Dr. Snook today. Warden Thomas explained that Mrs. Snook had requested that none be permitted in death row because "Dr. Snook is bearing up so well."

WIFE AT PRISON

Mrs. Snook arrived at the prison shortly after 9 a. m. She found the former professor still sleeping, but he was immediately aroused and talked more than an hour with her.

According to present plans of prison officials, Dr. Snook will be removed to the little cell adjoining the death room about 4 p. m., and in this enclosure the last meal will be served.

It is only a few steps from the little death cell to the electric chair. Dr. Snook probably will start the death march under two guards, shortly after 7 p. m. Warden Thomas refused to announce the exact time for the electrocution, but it was indicated that it

FRANCES WILLIAMS

Miss Williams, blonde blues singer in Pittsburgh this week in the Scandals, against whom a $100,000 suit for alienation of affections of her husband was filed by a Pittsburgh woman today in Common Pleas Court.

JUDGE MARTIN IMPROVING

A slight improvement in the condition of Judge Richard W. Martin, critically ill with pneumonia at his home 5807 Stanton avenue, was noted today, according to those at his bedside.

If the jurist maintains his gain during today chances will be bright for his recovery, it was stated. Oxygen has been taken to the sick room as a precaution, but no use of it had been found necessary up to this forenoon.

Judge Martin became ill on the bench of Common Pleas Court a week ago yesterday. His condition became alarming Tuesday when lobar pneumonia developed from influenza.

Pittsburgh Wife of Pianist Asks Blues Singer Pay $100,000 for Alienation

Frances Williams, the blonde blues singer of George White's "Scandals," is entitled to moan 'em low today.

The tall beauty of the stage and night clubs was sued for $100,000 worth of alienated affections by a Pittsburgh woman in Common Pleas Court today.

Frances says it's just "too ridiculous" for her to be accused of diverting "subtly and maliciously" the affections of young Allan Jones, a Pittsburgh pianist. Jones is in the cast of the Broadway musical hit, "Fifty Million Frenchmen."

WEARING RING

Despite the star's idea that a person's affections cannot be stolen, the wife who alleges the wrongs, Mrs. Bertha Jones, also of Pittsburgh, charged in her suit that Miss Williams not alone exhibits a diamond engagement ring, but likewise has a wedding ring.

Frances was aroused from her slumbers this morning by a re-

Harris and Bride to Wed Third Time

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 28.—Harry Harris, son of Pittsburgh's late Senator John P. Harris, and Jane Thurston, comely daughter of the magician, will be married to each other for the third time tomorrow.

Tomorrow's wedding will be in the Catholic Church of St. Louis in Cincinnati, the bride's mother said today.

The first marriage, secret, was near Pittsburgh six weeks ago, while Thurston's show was playing there. To keep their secret the couple were married under assumed names, Mrs. Thurston said.

The second marriage was in Kentucky, after young Harris and his bride had broken the news to the Thurstons. This, too, was a civil ceremony.

"Harry is a Catholic and wants to be married in a Catholic church, and Mr. Thurston and I certainly have no objection to that," Mrs. Thurston said. "Harry is a fine young man and he and Jane are making an ideal couple."

Mr. and Mrs. Thurston will be the best man and matron of honor and the guests at the wedding will be "the entire Thurston company."

Mrs. Thurston revealed that Harris has been named assistant manager of the Thurston show and will travel with the company the rest of the season.

SENATOR URGES U. S. QUIT NAVY ARMS MEET

U. S. Alone Seeks Reduction While Other Powers Fight For Gains, McKellar Says

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—An appeal to President Hoover to withdraw the American delegation from the London peace conference was made in the Senate today by Senator McKellar (Dem.), of Tennessee.

He charged there was "no hope for disarmament or for a reduction of armaments" at the London parley. He declared Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan were seeking naval superiority over the United States and protested that the only agreement reached in London would limit the American Navy, while guaranteeing greater strength to other navies.

PARLEY HELD HOPELESS

"I hope the President will advise our delegation to come home," said McKellar. "If we do not need a great navy, let us decide that question ourselves. Later on, a conference may be held which may bring about a real reduction of naval armament, but in the present state of mind of the conferees representing the other four powers, it is clear there is no possibility of disarmament or of a reduction of armament or even a limitation of armament."

McKellar cited the overthrow of two cabinets in France and the "probability" of the fall of MacDonald's bovernment in Great Britain as additional reasons why the United States should withdraw from the London parley.

"The MacDonald government is likely to fall at any time," said hte Tennesseean. "We ought not to make an agreement at this time when other nations are so doubtful about their governments."

McKellar declared the American delegation was the only one at the conference seeking naval reduction.

"So far as I can judge," said McKellar, "Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy, instead of seeking a reduction of all arma-

110 LOSE JOBS AS MAYOR SWINGS AX

Hillegas Among Those Let Out As Mayor Signs Budget; Expected to Get New Job

The city administration ax fell today on 110 more city employes, all of them in the Department of Public Works.

Charles E. Hillegas was removed as head of the Bureau of Highways and Sewers. T. Lloyd Pillow takes his place. The salary of the position was boosted from $4,500 to $5,000.

With the approval by Council yesterday of the 1930 budget, carrying appropriations totaling $27,660,000, which was signed by Mayor Charles H. Kline today, wholesale dismissals were put into effect.

ANOTHER JOB FOR HILLEGAS

Of those discharged, 60 were in the Bureau of Engineering and 23 in the Bureau of Water. Others were scattered through various bureaus.

Hillegas, Kline supporter, was given the newly created chief supervisorship in the Highways-Sewers bureau. It pays $3,000. Assistant Chief Engineer Fred Lyons was fired. He served 18½ years. The job was abolished. About 12 of the victims are eligible to pension. Edward Carey, chief clerk in the Bureau of Water, and treasurer of the employes' pension fund, was dropped to a clerkship.

Most of the men affected were employed on bond-issue work, which has been completed, it was said. Some will be re-employed as soon as possible on other work.

MANY AWAIT NEW JOBS

Those discharged in the Public Works Department will be paid before they leave, additional money being secured when Council Finance Committee yesterday approved a proposal to turn un-

TAFT WEAKER, KEEPS SMILE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(AP.)—The life of William Howard Taft slowly was ebbing away today, but a flicker of the nationally-known smile lingered still on his pale and worn countenance.

His condition shortly before noon was reported by his physicians as "slightly weaker" and it was only a question of how long his vitality could hold out against the inevitable end.

The former president and chief justice was said to be able to take but "very little nourishment" yet his doctors could seen no decided change in the last 24 hours.

After a noon visit, Dr. Francis Hagner, who has been in constant attendance, said when he entered the room Mr. Taft had recognized him and that the famous Taft smile had enveloped

HALL FILLED TO DECIDE ON PEACE

Acceptance or Rejection of Compromise Plan Offered To Be Decided by Ballot

Striking taxicab drivers gathered this afternoon in the auditorium of Moose Temple to vote on proposed terms of settlement.

Five hundred men filled all available seats, while 300 more stood along the walls and in the rear. Approximately 1,400 drivers are on strike.

Balloting was to be on a compromise offer submitted by the Parmelee Transportation Company, owner of the Yellow and Green cab companies, at recent conferences in the office of Mayor Charles H. Kline. Terms of the proposal have not been made public.

E. S. Higgins, vice president of the Parmelee company, said that until the meeting is over he has nothing to say. A. T. Siford, chairman, and Charles H. Waddle, vice chairman of the strikers' committee, were equally reticent.

They had bound themselves at the conference in Mayor Kline's office to refrain from making any statements.

Penciled signs, which were posted in the hallway of the McGeagh Building, where the union headquarters is located, urged the men to vote "no" on the terms. George W. Rodgers, striker committeeman, declared that the committee had nothing to do with the signs. They were placed during the night and torn down by the men yesterday morning, Rodgers said.

State Will Reroute Old Midland Trail

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 28.—(AP.)—A change in the routing of the Midland Trail, U. S. Route No. 60, at Lewisburg, Greenbrier County, was agreed upon at a conference of members of the state road commission and residents of Lewisburg. The new routing, which will involve the building of a short stretch of paved road, will eliminate two dangerous curves at the western approach to Lewisburg.

Red Cab Refused Permit To Operate Here

The Red Cab Company's application for the right to incorporate has been refused by the Public Service Commission, it was learned today. Robert J. Hasley, president and sole owner of the company, had planned, if allowed to form a corporation, to increase his fleet of cabs and extend the service. His application was vigorously opposed by the Yellow and Green cab companies, which maintained there was not enough business in Pittsburgh for another large cab company.

M. Venger, of Pittsburgh, applied to the Public Service Commission today, a Harrisburg Associated Press dispatch states, for permission to operate motor vehicles as a common carrier for transportation of persons on call or demand in Pittsburgh.

The only M. Venger in the city directory is Morris Venger, listed as a repairman of the Conroy Tire Service Company. He could not be reached.

At the time of the hearings before the Public Service Commission last year on the application for incorporation the Red Cab Company had 17 cabs and maintained 28 cab stands.

U. S. PROTEST AGAINST RUSS WAR ON RELIGION DEMANDED

TERRORISM CHARGED TO SOVIET

Congressman Fish Calls Upon House to Pass Resolution Attacking Russian Policy

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Adoption of a resolution introduced by him protesting against the anti-religion campaign of Russia was advocated in a speech in the House today by Representative Hamilton Fish (Rep.), of New York.

Refusing to agree that protests may make matters worse, he declared that Russia has embarked upon an elaborate campaign to drive the Christian religion out of the nation in five years.

He declared multitudes of Russian priests, Jewish rabbis, Zionists, Catholic priests and Protestant ministers are being arrested on flimsy charges and exiled from Russia if they are not secretly executed.

CHARGES TERRORISM

The G. P. U., or secret police he said, has spread terror throughout Russia, driving two-thirds of the Jewish people away from the faith of their fathers.

"Are the people of the United States to continue silent any longer on these atheistic attacks of the Communist regime in Russia against Christian and Jewish religions?" asked Fish.

"It is true, while we claim no right to interfere with the internal affairs of Soviet Russia, which we have very properly refused to recognize, there are higher laws of humanity and God which are the foundations of civilization, and Christian nations have a duty to protest openly against this deliberate warfare upon God and all religious beliefs.

"There are those who deprecate any form of protest, as it might make matters worse. The fact is that conditions could not be worse, as it is the aim of the Bolsheviks to wipe out all traces of religion within the next five years."

BRITAIN CAUTIOUS

LONDON, Feb. 28.—(INS.)—The British government today issued an order preventing all soldiers, sailors and government airmen from participating in the services of intercession on behalf of the Christians in Soviet Russia.

The order was issued because of the "political nature" of the controversy raging over the alleged mistreatment of Christians in the Soviet state.

GERMANS PROTEST

BERLIN, Feb. 28.—(AP.)—The parliamentary faction of the National Christian Federation has filed an interpellation in the Reichstag asking the government's attitude on the "suffering, distress, outlawry, persecution of Christians in Russia, the closing of churches and the public blasphemy of God by word and picture." The interpellation demands that the government make a thorough investigation into these accusations.

REDS ENLISTING U.S. STUDENTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(INS.)—A nation-wide effort on the part of Communists to convert boys and girls of student-age to the cause of the Russian Reds has given the Federal Government much concern, it was revealed today.

Officials said there has been wide circulation of insidious propaganda in the schools. Communists maintain headquarters in most of the principal cities, one being located in Washington not far from the Capitol.

Law enforcement agencies of government have made a study of the situation, but are not in a position to take action unless demonstrations such as have occurred recently, involve federal officials, diplomats or government property.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—(INS.)—Police increased their vigilance in the vicinity of Communist and radical gathering places today following three raids on meeting halls last night which resulted in the arrests of 15 persons and seizure of Communist pamphlets.

Descending on the Trade Union Unity League, police squads destroyed thousands of Communist pamphlets and mimeographing machines. They also tore up an oil painting of Lenin. Lydia Bennet and four men were placed under arrest.

Ten more men were arrested in two subsequent raids on Communist meetings which prevented a march on the City Hall and federal building, according to Deputy Police Commissioner John Stege.

the features. He was, however, unable to speak.

DIPLOMATS CALL

Outside the big house on Wyoming avenue all was quiet save for frequent calls from friends and the diplomats of foreign powers to pay the respect of their nations to a great American.

Two of the first to visit the home, bathed in a bright sunshine that embodied a touch of spring, were Paul Claudel, the ambassador of France, and an attache of the British embassy, who acted as representative of the British empire in the absence from Washington of an ambassador of that nation.

George W. Wickersham, chairman of the National Law Enforcement Commission, who has been Taft's friend for years, also called, as did David S. Ingalls, the youthful assistant secretary of the Navy.

A policeman paced slowly back and forth in front of the mansion to make sure the last hours of the ill man were undisturbed by noise or confusion.

SON ARRIVES

Robert A. Taft, a son of the former president, arrived from Cincinnati at 11:53 a. m. Another son was reported en route to the city. Mrs. Helen Manning, a daughter, has been at the bedside for some time.

Two of the callers today were Justices Stone and Sanford, of the Supreme Court, who until a month ago served under Mr. Taft as chief justice. Mr. Stone lives near the Taft home. He visited the residence several times and finally sent his secretary to obtain the physicians' bulletin and advise him immediately. The bulletin was issued at 11:40 a. m. It read:

"The former chief justice is slightly weaker. Is able to take very little nourishment. There is no decided change in his condition since yesterday."

It was signed by Dr. Thomas A. Claytor and Dr. Hagner.

porter. This first information of the suit brought five minutes of laughter and giggles from the star. Then she said:

"It's ridiculous. You know you can't steal anyone's affections. You know that. I met Jones seven months ago and didn't even know he was married. I'm going to call Mr. White in New York right away."

Mrs. Jones' action, filed by Attorney Louis Little, included a capias asking that the star be compelled to post a $5,000 bond. The court ruled that $1,000 be posted.

CHARGES LOVE GONE

Mrs. Jones charges Miss Williams has contrived "wickedly, wrongfully and unjustfully to deprive her of the comfort and love of her husband and alienated and destroyed the affections of the said husband." She further accuses the star of failing to contradict statements that she wears a wedding ring given to her by Jones.

Jones has failed to contribute to her support since he met Miss Williams, the wife accuses. She has been the object of much ridicule, Mrs. Jones charged, and also that Jones made many overtures to her that she consent to a divorce.

The couple was wed in December, 1922, according to the papers filed, and Mrs. Jones enjoyed the love and respect of Allan until July, 1929, she says.

"BOLONEY," SAYS JONES

Jones, notified by telephone in New York of the suit, said:

"Just a lot of boloney."

He said he hasn't seen his wife in two years and hasn't lived with her for two and a half years. He is now playing the piano with the California Collegians, in "Fifty Million Frenchmen."

DISPERSING COMMUNISTS BEFORE NEW YORK CITY HALL

RED PARADES SET MARCH 6

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(INS.)—Protest meetings and parades, such as the one which ended in a near riot in New York yesterday, will be held here and in Chicago, Cleveland, Los Angeles and other cities March 6, officials of the Communistic Trades Union Unity League said today.

The league sponsored the visit yesterday afternoon of 100 men and women to the City Hall. They carried banners protesting unemployment and when they refused to disperse many were beaten by police. Three were arrested. Bystanders were clubbed as they attempted to avoid the clashing Reds and police.

According to the league the parade was ordered by the Communist Trades Union International at Moscow.

Police classified the melee here as a serious disorder, comparable to those which have occurred within the fortnight in Seattle, Milwaukee, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Baltimore, Chicago and other cities.

SPANISH KING'S FOES FORCING ABDICATION

Alfonso Rumored Considering Passing Throne to Son After Republican Riots

By TOMAS LOAYZA
International News Service.

MADRID, Feb. 28.—King Alfonso of Spain may abdicate before another year has passed to prevent a weakening of the Royalist forces in Spain, it was rumored today.

The report that the King may be induced to sacrifice his throne spread following riots which occurred when Jose Sanchez Guerra, ex-premier and "grand old man" of Spanish politics, made his first public address since his return from the exile into which Primo de Rivera, his arch enemy, forced him.

"DEATH TO THE KING!"

A new demonstration broke out today. Hundreds of students gathered, shouting "death to the King," and could not be dispersed until police had charged them with drawn sabres. Several were arrested.

While the bulk of the demonstrators, who filled the streets of Madrid with shouts of "down with the king," were Republicans, nevertheless there are many prominent Royalists who support Guerra's attitude.

Guerra favors continuation of the monarchy, but opposes the rule of the present King.

MAY GIVE SON THRONE

It was reported Alfonso may adbicate in favor of his son, Don Juan.

This probably would appease the large political element which opposes the present King, and at the same time keep the Royalist ranks intact and insure preservation of the Bourbon dynasty.

Premier D'Amaso Berenguer was undisturbed by the effects of Guerra's speech and the riotous disorder which followed it. Berenguer, however, forbade further political speeches for the present.

"Foreign reports that a dictatorship will be re-established if the present situation becomes critical are news to me," he advised International News Service. "I regret the attitude Senor Guerra has taken against the King, but yesterday's riots were unimportant. However, they indicated that political readjustment must be slow."

Guerra bitterly attacked King Alfonso as being responsible both for the dictatorship of former Premier Primo de Rivera, and what he called the present dictatorship of Premier Berenguer.

DEMANDS "PEOPLE'S RULE"

He demanded that the Premier take immediate steps to convoke a free and constitutional parliament which would carry out the will of the people. He quoted one of Spain's classic poets with a reference to the impossibility of "serving men who have become worms."

Riots followed. Reds, students and unemployed took part. Cries of "Long live a republic," "Down with monarchy," and "Down with the King" were heard.

Police curbed the demonstrations with drawn sabres. Several were hurt, one seriously. A strong military guard patrolled some sections of the city throughout the night.

Agents Seize Dope On Ohio Prisoners

CLEVELAND, Feb. 28.—(INS.)—Acting on a tip that drugs were being smuggled into the county jail here, federal agents raided the bastile today and seized six federal prisoners with quantities of morphine hidden in their clothing.

The dope was believed to have been smuggled to the prisoners in packages of cigarets and by newsboys.

U. S. NARCOTIC CHIEF OUSTED IN SHAKEUP

Other Officers Transferred; Col. Nutt Charged With Padding Arrest Figures

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(INS.)—A thorough and far-reaching shakeup in the government's narcotic forces was announced at the Treasury today.

Col. L. G. Nutt, for many years the chief of the narcotic enforcement laws, was demoted and taken out of the division, being assigned as a field supervisor in the prohibition service.

Simultaneously it was announced that George W. Cunningham, the narcotic enforcement chief in New York, has been transferred to Nashville, Tenn., and will be succeeded in New York by Joseph A. Manning, who has been in charge in Nashville.

Many narcotic agents now on duty in New York will be transferred to other parts of the country.

The responsibility for padding figures on narcotic arrests by government squads in New York was laid to Nutt recently in a report by a New York grand jury. The figures were the total arrests made by New York police and government agents, but the deputy commissioner explained that he had sent them to Congress to show the amount of work being done in New York and not with any intention of creating a false impression.

Harry J. Anslinger, now a deputy prohibition commissioner, will succeed Col. Nutt as narcotics chief temporarily.

Weather Conditions.

The Northwest high pressure area moved eastward to Eastern Ontario and the Middle Atlantic states, while the Southwest low advanced northeastward to the plains. The lowest barometer reported is 29.50 inches at Huron, S. D. It is producing cloudy weather over most of the country, snow over the Rocky Mountain states and the western and northern plains and rain over the southern states, the lower Mississippi valley and the Gulf states. It also caused marked rises in temperatures over the plains and the Mississippi valley.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling. Stage at Franklin is 9.4 feet. Lock No. 2, 16.8; Pittsburgh, 11.5; Dam No. 4, 23.1; Dam No. 6, 25.7; Dam No. 9, 27.0, and Dam No. 12, 28.1. The rivers will continue to fall.

Announced

HELENE COSTELLO

Invitations are in the mails for the marriage, March 15, of Miss Costello, daughter of Maurice Costello, one-time Pittsburgh matinee idol, to Lowell Sherman. Both are film players. Mr. and Mrs. (Dolores Costello) John Barrymore will be attendants.

SIX PIANOS FLY IN VAN WRECK

Six pianos were damaged and two men escaped serious injury today when a motor van careened backward down Dinsmore avenue, Crafton, and crashed into two big shade trees at Elmwood street, uprooting them, as several autoists fled from its path.

William Criss, of 1507 West Market street, Steubenville, O., driver, and Charles Coulter, of 501 North Fifth street, helper, were unable to stop the truck when it suddenly started backwards down the hill.

Several motorists, following the truck up the hill, managed to back out of the way. The crew of the van tried frantically to stop it, but it kept on until it crashed into the trees in the yard of Mrs. Anna McGinley Warner.

The impact hurled Criss against the side of the cab, dazing him. The uprooted trees were about 40 feet high.

The pianos were being hauled from the Steubenville Transfer and Storage Company, Steubenville, to Pittsburgh. It was said the truck got out of control when the driver tried to shift into low gear. Because of the weight of the load, neither the foot brake nor the emergency brake could stop the truck.

WHITE HOUSE INVADED BY OIL LOBBY

Inquiry Reveals 'Big Men' In Government Involved As Senate Fights on Tariff

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—While the Senate Lobby Investigating Committee was revealing that oil lobbyists had invaded even the White House, the Senate today staged a legislative battle over the Southwest's demand for tariff protection on crude oil, gasoline and other petroleum products.

The Democratic-Insurgent coalition, fresh from a victory over a newly-organized lumber-oil-and-sugar alliance, declared war against the proposed oil tariff.

Senator Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska, its leader, said the coalition was fighting that tariff because of its tendency to increase the price of oil and gasoline.

LOBBY FUND $50,000

Fifty thousand dollars was raised among Oklahoma oil producers to lobby in Washington for a tariff on oil, Wirt Franklin, Ardmore, Okla., president of the Independent Oil Producers' Association, told the Senate Lobby Committee shortly before debate was begun in the Senate.

The records of the association were seized in a raid here last night.

Franklin told the committee he had been interviewing members of both houses in their offices and in the cloak room and asking them to vote for the proposed tariff on oil.

Franklin also told the committee he had an hour's conference early this month with President Hoover in his efforts to get a tariff on oil.

"Later Secretary of War Hurley told me the President wanted to talk with me further and invited me to lunch. I had lunch with the President and we talked over the matter."

HUSTON, NEWTON NAMED

The name of Claudius H. Huston, Republican National chairman, was brought into the hearings as interested in the oil tariff. Huston at one time was connected with the Transcontinental Oil Company.

Franklin said he had seen Huston this week. "But all he did was listen."

A letter from Representative W. H. Sproul (Rep.), of the Third Kansas District, suggesting that former Representatives Frank Mondell, of Wyoming, and P. P. Campbell, of Kansas, be retained as oil tariff lobbyists, was put in evidence by the Senate lobby committee.

Sproul also intimated that Walter Newton, one of President Hoover's secretaries, and Chairman Huston could be used to advantage.

Franklin charged that after the oil conference called by President Hoover at Colorado Springs last June the independents and himself in particular, were threatened with coercion unless they lined up with the big companies.

URGES OIL TARIFF

Senator Thomas (Dem.), of Oklahoma, led the fight in the Senate for the oil tariff. He proposed a duty of $1 a barrel on crude oil and a 50 per cent ad valorem rate on gasoline. He said the latter rate equaled three cents a gallon.

He defended the protection as necessary to protect the "little fellows."

Opening debate, Senator Thomas said the oil industry was in "extreme distress" with price cuts occurring frequently.

The issue, he argued, was between the independents and a "handful of powerful producers including the Standard group, the Gulf and the Royal Dutch Shell."

ATTACKS QUIZ PERSONNEL

Thomas said Chairman Smoot, of the Finance Committee, might as well have called W. C. Teagle, of the Standard Oil of New Jersey; John D. Rockefeller and Secretary Mellon instead of appointing Senators Reed, Pennsylvania, and Edge, New Jersey, Republicans, and King (Dem.), Utah, as a sub-committee to hear evidence on an oil tariff.

He understood, he added, that Edge, now ambassador to Paris, was a brother-in-law of Teagle and that Reed was a former counsel for the Mellon Gulf interests.

Russian Baritone Files Divorce Suit

RENO, Nev., Feb. 28.—(INS.)—Herman Lissan, Russian baritone singer, today was suing his wife for divorce on the grounds of cruelty. His complaint alleges that his wife locked him out of their home, that she refused to cook meals for him and that she nagged him.

They were married in New York October 19, 1925.

While in the Russian Army during the World War, Lissan suffered numerous wounds.

Arctic Gale Blocks Eielson Air Funeral

MOTORSHIP NANUK, NORTH CAPE, Siberia, Feb. 28.—(AP.)—A strong gale sweeping across the Arctic dimmed the hopes of American pilots for a flight today to Alaska with the bodies of the aviators Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, who were killed November 9 when their plane crashed 90 miles southeast of here. It was believed that the gale might last several days.

would come at the regular time between 7 and 8 tonight.

Prison guards said that Dr. Snook was composed on rising today and smiled when talking to Mrs. Snook through the bars of the cell.

MOTHER STAYS AWAY

Mrs. Snook has not decided where her husband's body will be buried. His mother and sister, who reside in Lebanon, have not visited him since his conviction last August in Common Pleas Court here and have specified that he shall not be buried in the family grave there. Dr. Snook is said to be distressed at his mother's failure to visit him, although she testified in his defense at the trial.

The day of Dr. Snook's execution found Ohio Penitentiary a focus point for eyes of the morbid and curious. One woman representing herself as a newspaper reporter vainly attempted time and again to get past the outer guards into death row to see Snook.

Quarrel Led to Killing Of Hix Girl, Snook's Confession

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 28.—Dr. James H. Snook confessed slaying Theora K. Hix, a medical student at Ohio State, after her mutilated body was found on a rifle range near here last June.

Although he first denied any connection with the affair, he later admitted killing the girl when it was discovered that he had rented a room for him and his "wife." The "wife" was later found to be the slain co-ed.

Snook testified that he battered the girl on the head during a quarrel in which she threatened to tell his wife of their clandestine romance. He then slashed her throat, he said, to relieve her suffering.

PLEADS FOR GIRL'S RETURN

The friendship of Snook and the girl he killed extended over several years. He, the middle-aged professor with a sagging chin, was almost 20 years the senior of the attractive brunet who came to Columbus from the respectable home in Bradenton, Fla.

They met on the campus of Ohio State. When she departed the university the following year to enroll at Barnard College, the girls' school of Columbia University, he pleaded with her to return. The following year she did.

Their friendship flourished. Snook, forgetful of his wife and baby, established a one-room apartment for himself and Theora near the campus. The landlady knew him as a salesman.

An argument between the two preceded the murder. They had been driving along in Snook's small car. Snook insisting that he must spend the approaching week-end with his wife out of town and Theora demanding that he stay with her.

Snook said she threatened to kill his wife and baby if he left the city. This alleged quarrel resulted in his beating her on the head repeatedly with a hammer and applying the fatal stroke in slashing her jugular vein with a pocket knife.

In the weeds of a rifle range on the outskirts of the city her mutilated body was found.

VANITY CASE LINK

There was material for melodrama in the detection of Snook. The two discoveries which convinced investigators that the doctor was guilty were a vanity case and a key.

While Snook was professing his innocence, detectives found the vanity case tossed away in the cellar of his home. They established that it was not Mrs. Snook's. And then they learned of the private apartment; they learned that two hours before Theora's body had been identified Snook had returned the key of the apartment to the landlady.

These discoveries were the mainsprings of the 23-hour grilling that Snook withstood. And when the chemist reported that a stain on a pair of Snook's trousers had been caused by blood, the one-time pistol shot champion broke down.

While Snook was being cross-examined in one cell, his wife and Marion T. Meyers were being questioned apart.

The loyal wife of the professor insisted that her husband had returned to their home as early as 9:30 p. m. of the day Theora was murdered. After determined questioning she broke down and admitted she hadn't seen Snook at home until shortly before midnight.

BOY FRIEND FREED

Meyers, arrested as a murder suspect, was a former sweetheart of Theora. But the girl had ignored his attentions for those of Snook's. Eventually he convinced the authorities that he was not implicated in the slaying, but he was dismissed from the university, where he was employed in Snook's department.

In his repeated denials Snook's suggestion was that Theora had been slain by a fiend. Snook had so mutilated her body to lend that impression. Often he emphasized he had warned Theora against accepting automobile rides from strangers.

"She enjoyed automobile rides," Snook said, "and I often warned her about riding with strangers. However, I never suspected her of going out with anyone but Meyers and me. She was a good companion, although once she told me she wouldn't marry me on a bet."

Snook Rises Late, Enjoys Hearty Breakfast

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 28.—(INS.)—Dr. James H. Snook, the college professor who murdered Miss Theora Hix, his co-ed sweetheart, and who will be electrocuted at the Ohio State penitentiary here this evening, has become bitter over his impending fate, Warden P. E. Thomas said today.

His bitterness is directed against the people at large, whom he characterized as an incensed and infuriated public.

Snook slept late this morning. He arose to begin his last day on earth about 10 o'clock, and then ate a hearty breakfast. His lunch consisted of fried pickled pork, cream gravy, hominy, bread, butter and coffee.

Snook Will Die With Prayer, Says Pastor

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 28.—The Rev. Maston Rhodes, cellmate of Dr. James Snook, said last night in his cell that Snook would die with a prayer on his lips.

Rhodes, former pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, was given a death sentence for shooting and killing a parishioner with whom he quarreled, but a retrial was ordered by a higher court.

Rhodes claims that while in the penitentiary with Snook, he helped to convert the former Ohio State University professor.

SNOOK CLEARS THEORA'S NAME

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 28.—(INS.)—As the time of his execution drew near, Dr. James H. Snook obliterated the smear which he had cast during his trial upon the reputation of his co-ed victim, Miss Theora Hix.

"I repudiate absolutely both the confessions which were rung from me by the police prosecutor by third degree methods and the story of perversion I gave on the stand did not originate with me," said a statement which Snook issued through his attorneys.

"I do this knowing it may not stay the hand of the thing they call justice in this case, but instead for the purpose of correcting a wrong impression that an infuriated and incensed public has had of those involved," continued the formal declaration.

"There was no one else involved in her death. I did not premeditate her death. I did not intend to kill her. I was under a great nervous strain and in a weakened physical condition and I cracked.

"This is the true story. If I must go to my death, I want an unsympathetic public to know the facts."

Judge Urges Action On Sunday Movies

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Feb. 28.—(AP.)—Judge E. M. Showalter said today in his charge to the Marion County grand jury that, in the opinion of the court, the state law forbids Sunday motion picture shows and that until the statute is repealed, "it is the law of West Virginia and will be observed in Marion County. It is your duty and mine to enforce it."

Commenting on a popular ballot conducted by theaters here, which indicated that there was a public demand for Sunday shows, Judge Showalter said: "Ours is a government of laws and not of majorities and we do not change our habits and actions by a vote except in the regular manner provided therefor."

Death Due to Anger, Accused Youth Freed

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 28.—(AP.)—Charles Stratton, Jr., University of Missouri law student, was freed of a charge of murdering Sam Lawrence, Humansville, Mo., roadhouse proprietor.

The court held there was insufficient evidence to prove that the law student caused Lawrence's death by striking him with his fist when Lawrence attempted to eject Stratton. Physicians testified that Lawrence died of cerebral hemorrhage due to high blood pressure and "an angry mental state."

School Boy Hurt In Path of Auto

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 28.—Edward Wiltrek, 9, of East Manor, is in a serious condition in the hospital here from injuries received when he was struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Bermatre, 30, of Jeannette. The youngster ran in front of the car while on his way to school, it is alleged.

VARE TO CONFER ON CANDIDACY

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28.—(AP.)—Reports from Florida last night said that William S. Vare planned to return to Philadelphia next week to confer with his political lieutenants with a view of determining definitely whether he shall remain a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator against Senator Joseph R. Grundy.

The Philadelphia organization leader is expected here Tuesday or Wednesday. Upon his arrival he will go over the situation with James M. Haslett, chairman of the Republican city committee; State Senator Samuel W. Salus and other ward leaders comprising the Vare "war board."

Vare discussed Pennsylvania affairs with Secretary of Labor James J. Davis in St. Lucie Wednesday night. Both said the talk had no political significance. The meeting had the effect here of reviving the reports that Davis may enter the field as a candidate for governor as a running mate of Vare, or as a candidate for Senator as a running mate of Brown.

Ill Queen Rallies, And Ingrid Is Feted

ROME, Feb. 28.—(AP.)—Queen Victoria of Sweden, who has been seriously ill at the Swedish royal villa here, was so much improved last night that the French ambassador to the Holy See gave a reception in honor of Princess Ingrid.

Honor guests included King Gustav and Princess William of the Swedish royal house and other members of the Swedish court and the Swedish colony in Rome.

PINCHOT FLAYS UTILITY RULE

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28.—(AP.)—Asserting that the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission was "bossed by the utilities and not the public," former Gov. Gifford Pinchot last night called on the people of the state to abolish the commission and replace it with a "fair rate board," elected by the voters of districts.

Pinchot, who is considering entering the primary campaign as a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, was the principal speaker at a meeting of the United Business Men's Association at the Hotel Walton. It was his second attack on the Public Service Commission within a few weeks.

"The combination between the Public Service Commission and the public utility combinations," he declared, "has become intolerable. It must be broken up.

"There is reason to believe that the people of Pennsylvania have been watching the Public Service Commission. I am convinced myself that the patience of the people is and ought to be just about exhausted.

"There is good reason why it should be. Nearly every man and woman in the state knows at least one such reason. Pittsburgh knows a reason in its gas cases.

Take the taxicab business in Philadelphia, for an actual example. In its decision the Public Service Commission served notice that it will not permit any new companies to do business in Philadelphia and that it intends to create in Philadelphia an absolute monopoly in all forms of transportation except steam railroads."

Missionaries Slain By Chinese Bandits

LONDON, Feb. 28.—(INS.)—Four Catholic missionaries, three of them women, were brutally murdered by Chinese bandits near Suipin, an Exchange telegraph dispatch from Hong Kong stated today.

Those killed, according to the dispatch, were Father Carravaria, a bishop of the Salesian Order, and three Chinese sisters of the Order of Visitation.

Special Jails for Dry Law Violators Advocated

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 28.—(AP.)—Construction of special jails for dry law violators as a means of relieving congestion in county jails was urged today at the annual meeting of the State Association of County Commissioners now in session.

H. J. Sell, Nobles County commissioner, suggested that the State Legislature provide such additional jails. The proposal was referred to a committee.

At present, Sell said, dry law violators are idle all the time they are in jail and cost the county to which they are sent large sums for food and maintenance. With special jails, he thought, a provision could be made to put the prisoners to work and pay them for their labor and turn the funds over to their families.

STATE DRY LAW REPEAL URGED

By WILLIAM S. NEAL,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Anti-prohibition forces of the nation are planning a great drive to wipe out state enforcement acts as a part of their general assault upon the Eighteenth Amendment, it was disclosed today as a result of the House Judiciary Committee's anti-dry bill hearings.

The movement was characterized by Capt. W. H. Stayton, chairman of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, as one of the outstanding developments in the nation-wide controversy over prohibition.

Coupled with this "whittling-down" process is the demand of the liberals for a nation-wide referendum and proposals to "smoke out" every candidate for Congress on the dry and anti-dry issue.

"I regard the effort to repeal state enforcement laws as a significant effort," said Capt. Stayton.

"Those who are leading the fight hold that if a half-dozen big states join with five which have already abolished their state enforcement acts, they can say to the Republican party in 1932, 'How can you elect a dry candidate with these powerful states recorded as wet?'"

Already, according to Capt. Stayton, New York, Montana, Nevada and Wisconsin have voted repeal of state acts, and Maryland never enacted one.

The repeal movement now is directed chiefly to Illinois, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Delaware, and Connecticut, he said.

NAVAL ENVOYS' RECALL URGED

ments are each laboriously and diligently seeking to increase their armaments or to retain naval superiority over us. Great Britain's refusal to consider the Rodney matter, the high limit she sets upon cruiser tonnage and her unwillingness to regard other nations building the kind of cruisers suitable to other nations needs indicate her attitude quite fully.

On the other hand, France apparently hopes to attain superiority over Great Britain on the submarine issue and manifestly is seeking superiority over Italy in naval armaments.

Of course, Japan is holding out for all she can get.

"It seems to me that our delegates to the conference are the only ones that are really seeking a reduction of limitation of arms. All others are fighting for increases or superiority."

McKellar hotly opposed America entering a Mediterranean pact. He chided Great Britain for protesting against the United States building a battleship equal to her Rodney and protested against exclusion of the subject of "freedom of the seas" from the London agenda. He also argued the conference should have included "merchantmen" in computing the strength of the navies.

"As the newspapers report it," he added, "there is no hope for a reduction of naval burdens. There is no hope of the lessening of the likelihood of war and no hope of advancing the cause of peace. There is only a prospect of vastly increasing naval armaments at enormously increased expenditures by the United States and I believe no possible good can come to the United States from any agreement that might now be made. On the other hand, vast harm may come to our country from any agreement which now seems possible."

U. S., JAPAN COMPROMISE

LONDON, Feb. 28.—(INS.)—The compromise stage was reached today in the disarmament negotiations between the United States and Japan.

In an effort to find a possible basis for agreement on naval strengths between these two powers, Senator David A. Reed today called upon Tsuneo Matsudaira, Japanese ambassador to London. They held a lengthy discussion on all phases of the ratio problem.

From Japanese sources it is learned that Senator Reed tentatively suggested, according Japan a 65 per cent ratio of light cruisers and destroyers and approximately a 73 per cent ratio of submarines.

On the question of heavy cruisers, however, Senator Reed is understood to have remained adamant in granting Japan only a 60 per cent ratio. Advices from Tokio have stated that Japan will demand a 70 per cent ratio in all auxiliary classes, but the additional 5 per cent accorded them in submarines may influence the Japanese to lessen their cruiser demands.

MELLON FIGHTS DOUBLE TAXES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(INS.)—Secretary Mellon today urged American participation in a world-wide movement to end international double taxation. He appeared before the House Ways and Means Committee to urge enactment of the Hawley bill to this end.

"The movement to mitigate the burdens that arise from the taxation of the same income, profits or property by two or more countries has gathered considerable momentum due to the high post-war tax rates and the growing realization that double taxation is unscientific and unsound," he said.

Double taxation, he said, is a barrier to the expansion of foreign trade.

Mellon proposed reciprocal concessions by which profits of foreign companies operating in the United States would be exempted from taxation here, if foreign nations granted exemption to American firms. This principle is now effective with shipping companies.

Man Linked With Slain Woman to Testify

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 28.—(AP.)—Charles Peter, Salt Lake City mining promoter, accused from the witness stand at the inquest into the death of Mrs. Dorothy Moormeister, 32, of persuading the slain woman to divorce her husband and attempt to get $80,000 alimony, was expected to take the stand today upon resumption of the inquest.

The body of Mrs. Moormeister was found last Saturday morning on a lonely road near here. There was evidence that the slayer had driven the woman's own automobile back and forth over the body.

Numerous charges were hurled at Peter yesterday by Miss Amelia Hugentobler, 22, sister and confidante of the slain woman. Miss Hugentobler testified that her sister was dazed and complained of a "film" over her eyes for a whole day after she had been out with Peter a week before the murder. She said Mrs. Moormeister told her she believed she had been "doped."

Miss Hugentobler testified that her sister told her she was afraid of Peter and declared that the mining promoter said she could learn to "love me as I love you." The witness related that Peter had told Mrs. Moormeister that he also contemplated a divorce.

Dr. Moormeister testified Tuesday that he had discovered through a letter found after his wife's death that she had had an affair with a Persian prince while the Moormeisters were visiting in Paris.

Find Missing Man Dead in Slag Pit

MAWSON PARTY LOCATES OLD LANDMARKS

Traces of Early Antarctic Explorations Found and Their Findings Compared

By SIR DOUGLAS MAWSON

Commander of the British Australian and New Zealand Antarctic Research Expedition

Radio Via London

S. S. DISCOVERY, Antarctica, Feb. 22 (Delayed)—By flights over the Eastern portion of Kerguelen Island, Aviators Campbell and Douglas have been able greatly to assist in delineating the inland features of the island and certain vaguely defined portions of its coastline.

They have at all times shown great skill in handling our plane and are most helpful in many departments of our work. Photographer Hurley made several flights with them, securing aerial pictures of the mountains and waterways of the island's extraordinarily interesting topography.

USE MOTORBOAT

In connection with the scientific work several distant excursions have been conducted by motorboat, on all of which large additions to our biological samples have been effected. So great are these in fact that Prof. Johnston and his staff have been working from dawn to dark accumulating a splendid record of the life of this region.

We have visited three land stations of the British Transit Venus Expedition of 1874, now of historic interest. But little now remains of their occupation.

We also visited the ruins of the hut erected on Kerguelen Island by the German Gauss Antarctic Expedition. The section on this island was then led by Prof. Drygalski. Their building is now derelict and uninhabitable.

CHECKS COMPASS

Nearly on the site of the former German magnetic observatory, Prof. Simmers redetermined the magnetic elements for comparison with the values ascertained 29 years ago.

The Discovery's engine has been overhauled and our coaling completed, and yesterday we weighed anchor at Jeanne D'Arc and picked up our scientific party at Observatory Bay, where they had been encamped for several days investigating the little-known Karlluyken fjord.

The ship just arrived at Ile Murry Island anchorage after a busy day trawling and charting dangers to shipping on the way down from Observatory Bay.

The health of the party has been remarkably good throughout the expedition, allowing Dr. Ingram more time for bacteriology and other work, in which he assisted wholeheartedly. In fact, he has been one of the most popular and helpful members of the party.

110 FIRED FROM CITY JOBS

used bond balances totaling $102,702 into the sinking fund.

At the same time a hungry group of would-be jobholders are awaiting word that they have been named to fill the approximately 200 new positions created in the budget, 80 of them in the Bureau of Police and 55 in the Fire Bureau. There are more applicants than jobs.

CLASH MARKS MEETING

The budget, consisting of an appropriation and a salary bill was passed by Council yesterday with eight voting "aye," and Robert Garland not voting. The meeting was featured by a tilt between Garland and W. Y. English.

Garland charged that the budget had been prepared at secret sessions, that there are special salary advances, that 200 new positions were created without the Mayor or anyone else notifying Council they are needed, and that the legal and customary discussion of the budget was not permitted.

This was denied by English who declared that the nine members of Council heard every item in the budget read line by line. He charged that when the budget first was submitted by Mayor Kline the vote in Council stood six to three against the administration.

"Why didn't the majority then take up the budget?" he inquired, after reviewing the political maneuvers on both sides that resulted in Kline now having a seven to two majority in the body.

CLAIMS DISCRIMINATION

"It was impossible to cut the tax rate after the people had approved the referendum for a raise in the police and fire pay," he declared.

Toward the end of his argument with Garland, English pointed out that he had led the ticket.

"I am the people's champion," he said. "I have no apology to make for a single thing in this budget."

Councilman Charles Anderson, announcing his intention of voting for the budget, said he was disappointed because the wage increases indicated discrimination. Higher salaried employes received better treatment, he alleged, than those working for low wages.

Garland objected because a stenographer in the North Side Carnegie Library received more than a similar position in the Carnegie Library, Oakland. English declared that the advance was suggested by Councilman C. B. Connelly, former North Side librarian, and that the city took care of that institution while the Oakland one is managed by a board.

"Council is the only appropriating body for the Oakland Library," insisted Garland.

Councilman Harry A. Little declared that every request asked by the Oakland Library manager had been granted.

Indoor Skating Craze Sweeps All London

LONDON, (INS)—London's ex-back-bidding girls and boys are flocking to roller and ice-skating.

For no apparent reason a craze for this mode of exercise is sweeping London and so great is the demand for more rinks that dance halls are being utilized.

Not for 20 years have the rinks experienced such a boom. Night after night the rinks are packed to capacity and so great has been the rush on Sundays that all rinks have now formed Sunday clubs in order to limit the skating to members only.

One club admitted 2,500 people in one day and all the clubs report an increase of 100 per cent in business over previous years.

Church Aid Urged For War Objectors

EVANSTON, Ill., Feb. 28 (AP)—The third national study conference of the National Committee on Churches and Peace last night adopted a resolution calling on the churches to give moral support to individuals who hold conscientious objections against participation in military training or service.

TAX REFUNDED PHILA. CO.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—(INS)—The Philadelphia Company and subsidiaries of Pittsburgh was granted an income tax abatement and refunds of $2,562,700 by the Internal Revenue Bureau today.

The subsidiaries included companies operating in Northern West Virginia and Western Pennsylvania.

Officials of the Philadelphia Company stated they had not been officially advised of the refund and did not know on what it was based. They said they expected some word from Washington in regard to the matter shortly.

BAKER TO OPEN SHOE STORE

A new women's shoe store is to open at 215 Fifth avenue Saturday morning. In charge of the new shop, called Baker's, will be Jacob B. Gaylor, [illegible] Kline and Herman J. Needle, officials of Baker's chain, will attend the special opening of the shop.

American Founds Vienna Hospital

VIENNA—(INS)—A new cancer research institute founded by the American millionaire S. Canning Childs was opened recently in Vienna.

Its official name is: The Canning Childs Hospital for Research of Internal Diseases and Cancer. The director of the new institute is Dr. A. Edelmann, a well known Vienna specialist for cancer and internal diseases.

CANAL DEFENSE WINS 'BATTLE'

PANAMA CITY, Feb. 28—(AP)—United States military forces defending the Panama Canal scored a decisive victory over an attacking fleet in the four day war game maneuvers just completed here, seasoned observers believe.

Aerial battles, smoke screens and bombardments by fleet and coast defense were included in the final day's activities. Defense airplanes picked up the attacking fleet at daylight, almost 100 miles from the Canal Zone, after having observed activities of destroyers and submarines all night.

Later the attackers launched their long-expected aerial assault. The attacking fleet resorted to smoke screens, but due to unusual atmosphere the screen fell rapidly.

The fleet attempted to put ashore a landing party near the mouth of the Bayano river but the movement was forestalled by the planes of the coast defense station. The ships attempting the landing were under fire for almost an hour.

World Debt Bank Backed in Italy

ROME, Feb. 28—(AP)—The governors and representatives of state banks connected with the foundation of the bank for international settlements adopted and signed the organizing act for the bank. They agreed on measures for developing its functions.

Two meetings were held at the offices of the Bank of Italy, under the chairmanship of Ronaldo Stringher, its governor.

Finds Wife Dying As Clothing Burns

ALLIANCE, O., Feb. 28—Burns received when her clothing ignited caused the death of Mrs. Carrie Reichart, 45. Richard Reichart, the woman's husband, returned from a store to find his wife unconscious in the bathtub where she had jumped apparently attempting to extinguish the flames. She was taken to City Hospital where she died.

Hats for All Costumes

Now that one must dress strictly to each type of occasion, and hats and accessories must harmonize with the costume in each instance, a collection of hats like this is a real "find."

. . . Small-brimmed suit hats, including French ones of the new tweed straw. . . . Straw hats with wider brims and just the right quaint droopiness to look well with printed frocks. . . . Sheer hair hats for formal afternoon and dinner wear, including copies of Paris models.

Misses' Dress-Ensembles

Which Are Different, After All

$16.75

Just as we were beginning to think that the printed frock had become such a staple that there couldn't be much hope of radical change, along come these flippant little printed costumes to upset our theory.

They are different! With little, hip jackets which pinch in at the waistline. With boleros over one-piece sleeveless frocks. With peplum jackets. With frocks in light and dark shades of the same print, and jackets matching the dark shade. Costumes with jacket and skirt of print, and blouse of eggshell crepe.

. . . Bordered prints. Dusty pink and baby blue flower designs on black. Bright flower prints on black and dark grounds. Pin dot prints, and prints in the bold egg design.

... Horne's, Second Floor ...

Of Mallinson's Indestructible Chiffon

To have frocks which are sheer and lovely, and gracefully following the feminine trend for Spring, and yet so firm of texture that they are practically "indestructible"—that is what women are offered in this group of frocks.

There are four models of the same delightful fabric, in the certain, defined length which is correct for frocks of this type. . . . With capelets, with interesting necklines, with flared skirts, with skirts having side tiers or soft draperies to make the most of the sheer fabric.

The predominating colors are green, chartreuse, red, orange, and vibrant blue, on black, dark, white, and medium grounds. . . . Sizes 34 to 44.

Women's Coats

Fur-Collared "Wear Weaves"

$39.50

For diversity of fabrics, we've never had at the price anything like this new Spring collection. . . . Five smart kinds of tweeds of soft or rugged texture, in grays, tans, browns, blues, greens, orchid and rose tones.

With collars of kit fox, caracul, Jap coon, wolf, and squirrel. . . . Regular sizes 34 to 44, and small women's sizes 33½ to 45½.

Misses' Coats

New Tweed "Wear Weaves"

$25

A very special group, of which there are not many of a kind, but such variety! . . . Diagonal tweeds, multi-colored tweeds, flecked tweeds, nubby and lacy tweeds; in bright, soft-toned and neutral colorings.

There are eight models, with raglan or regulation shoulders, all-around or front belts, various collars, and one model with suede strappings on collar and cuffs.

GEN. REILLY DENOUNCES PACIFISTS

Sounds Danger of Ignorant Leadership in Broadcast of D. A. R. to Awaken U. S.

Universal Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—"The time has more than come when we should cease being led around by our fellow citizens whose ignorance or abhorrence of the facts of the world today make their guidance dangerous to this country and those principles on which it stands."

Such was the fighting challenge to pacifists hurled by Brig. Gen. Henry J. Reilly, veteran of the Rainbow Division and distinguished authority on national defense, in a radio address here.

Gen. Reilly was the principal speaker at the first of a series of notable broadcasts sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution with the hope of stimulating a "reawakened patriotic thought throughout the nation." He was introduced by Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general of that militant organization.

COST NOT EXCESSIVE

Riddling the specious arguments invariably advanced by pacifists, Gen. Reilly proved that the actual cost of maintaining an adequate navy is trivial out of proportion to other governmental expenditures.

Pointing to the favorite complaint that the national government spends more on the Army and Navy than it does for education, Gen. Reilly pointed out that under the constitution the government is required to provide for such defense, while education is reserved to the states.

Thus in 1926, $2,285,000,000 in public moneys was spent for education as against $570,000,000 that amount for the national defense, he pointed out, citing figures of the National Industrial Conference Board.

The argument that the cost of maintaining a military force has mounted rapidly in recent years likewise was shattered. Expenditures for national defense have increased only 92 per cent since 1913, as against an increase of 164 per cent in the cost of government.

OTHER EXPENSES MOUNT

"Stating it in dollars," he said, our military expenses have increased $200,000,000, while our governmental expenses for other purposes have increased by $1,000,000,000, or 35 times as much."

A cheap Navy, like any cheap commodity, will not serve its purpose, said Gen. Reilly, adding:

"It is not how much a Navy costs which determines its value but can it in the face of hostile attack keep our shores from being invaded, keep the Panama Canal open for our own use and protect our worldwide overseas commerce, upon which we are coming more and more to depend if we are to maintain our present standard of living by selling everything we produce."

The future of the pacifist cry "Through disarmament to the road to peace" in the light of developments at the London conference, said the general.

SAY IRENE TOLD OF KILLING

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 28 (AP).—Authorities here have sent to New Castle, Pa., the sealed statements of three women inmates of the Maricopa County jail that Mrs. Irene Schroeder of Benwood, W. Va., had admitted to them the slaying of Corp. Brady Paul, Pennsylvania state highway patrolman.

Mrs. Schroeder and Glenn Dague allegedly her companion at the time Paul was killed near New Castle, December 27, were captured near here after a gun fight with sheriff's deputies. Mrs. Schroeder shared a cell with the three women while awaiting extradition to Pennsylvania. Dague confessed his part in the New Castle shooting while being held here.

The statements of the three women, Mrs. Mattie Jackson, Rose Smith and Mrs. Charlotte Peet, the latter a Negress, were given to Edward C. Bergan, Pennsylvania state police official, and S. C. Pughese, assistant prosecuting attorney of Lawrence County, Pa., who came on here after receiving word that Mrs. Schroeder had talked of the crime charged against her.

It was not known generally until today that the three women had made any statements. Later they said Mrs. Schroeder's threat to "beat the brains out" of them had kept them from revealing their information earlier.

Ritchie Predicts Democratic Victory

BALTIMORE, Feb. 28.—(AP).—Governor Albert C. Speaking at a meeting of the Merchants Association here yesterday, the banker said advertising instead of increasing the costs of production and selling goods greatly decreased such costs.

BIG GAS STRIKE IN GREENE

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Feb. 28.—Rich gas strikes during the past few months in the Castile section of Greene County were climaxed this week when the Carnegie Natural Gas Company, of Pittsburgh, drilled in a well on the farm of Mrs. Catherine Headley which has an initial production of 5,000,000 cubic feet per day.

The strike was secured in the 30 foot sand, regarded as one of the best gas producers in this section of the country. The well is located near other high producing wells.

Two other drilling projects in the Castile section on the Lexi Lewis and Austin Watson farms are nearing completion, while a well drilled recently on the Tharp tract, which had an initial daily production of 200,000 cubic feet, will be drilled deeper in an attempt to secure additional gas.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Feb. 28.—(AP).—Three men believed by police to be members of a rum running and hijacking gang that shot and killed a policeman near Detroit, Mich., recently, were arrested here late yesterday after an automobile chase. They gave their names as Ray Hall, George Evans and Lawrence Hiatt, all of Indianapolis.

PACKERS FACE TRUST QUIZ

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(AP).—Dr. J. R. Mohler, chief of the Bureau of Animal Husbandry of the Department of Agriculture, said the department had been informed that agents and packer buyers had been violating a trade practice agreement that public markets be kept open and competitive.

He added in a statement that there also had been violations of the trade agreement that prohibited bargaining prior to the opening of the market.

"The department feels the matter is of sufficient moment to warrant a close scrutiny by all packers who are party to the code," said Dr. Mohler.

SCHOOL ABUSE QUIZ PLEDGED

MERIDEN, Conn., Feb. 28.—(AP.)—The board of trustees of the Connecticut School for Boys after reading a 33-page report submitted by the State Welfare Department in which it was charged that inmates of the school had been brutally treated and that officers of the school were incompetent, reiterated its pledge of a "thorough investigation."

The report was prepared after several weeks of secret inquiry by the welfare department, but was not made public.

The trustees called James S. Peck, superintendent of the school farm, who has stated it is understood, that boy inmates have been beaten and flogged for infractions of rules, and he gave some testimony before adjournment was taken until March 6.

Corporal punishment, under certain regulations, is permitted in the school, and it is this practice, it is understood, that is at the bottom of the recent flare-up. The school has been under investigation several other times.

Former inmates and their parents were interviewed by the welfare department representatives and they are said to have charged that beatings were freely administered.

It was made clear that the recent death of Rudolph Brown, an inmate, who died of wounds inflicted with a pitchfork by another inmate, Austin Mills, did not precipitate the welfare inquiry. It had been under way several weeks before Brown was wounded.

Officials of the school have called Brown's injuries "accidental," but the youth before he died said he was the victim of a "grudge."

FILM ACTRESS CUTS WRIST

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(AP.)—Mrs. Elizabeth C. Hudson, divorced wife of Percy K. Hudson, wealthy stock broker, and a former Hungarian motion picture actress, yesterday slashed her wrist in her home on East Seventy-fifth street.

She was taken to the Neurological Institute, where psysicians said her condition was not dangerous.

While she was wounding herself, her attorney was before Supreme Court Justice McCook with two suits for recovery of money which Mrs. Hudson alleged she lost in stock market operations.

Justice McCook denied her application for appointment of a receiver over the assets of the Ungerlieder Financial Corporation, and also denied a motion of the defendants for dismissal of a suit against Samuel Ungerlieder & Co. and the National City Bank.

In the latter suit, Mrs. Hudson alleged she had borrowed $10,000 from the bank, depositing securities worth $34,500. Later, she alleged, she instructed Ungerlieder to recover the securities, pay off the bank loan and deposit the balance to her account. She charged the defendants with converting the $24,500 balance.

Mrs. Hudson's maiden name was Elizabeth Csinoss.

LIFT BLAME IN TRAIN WRECK

KENOSHA, Wis., Feb. 28.—(AP.)—The coroner's jury that investigated the wreck Sunday night of two North Shore electric trains and an automobile, returned an open verdict last night fixing responsibility on no one.

Any further action to determine blame for the accident must now be undertaken either by city or state authorities, the jury's verdict having eliminated investigation by Kenosha county.

A twelfth death from the crash was recorded tonight. Harold Carey, Milwaukee, died in a Kenosha hospital from his injuries. Eleven died Sunday night.

Sing, Jonathan Sing!!

"The World Is at the Spring
"You've HAD the Mumps,
"Come Out of the Dumps
"Sing, Jonathan, Sing."

"Yes, dear, the world is on the up-and-up . . . your month in bed is over, you're sound as a peach—AND WE'LL HAVE THE FURNITURE AFTER ALL and not a cent's penalty. Kaufmann's! I just found out you can get the SAME IDENTICAL suite that we both were so keen for—at exactly the same price as in February! You see they endeavor to sell furniture the year-'round at prices averaging the lowest in Pittsburgh. And having no department-wide 'sale,' they don't have to advance their prices when March comes around. O, it's simply the grandest piece of good luck, Jonathan. We'll own that suite this very day!"

Kaufmann's Furniture Prices Never Advance!

Every day is opportunity day—if you've missed February there's March. If you miss March, come in April. Just a great big happy party—a new way of selling furniture—copied already by many progressive stores throughout the country—a wonderful thing for the customer who wants the right price NOW—AS WELL as next February!

MAID RELATES BRIGGS 'RITE'

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Testimony that the late Clare Briggs, newspaper cartoonist, asked her to witness that he took Marie C. Briggs as his wife was offered by Virginia Hammonds, Negro maid to Mrs. Briggs, said for recognition as the artist's legal widow.

The maid said she had accompanied Mrs. Briggs then known as Maggie Toohey to the Briggs country home at Bound Brook, N. J., in August, 1929. Mr. Briggs, she said, followed her into a room where Miss Toohey was waiting and took Miss Toohey in his arms.

"Maggie, I want you to be a witness to this," the witness quoted Briggs as saying. "I want you to witness that I am taking Maggie here to be my wife."

Theodore A. Lesser, Briggs attorney, testified the cartoonist had asked his advice about marrying Miss Toohey. The lawyer said Briggs dreaded the notoriety he believed would be caused by the marriage because his first wife, Mrs. Ruth Owen Briggs, had named Miss Toohey as co-respondent in her divorce suit. Mr. Lesser said he suggested marriage in another state, but Briggs feared the New York papers would get the news by telegraph. Next he suggested a common-law marriage before other witnesses.

Reuben A. Lewis, Briggs' counsel-law, denied that Briggs considered Miss Toohey his wife. Henry Staton, manager of a newspaper syndicate, gave similar testimony.

The court reserved decision. If Marie C. Briggs gets legal recognition as Briggs' widow she will have the right to contest his will and claim a share in his $40,000 estate, which he willed to his divorced wife and his three children.

Seek Shoplifter, Find Rum Plant

MEADVILLE, Pa., Feb. 28 (AP)—County Detective E. O. McIntosh and Chief of Police I. M. Hays expected only to arrest Mrs. Lucy Macaluso for shoplifting when they raided the Macaluso home here last night. They found the woman and a fully equipped bottling plant as well. Dominick Macaluso was arrested on charges of violating the prohibition laws and Charles Winters was arrested on a charge of obstructing justice because he tried to conceal Mrs. Macaluso.

Four barrels of wine, several bottles and stolen articles of clothing valued at several hundred dollars were taken in the raid.

Traffic Prisoner's Name Causes 2-Hour Delay

FRANKLIN, Pa., Feb. 28.—Misspelling of the name of Fred Singfield, jailed 25 with a "k" instead of an "s," precipitated a two-hour legal argument which resulted in a magistrate's case being settled with Alderman Courtney Court today. Singleton was charged with driving past a stop sign on the highway and with reckless driving. He pleaded not guilty. His attorneys sought to have the case squashed on technicalities and failed.

CORNELL DEAN HITS TRAFFIC

Geo. Young Jr.

WARNS DRIVERS TO CLEAN TAGS

Height of skyscrapers [illegible] physical [illegible] the only question being how [illegible] will the public put up with traffic congestion [illegible] the city, George Young Jr., Dean of the College of Architecture, Cornell University.

Young, who supervised the erection of the Fisher and Bessemer Buildings, is here to attend tomorrow night's banquet of the Cornell Club of Western Pennsylvania at the University Club.

Dean Young says that as America has the finest telephone and radio communication systems in the world, cities should spread out, instead of the people crowding themselves into a few areas like fishing worms. He blames most of the traffic troubles on tall buildings and declares that as long as they continue to grow to what heights the buildings may go, appeals against which would go [illegible] have been ignored.

PICKERING'S

TENTH STREET AND PENN AVENUE

DOMINGO PICKS NEW PRESIDENT

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Rafael Estrella Urena, one of the leading figures in the revolt against President Horacio Vasquez, was designated provisional president this afternoon.

Charles B. Curtis, American minister, has informed the insurgents, who now control virtually all of the republic, that the American government will not recognize the de facto government and further efforts to set up a constitutional regime were in progress today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Washington was hopeful today that the Dominican Republic's present revolutionary troubles were ended.

The State Department was in receipt of a dispatch from Minister Curtis that an armistice had been reached between the contending factions.

At the same time, there was word from Curtis that the British cruiser Wisteria was on the way to Santo Domingo. It was understood that no landing of troops nor any act which might be interpreted as an infringement of the Monroe Doctrine was contemplated and that the ship was merely to stand by in case it might become advisable for members of the British legation to leave the island.

1,000 Idle, Traffic Halted by Gas Leak

Approximately 1,000 employes of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, Turtle Creek, were idle today, according to police report, due to discovery of a gas leak. Airbrake avenue was closed to traffic for five blocks yesterday, owing to the same cause.

It was found necessary to shut down the punch shop of the plant at 3:30 p. m., police were told, because of the fumes. Workmen were continuing their endeavors today to find the source of the leak. Pipe lines in the street, as well as in the plant, were being uncovered.

U. S. Appeals Court Upholds Jones Law

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Validity of the Jones "five and ten" law was upheld by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals here which held that an assignment attacking the constitutionality of the act was without merit. The opinion was written in the appeal of Neal and William Brady, convicted in Des Moines and given fines and jail sentences.

The convictions, however, were reversed on other grounds, mainly that of insufficient evidence.

The act was attacked under the Eighth Amendment prohibiting excessive fines and cruel and unusual punishment.

Suicide Leaves Kin Burial Instructions

DETROIT, Feb. 28.—(INS)—T. S. Montgomery, 45, a former resident of La Jose, Pa., ended his life today by shooting himself through the left temple in his room at the home of Mrs. Margaret Fox.

Notations in a memorandum book requested that his body be sent to La Jose for burial beside the graves of his two sons and that his brother, A. D. Montgomery, of Braddock, Pa., and his children, Mrs. H. F. Graham, of Enright, Pa., and Mrs. A. J. Williams and Kenneth Montgomery, both of Wilkinsburg, Pa., be notified.

Sheriff, 7 Others Held in Vote Fraud

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 28.—(AP)—A. V. Baker, wealthy Hidalgo County sheriff, and seven other persons indicted by a Federal grand jury for conspiracy in connection with the 1928 general election, made bond of $1,000 each today.

The government's investigation began after independent Republicans alleged that the Weslaco Ballot Box in Hidalgo County was thrown out to assure the continuation of the Baker Democratic administration.

'Planting' Fruit Fly In Florida Charged

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 28.—(AP)—Charges that the Mediterranean fruit fly "was planted" in Florida by inspectors for the State Plant Board were made here today by Representative Wood, Republican, Indiana, Chairman of the Congressional sub-committee investigating the expenditure of funds for eradicating the insect.

He produced an affidavit from Forrest Stone, filling station operator near Maitland, which he said corroborated his allegations.

'Premonition' Saves Payroll From Thief

DETROIT, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Providence Hospital's payroll was safe in its strong box today because Sister Rosario, the cashier, had a "premonition."

It was the sister's premonition which resulted in a postponement of pay day, and foiled a holdup at 6:40 a. m. today by the same robber who two weeks ago escaped with $5,000 which was being distributed to employes.

Sister Rosario said the man, armed, accosted her in a tunnel leading from the hospital to the nurses' home and demanded the payroll money.

The robber fled when told pay day was postponed.

WOMAN ROBBED IN PARK

Halted by an armed robber while driving near the racetrack in Schenley Park last midnight, Clara Steffler, of the Coronado Apartments, 5350 Center avenue, was robbed of her purse containing a small amount of money, she reported to police. The woman said she saved a diamond ring by dropping it on the floor of the car.

A. G. Patterson, who failed to give police his address, reported that he was robbed under similar circumstances. A robber stepped on the running board of his automobile and forced him to turn over his valuables. He also failed to tell police the amount of money he lost.

CHICAGO RAISES $50,000,000

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—(INS)—With the completion of the first quota of $50,000,000 by Liberty Loan drive methods, Chicago and other Cook County municipalities today were solvent for the first time in nearly three months.

And as a consequence the more than 40,000 public employes who have gone without pay checks for many weeks are looking forward to a pay day either tomorrow or Monday.

Workers in the drive continued their efforts to complete the $74,000,000 quota of the "rescue" drive that is necessary to meet governmental expenses until July, when it is hoped the 1928 taxes will be collected.

Rains Flood, Darken City of Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Much of this city was flooded and in darkness throughout the night as a consequence of heavy rainfall. Although only one person was reported to be drowned it was feared other casualties would be discovered with re-establishment of communications. Property damage was heavy.

STARS ATTEND NORMAND RITES

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Filmland assembled today to pay final tribute to Mabel Normand, comedienne whose elfin screen impersonations endeared her in the hearts of fans throughout the world.

Miss Normand died Sunday at a Monrovia, Cal., sanitarium, after a long fight against tuberculosis. The body will be placed in a crypt in Calvary Cemetery here.

Lew Cody, husband of Miss Normand, announced that honorary pallbearers would include Sid Grauman, D. W. Griffith, Mack Sennett, Charles Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks, Ford Sterling and Samuel Goldwyn. The Rev. Michael J. Mullins, pastor of the Roman Catholic Church of the Good Shepherd, of Beverly Hills, was chosen to conduct the ceremony.

Recommend Young Plan to Reichstag

BERLIN, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Joint committees of the Reichstag today approved the Young reparations plan, thereby recommending its acceptance in the Reichstag.

Money when you need it, in amounts up to $500. See the "Loan Ads" in the Classified Section.

TEACHER ENDS SCHOOL FIGHT

WEST HELENA, Ark., Feb. 28.—(AP)—The chaotic condition in the West Helena School brought about by a school girl quarrel was believed at an end today.

Supt. George E. Cromwell, who resigned because, he said, threats had been made against him by the father of two girls he disciplined, at the request of committee of school patrons agreed to withdraw his resignation.

The 19 faculty members had submitted their resignations but had agreed to reconsider and continue teaching if Cromwell would resume his post.

The controversy, which at one time necessitated placing a guard of deputy sheriffs around the school, was precipitated when Lawrence Brown demanded that Cromwell discipline a third girl after his two daughters had been sent home following a quarrel among the three.

Cromwell refused to do this and then resigned after, he said, Brown had threatened his life.

Former Candy Girl Makes Opera Debut

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Anna Turkel of Woonsocket, R. I., who once sold candy at the Metropolitan Opera House, has made her debut in opera at Genoa.

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

IT'S "SHOW BOAT" night on the radio with three different programs featuring hits from Ziegfeld's popular play.

Make Believe, the outstanding hit, will be presented with all its romantic color in the Cities Service program over WCAE at 8 o'clock. Jessica Dragonette and Leo O'Rourke will comprise the duo.

Henkel Harmonizers, KDKA at 7:30, and Brown Footlies, WJAS at 8, will go Show Boating with special medleys.

Logan's "Missouri Waltz" accepted as one of the prettiest dance steps of its tempo, will be sung as a duet by Lois Bennett and Mary Hopple when the Armstrong Quakers come on KDKA at 10.

Mary Hopple

"Beautiful Lady" from "The Pink Lady," always a picturesque and charming selection, will be played by the Raybestos Orchestra, WCAE at 7:30.

Men write more fan letters than women, a recent NBC survey showed.

TWO MINUTES

WCAE will soon have an "Artists' Call," a bell ring in the reception room by the announcer at his panel. Performers will be given a two-minute warning before they go on the air.

* * *

Two cannibals from Africa will say "hello" in their native language when the Voices from Filmland broadcast over WJAS next Monday night. They were brought to American by Trader Horne.

Walter Winchell, the best informed man in America on other people's affairs, and writer of "On Broadway" daily in the Sun-Telegraph, will speak over the Columbia network on Wednesday, March 12.

* * *

E. M. S., East Pittsburgh — Phillips H. Lord, "Seth Parker," may be reached at 4 West Fortieth street, New York. The sponsor of Sacred Songs is improving.

'SHOW BOAT' SELECTIONS ON RADIO TONIGHT

At Winter Resort.

Mary and Bob run into a North Carolina winter resort. Among the guests is a young couple from Kansas who tell a story.

The story, "After Her Revolt," describes in an hilarious Parisian manner the entanglements that involved a farmer's wife who was kidnaped from Kansas by the discovery of oil on the farm.

Dress Rehearsal.

Although Verdi, the Italian composer of "Rigoletto" never knew it, the aria "Donna e Mobile" just naturally merged into a late blues tune. Anyway that is what happens when the members of the small Southern Negro grand opera troupe attempts to interpret the selection.

In addition the improvised stage built on the billiard tables of the defunct Alpha and Omega Pool and Billiard Parlor proves an obstruction to the smooth functioning of an operatic production. Demon Simon Pure, however, is not to be defeated and adopts the motto, "Get Results," even if the results aren't what he originally planned.

Plot Shifts to New Scene.

Another house of mystery besides the old Denby mansion becomes the scene of hard happenings in this episode.

The plot suddenly shifts to the Fifth avenue town house of Margot Hemingway. Bob Brooke's fiancee. This building has been closed for three years. Prof. Montagle and his new rival, Inspector Hawtrey, of Scotland Yard, match wits, skill and scientific ingenuity while Sally doubts the identity of Hawtrey.

Arrange Funeral For Killing Victim

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 28.—The body of Theodore Reckmann, Crucible miner, said to have been killed by his companion, Robert Cole, was brought here last night from Paw Paw, W. Va. Funeral services will probably be tomorrow from the home of a friend at Connellsville, Pa., where Reckman formerly resided.

Reckman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frantz Reckmann, of Dudkinchen, Germany, were notified of their son's death. The dead man came to the United States in August, 1927, from South America, where he had been employed as an architect.

COLD MEANS NOTHING TO OLD "SEA DOG"

Men of the sea can't coddle their colds. They catch them, but get rid of them in a jiffy. So can you—and without "doping"—with a simple compound that just knocks out all that achy, feverish feeling or that watery-eyed, sore-nosed condition that always makes a person feel so thoroughly miserable.

Next time exposure to wet and cold has set you to sniffling, take Pape's Cold Compound. Simple little tablets, but how they kill a cold! Pape's Cold Compound is only 35c.

SEVIER TERMS KIN INSANE

HONOLULU, Feb. 28.—(AP)—A sworn statement by Col. Granville Sevier, U. S. A., that his deceased wife's brother, Ralph Shainwald, is "insane and of unsound mind," yesterday enlivened the legal controversy here over the newest investigation of the death in August, 1928, of Mrs. Marion Shainwald Sevier, Irvington, N. Y., heiress.

Shainwald instigated the investigation.

Attorneys and interested officials, conferring in the chamber of Circuit Judge A. E. Steadman, agreed to postponement of the autopsy until the litigation arising from it could be settled.

FIGHTS AUTOPSY

Col. Sevier late Wednesday withdrew consent for the autopsy because Sheriff Patrick Gleason, ex-officio coroner, had given permission to Shainwald to be present at the removal of Mrs. Sevier's body from the tomb in which it has rested here since her death.

"That arrangement," Col. Sevier's attorney wrote the sheriff, "is contrary to the understanding we had on February 8 when we consented to the autopsy."

Yesterday Col. Sevier filed a petition for injunction forbidding the autopsy, alleging that the sheriff's only reason for holding it is based upon the "suspicious 'mouthings' of Shainwald, who asserts said deceased was done to death by poison, and who is insane and of unsound mind." This petition was discussed by the attorneys and officials at their conference. It was agreed that the attorney general's office, as legal adviser to the sheriff, would demur to or answer the petition.

FINDING SUPPORTED

Mrs. Sevier left her husband a $700,000 estate, settlement of which is being delayed by this investigation. An autopsy performed last spring confirmed the statement of her personal physician, Maj. W. C. Whitmore, that death had been natural, due to acute cardiac dilation.

The Hawaiian Department of the Army received through the First Corps of the Army of Boston, affidavits from Maj. Whitmore reaffirming his belief that Mrs. Sevier's death was from natural causes. The affidavits stated that Maj. Whitmore's recent letter to Sheriff Gleason, which induced that official to order reopening of the matter, had suggested an inquest merely to establish that death had been natural and to stop unwarranted charges.

KLINE FACES TEST IF O'MALLEY RUNS

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

HE WAS a Wylie avenue fakir, showing a crowd of credulous colored folks how to raise $50 to $500. He needed a helper, so from the crowd he chose a bright-eyed, kinky-haired boy of 8.

"Now before I let you hold this money," the fakir said, "answer me this: have you ever stolen anything?"

"Naw, sir," the boy answered. "Now don't lie to me: you've never stolen a thing in your life?"

"Well," the boy confessed, "I ain't stole much."

We don't like to run around digging up anyone's past, but we have uncovered an episode in the early career of Charles M. Stotz, the Pittsburgh architect, which is too rich in humor to be lost to posterity.

Mr. Stotz was Young Stotz then, a student at Cornell, 15 years ago. He and the wife of the university president, no less, decided to perpetrate a practical joke upon the grave professors.

Announcements were strung along the campus with the information that Count Soandso, the noted German, would discuss and dissect the Einstein Theory on such and such a date at such and such a time in Sibley Hall, for the benefit of the Cornell faculty.

The professors gathered hopefully, thankful that there had come one who could reduce the perplexities of the Theory to the understanding of somebody besides the author. And before them there arose a young student whose fake beard and tousled hair indicated wisdom and age far beyond the truth.

Now Stotz knew no more of the Einstein Theory than you. But he had, and has, an excellent memory. And he had memorized his speech from the papers of Einstein himself. He was making ponderous statements, even if he didn't know what he meant.

The lecture succeeded in fine style. At its conclusion one professor asked the "Count" a question in German, but the "Count," who speaks no German, delivered himself from the dilemma by authoritatively informing the professor that his (the professor's) German was very bad—and please speak English!

If you cross-examine him thoroughly, Architect Stotz probably will admit the impersonation, but he kept his secret until he had his degree.

IF YOU had a verbatim report of the conversation among the prisoners in the Western Penitentiary—or any penitentiary—for even one day, you'd probably have interesting reading. We know this much, that there is a heated argument in our penitentiary on the age of Pearl White, late of the movies. One of the inmates writes in asking that the argument be settled. A contends that Miss White is older than 45, B insists that she isn't. We can't settle the argument because the most unreliable statistics are those which purport to tell the ages of movie stars.

Miss White, you'll remember as the pretty little girl who was always being almost assassinated in "Perils of Pauline," the cinema serial. Miss White is out of the films now and is reported in a convent in France, but her record doubtless stands—she was threatened with movie death more often than any of the present-day stars. Probably she'll live to a ripe old age.

Will Rogers Says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb. 28.

BES' way to make one of those "red" mee'ings mad, is to offer 'em work. Nancy Astor pulled the best one on them. She offered to pay the fare of any that would go back to Russia. Only three took her up, and they starved to death there waiting for their "comrades" to divide up with 'em.

Should have a place where they can get up and denounce anything from Washington's wig to Hoover's fi bait. They are likeable cusses and smart, and perfectly happy when they a talking. The only way they have showing their education is by sound, and not by accomplishment.

Yours,

WILL.

"CHICKIE"

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Chickie Bryce is attending business college when the story opens. She confides her romantic thoughts to her friend, Mary Blake. She gets a position in an office in New York. One of her co-workers there is Janina Knowles. Through Janina she meets Jake Munson, rich and attractive bachelor. Mary suddenly marries a poor young chemist, much to Chickie's regret. Jimmy Blake, Mary's brother, begs Chickie to marry him, but without success. Chickie meets Barry Dunne at a party given by Munson. Barry drives her home. Barry calls, takes her motoring, tells her she's beautiful and kisses her. Munson, who has been greatly attracted by Chickie, insists on taking her to dinner. She goes out often with Barry and the depth of her feeling for him frightens her. Munson makes her a present of a barpin of sapphires.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXI.

AS Chickie put the sapphire pin back it its box, bitterness, like a rat, gnawed at her breast. She would give it back—she would have to. He would be angry—perhaps insulted.

And the high-exultant tide she had ridden so happily this last month would end. She no longer would laze down joyously in a limousine—no longer be carried off radiant to the best shows, elaborate dinners.

It would end now. He had placed his cards on the table. It meant a showdown. She could no longer bluff herself—no longer evade. Men didn't give wondrous sapphire pins just because they had a happy friendly feeling for a girl. There was but one thing to do. She saw it quite piercingly.

But no sooner was the revelation clear than she turned from it with the obstinacy of a child. Old stuff! All right in Jennie's day—flowers, candy or books—nothing else from a man to a girl. No one paid any attention to that now. Even Jimmy gave her a little turquoise pendant when she was sixteen. She had it yet.

As though Jake Munson gave a second thought to a gift like that. She would make herself ridiculous refusing it.

The stones were beautiful—they brought out gentle lights in her eyes; they gleamed with chaste passion against the white of her waist. She needed a pin like that—she wanted it. Her imagination took possession of it.

Returns Pin

Chickie Tells Jake She Doesn't Want It

Later—if she discovered Jake counted on the pin to win her; if he expected it to make any difference between them, why, she could return it then. She could toss it back with a "Pooh, keep it!"

The next morning she happened to glance from the window at Barry Dunne, his head lowered, paring his nails, exactly as she had seen him first. He looked up slowly, gave her a beckoning wink, all glee, all buoyance. She flushed crimson.

Her heart knocked with a guilty rush, as though she stood before him revealed; her thought cringed before the high purity she imagined his. She could have taken the pin then and flung it from the window.

At noon she was rushing down the street, excited by her own unrest. She had her hand in her pocket, covering the box with the sapphires.

Some one bumped against her, put out arms to stop her. It was Jake.

Like a spring her hand bobbed up, the box with it. She thrust it at him. "Here, Mr. Munson. I can't take this. I don't want it."

She faltered, expecting to see him start back—to turn ashen—to pass on without a word.

He took her arm in a cozy, laughing way. "Ho, there; giddyap! Don't have to knock me down with your righteousness, do you, gurl? Where shall we go for lunch?"

To Lunch

Chickie Questioned About Her Strange Attitude

He dropped the box back in her pocket. She walked on, her eyes straight before her.

"You can't do that, Mr. Munson."

"I know. You said you didn't want it. You fling it back at me. But please carry it for a block. My pockets are filled. We'll see what can be done about it."

"You think I don't mean it. I do."

"And a lot of things I mean. And you insist that I don't. Let's straighten them out."

"I didn't intend going to lunch with you."

"That's all right, Chickie, dear. No malice of forethought necessary. You weren't intending to cut me off without one last farewell, were you?"

Hurrying along and he towering over her and people giving him glad, pleased greetings, she heard already, like a soft whimper in her ears, her own defeat. He thought nothing of it; he had no dark, terrible motives. He would suppose she was one of those girls who imagine things.

Seated in a far corner of the restaurant, he pushed knives and forks out of the way: "Now let's have it, Chickie. Why all the sudden frenzy?"

"That's all there's to it. I can't take that pin."

"Don't you like it?"

She glanced down at her plate, shoved her glass. "Why should you give me a thing like that?"

"Why shouldn't I? You have nothing like it. You need it. I can send you flowers from now till time ends and you wouldn't raise any question. This is a much wiser appreciation—that's all. I wanted to give you something—" His voice suddenly became low and rapid: "Chickie, was there a card with the pin? Was there a message?"

The Reason

Explains Why He Gave The Pin to Her

When she didn't answer, his eyes compelled her. With astonishment she found in them a pleading, intent anxiousness, like the look of Jimmy. He said hurriedly: "That's why I should give it to you, Chickie."

She waited in a spasm of suspense, curious, yet reluctant to hear more. His expression underwent a subtle change as though a lid were put down softly on some inner fire.

He said with a whimsical smile: "So you've been thinking of all the things the black wench told you, Chickie? Would not it be a lot fairer if you gave me a chance on my own account? I want to tell you that I honestly bought that pin just to give you a kick. I hadn't a notion of doing it until we were talking the other night and that old mammy was shining there like the Tower of Jewels. You had your flowers pinned on with a rusty old nail. That's incongruous, you know!

"Why, Chickie, beautiful things belong to you. And you start in raising a fuss when a little trinket comes your way. Well—don't, because I intend to buy you any bauble I please. Now that's that."

She protested weakly. "No—I don't want you to. And I can't keep this—"

"It's yours, Chickie. If you hand it back now I'll throw it on the floor and stamp on it or I'll give it to the waitress as a tip."

She laughed: "Oh—is it a novelty?"

He looked at her with a sudden earnestness: "I'm half afraid, Chickie, that it isn't! Now don't let's begin it all

COUNCIL ASKS PAVING PLANS

The Finance Committee of Council yesterday authorized the Department of Public Works to proceed with plans for the improvement of eight thoroughfares pending formal approval.

Two of them are state-aid projects, one a part of Noblestown road, to cost $30,000, and the other Dinsmore avenue, to cost $15,000.

The others are Fourth avenue, from Smithfield to Market streets, costing the Pittsburgh Railways Company $4,700 and the city $14,000; Grenfield from Kearcher to Frank, costing the company $22,000 and the city $30,000; First, from Wood to Market, costing the city $8,000; Center, from Morewood to Neville, costing the company $16,000 and the city $20,000; Larimer, from Broad to Station, costing the company $2,500 and the city $7,800; and Duquesne way, from Barbeau street to the ramp, costing the company $9,900 and the city $17,000.

TWO ACQUITTED OF ARSON

Vito and Frank Apollo, brothers, tried for arson in connection with an explosion which wrecked a building at 4435 Penn avenue, housing their grocery store, were acquitted in a sealed verdict returned today.

Police said two kegs of oil and a fuse were found after the explosion. The defendants maintained that "blackhanders" had caused the blast.

Another arson case, in which Paul Simone and his wife, Martha, were tried for setting fire to their home in Sixth avenue, North Braddock, was expected to be completed today.

Pittsburgh Bakers Win Bread Contest

The better-bread contest, sponsored by the Quality Bakers of America, a national co-operative organization of wholesale bakers, has been won by the Liberty Baking Company, according to word received here today from New York. The Liberty Baking Company entered in the contest their Liberty bread, from a regular day's baking, and it scored 99 out of a possible 100 points.

Hannibal Singers On Fete Program

The Ambassador Quartet, of Hannibal, O., will take part in the program of the fifteenth annual banquet of the Monroe County, Ohio, Society of Pittsburgh, in the Friendship Park Methodist Episcopal Church, 4801 Liberty avenue, tonight. The Rev. Dr. W. E. Boetticher, pastor of the church is president of the society. Those in charge of the banquet are J. W. Ingold, past president; John W. Maury and John A. Schrader.

Firemen to Hold Benefit Reception

The fifth annual dance and reception of the City Firemen's Protective Association will be held in the William Penn Hotel tonight, proceeds from which will be used to relieve sick and disabled firemen and their families. The committee in charge of arrangements includes John Heinz, president of the association; E. L. Carlin, recording secretary, and John Lauderbaugh, treasurer.

GROSS REOPENS POLICE FIGHT

The status of Glassport's "off again, on again" police force of six men, alternately suspended by Burgess Seward J. Gross and reinstated by the borough council of opposite political factions, is again before Common Pleas Court.

The latest move in the controversy is an equity action filed yesterday by Burgess Gross seeking an injunction to restrain James C. O'Brien, county detective and president of council, and the eight other members of the borough council, from granting compensation to the police during terms of suspension. Gross averred that since January he twice suspended the members of the force for insubordination and that twice council reinstated them, granting back pay during the suspension.

Two actions by Gross were recently disposed of in Common Pleas Court. One, a mandamus suit to compel council to permit him access to the borough building, was settled by an agreement to give him a key to the hearing room. The other, a quo warranto action against the police force asking what authority they had to remain on duty after a suspension, was dismissed. The court held that council alone had the power of appointment and dismissal.

RUSSIANS HERE, P. R. R. GUESTS

Thirty-four engineers, headed by D. E. Sulimov, who form a delegation of the Soviet commissariat for transportation, will be in Pittsburgh tomorrow to inspect shops and terminals of the Pennsylvania Railroad and several industrial concerns. They are on a three-month tour of the country, inspecting railroad and manufacturing conditions.

They will be met on their arrival from Altoona, where they are inspecting the Pennsylvania shops today, by Superintendent F. L. Dobson, of the Pittsburgh division, and members of his staff.

Will Open Haven of Poor in Hill District

G. W. Shepard, general manager and secretary of the Pittsburgh Association for the Improvement of the Poor, announced today that the new Hill branch at Webster and Washington avenues was to be opened today. Several hundred beds and a large supply of foodstuffs were moved into the building, which will shelter about 1,100 men.

FIGHT LOOMS IN RACE FOR CONGRESS

Sullivan's Seat at Stake, Say Political Rumors; Party Harmony May Be Upset

Congressman P. J. Sullivan will be opposed for re-election in the spring primary by P. J. O'Malley, of the Auditor General's office, if rumored plans are perfected.

O'Malley recently was appointed to a $4,800 position by Auditor General Charles A. Waters on the sole recommendation of State Senator James J. Coyne.

If Sullivan and O'Malley cross swords, the contest may create a dilemma for Mayor Charles H. Kline and determine the durability of his political machine.

The district embraces the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh and Fifteenth Wards.

COYNE INVOLVED

Coyne, who is said to be encouraging O'Malley to run for Congress, was associated with Sullivan and a few others in directing Kline's campaign for re-election.

O'Malley is Republican chairman of the Second Ward and Coyne is generally credited with control of the Fourth and Fifteenth Wards.

Sullivan's friends believe he would carry his own ward, the Sixth, and, with Kline's help, he would expect a majority in the First, Ninth and Eleventh. Constable Jack Schneider is Kline's leader in the First Ward and George W. Savage, member of the assessor's board, represents Kline in the Ninth.

KLINE'S DILEMMA

If Kline throws his weight to Sullivan he will displease the Coyne-Donahoe-O'Malley group, whereas if he indorses O'Malley he will chagrin the Sullivan-Schneider-Savage combination.

The Third Ward probably would go for the candidate favored by Alderman John J. Verona and the Fifth Ward for the choice of James F. Malone, former president of Council.

Verona and Sullivan formerly were close personal and political friends, but new alignments make their present relationship conjectural.

Friends of Malone counted on Sullivan to support Malone in his recent campaign for mayor and are not expected to cheer for the Congressman's re-election.

10 MORE BALLOT BOXES SOUGHT

The district attorney's office was preparing today an order on the sheriff to turn over 10 more ballot boxes for investigation in connection with the recent primary elections. Out of 56 such boxes to be investigated, 28 have been called for. Informations have been filed against two election boards.

County Detective David Drexler, in charge of the investigation under First Assistant District Attorney Andrew W. Clark, recommended to the district attorney's office the calling of boxes from Precints 2, 5, 7, 9 and 10 of the Second Ward; Precincts 1, 2 and 20 from the Third Ward; Precincts 8 and 14 from the Sixth Ward. Because of Clark's illness, Drexler says, he has made no recent report of his investigation.

Daughters Inherit $14,200 Estate

Misses Goldie M. Best and Dorothy C. Best inherit the property of their father, Nicholas H. Best, of North Braddock, under the terms of his will filed for probate today. The estate is valued at $14,200. The Bessemer Trust Company, of Braddock, is appointed executor.

Will Stage Play At Blind School

The Saturday Evening Club of the Western Pennsylvania School for the Blind will present a one-act play this evening in the school's auditorium. Bayard street and Bellefield avenue. Mrs. B. S. Joice and Miss Marie H. Cobb are in charge of the presentation.

Divorced Husband Sued For Children's Keep

A suit by Katherine S. Dalzell, now Katherine S. Withers, of Nevada, against James Willis Dalzell, of Ellsworth avenue, seeking to recover $5,633.50 alleged to have been granted her by a Nevada court as support for their two children, was filed late yesterday in Common Pleas Court by Reed, Smith, Shaw and McClay.

The suit averred that they were married November 12, 1914, and that she filed a suit for divorce at Reno, Nev., September 7, 1923, a decree being granted 10 days later.

According to the suit, an order was handed down October 2, 1929, granting her custody of the children, James Willis Dalzell, Jr., and Katherine Louise Dalzell, and fixing $4,633.50 for their support to that date and $300 monthly thereafter, from which order an appeal was not filed.

Victim of Auto Collision Wins $10,000 Damages

Albert M. Krut, automobile repairman, of Mary street, South Side, was awarded a verdict of $10,000 in Common Pleas Court in his suit against W. Z. Vance and Pearl E. Vance, trading as the Vance Transfer Company, for injuries suffered in an automobile collision.

Krut claimed that while he was driving an automobile on Eighteenth street, near Crossman street, South Side, April 13, 1928, an employe of the Vance company drove a truck into the automobile to check the speed of the truck and prevent it from plunging down an embankment, as the brakes of the truck were not working. According to Krut, his car was crushed against a pole and the truck forced a bumper against him, causing a fracture of his leg which made it shorter than the other and permanently crippled him.

PHILLIPS JOINS FIGHT FOR QUICK ACTION ON TOWN HALL

START ON WORK URGED AS AID TO JOBLESS

Money Voted for Project Now, Not in Indefinite Future, Leader Asserts

John M. Phillips, president of the Phillips Mine & Mill Supply Company, active in many branches of civic service, today joined the ranks of citizens who advocate immediate action on the Town Hall.

Work should be started without delay, he said, to furnish jobs to some of the many unemployed men now walking the streets. He made the point also that the people have faith in the county commissioners' ability to carry the project through to a successful conclusion, and as the commissioners must accept the responsibility anyway, nothing is to be gained by a dilatory policy.

ACTION WANTED NOW

"We voted $6,000,000 for the Town Hall, didn't we?" said Phillips. "Everybody was enthusiastic about it. It went over by a big majority, didn't it? We felt that it was going to serve as a community center in which the people not only of Pittsburgh but of all the other cities and boroughs and townships in the county could get together.

"When we voted the money we intended it should be spent, didn't we? It was my expectation, and I think it was that of most of us, that the Town Hall would be put up not some time in the indefinite and remote future, but right away.

"The county commissioners have done good work in building bridges, roads and other public improvements, and we have faith in their ability to do a good job with the Town Hall too.

AID FOR JOBLESS

"The work ought to be done now. All public improvements planned for the next two or three years should be started now, to help solve the problem of unemployment. Business is not as good as it was. Construction of public improvements will help to tide us over the slack period.

"Opposition to the project comes from those who are afraid the sites they themselves favor for the Town Hall will not be chosen, and are unwilling that it shall go elsewhere—a dog in the manger attitude. The citizens generally have confidence the county commissioners will do the right thing."

SUITOR'S SHOT NOT FATAL

Mrs. Joseph Swanick, 26, of 36 Clay way, was reported recovering from a bullet wound at Passavant Hospital received yesterday when Joseph Olszwski, 40, of 1539 Clark street, became enraged and shot her. Olszwski ended his life by firing a bullet through his brain.

He shot the woman while she was attending a friend's children at 2116 Tustin street.

Police said the motive for the double shooting was responsible to Mrs. Swanick's request that Olszwski end their long friendship.

Mrs. Swanick had been separated from her husband for two years.

DRY INFORMER FACES PRISON SENTENCE

'Heinie' Edwards Ordered To Serve Term by Federal Court in Monessen Case

While still maintaining he had furnished information to the prohibition department which resulted in the suspension of Archie Negelman as a "dry" agent, "Heinie" Edwards, of Pricedale, was committed to jail to serve a six-months term imposed May 2, 1927, in Federal court. He was found guilty in the Monessen conspiracy rum trial.

Edward Negelman was convicted of conspiracy. Assertion of having been of assistance to the prohibition department was denied by Administrator John D. Pennington. Edwards said he made many trips to prohibition headquarters after his conviction and named government investigators with whom he had conferred.

Edwards, who seemed surprised on being call upon to surrender himself to the United States marshal nearly three years after being sentenced, said he had conferences with Maj. H. J. Armour, a member of the investigating bureau of the prohibition department; Joseph Frayne, former assistant administrator, and an agent named Guise, after his conviction.

An appeal by Edwards to the United States circuit court for a new trial was denied February 24, 1928, when the higher court upheld his conviction in the Monessen conspiracy.

Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's Camera Question Box each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: Educators meeting in Atlantic City urge a federal department of education with a secretary of education in the President's cabinet. What is your opinion of the proposal?

MELVA HALL FRANK, public exchange operator: "I guess it's all right. I suppose there'd be a lot of complaints because choosing of school books and things would be out of the hands of politicians. But everyone would get the same kind of an education and we'd have a lot better school system. I guess. Sure, I like it."

Melva Frank

MISS A. YOUNG, Mt. Oliver, clerk: "It can't do any harm, but in a place like Pittsburgh I don't see what good it would do. Our schools here are fine. They're the best in the country, I guess. But for many other places, it would probably mean more and better schools. But most things in Washington seem to be governed by politics and they have no place in education".

Miss A. Young

MISS I. YOST, North Side: "Well, they've been talking about it long enough. This country has plenty of boys and girls, men and women who have never had the right educational chance. How about those poor 'kids' up in Virginia where President Hoover just started a school? It's things like that that a national department of education would fix—I'm for it—it'd mean a more intelligent country."

Miss I. Yost

ELEANOR E. DAVIS, Bellevue, secretary: "I approve of the plan. It would mean we wouldn't lose grades when we change from one school to another, wouldn't it? The country schools would be on the same level as the city schools. I hope we have it."

Eleanor E. Davis

H. C. BEARES, West View Park, executive: "I think it's a good thing. Providing that it would be handled as an educational proposition instead of a political matter, of course. A uniform standard for the entire country is only one of its many advantages."

H. C. Beares

GEORGE SVECSKAY, Hazelwood, editor and manager: "It was needed a long time ago here. No cultured country could go without such. First, there's no other way to set a standard for education, which is the thing that needs standardization most. Second, it's the way to take any remaining politics out of education."

VOTERS HEARD ON CHANGES

A proposal tentatively agreed upon by commissioners of the Sixth Ward would reduce the voting districts from 20 in number to 11. Commissioner N. R. Cuss, Charles E. Flinn, William H. Ziefel heard proposals of ward residents in the Lawrence School, Thirty-second street, last night.

The commissioners indicated they would favorably receive the proposal of Congressman P. J. Sullivan, Republican ward chairman, to reduce the number of precincts, now set at 600.

Sullivan proposed the following redistricting: First, old First; Second, Second and part of the Fourteenth; Third, Third and part of Fourteenth; Fourth, Fourth and Fifth; Fifth, Sixth and Twelfth; Sixth, Tenth and Thirteenth; Seventh, part of Ninth, Eleventh Seventeenth; Eighth, part of Ninth and Eighth; Ninth, Fifteenth and Sixteenth; Tenth, Seventeenth and Eighteenth; Eleventh, Nineteenth and Twentieth.

FIRE VICTIMS RECOVERING

Mrs. Irene Dever, 25, is recovering in Allegheny General Hospital today following her leap yesterday from a window on the second floor of her burning home, 200 Reedsdale street.

Capt. William Rahl, of Engine Company 46, overcome by smoke after his rescue of Mrs. Dever's 7-month-old baby, June, was discharged from the hospital. The infant's condition is good.

At the hospital Mrs. Dever told how she was trapped by flames which started in her kitchen when a gas jet fired clothing hanging on a line. Unable to find her child, and blinded by dense smoke, the woman leaped from a bedroom window, her body striking a wire. She suffered a dislocated elbow.

SAY DETECTIVE SHOT SELF

The bullet which ended the life of Charles Elm, 30, a Negro special patrolman, of 145 Elm street, was accidentally inflicted, homicide detectives said today.

Wilbert Stewart, 25, a Negro with whom Elm lived, and who was arrested in connection with the shooting, explained that Elm was shot when a gun which Stewart was examining last night in their apartment went off accidentally. Police took Elm to the Passavant Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

In connection with the affair the detectives are holding Majesta Butler, 24, of 719 Manilla street, and Lela Elm, 23, common law wife of the victim, they reported. The women were in the apartment at the time.

PITTSBURGH RAILWAYS SCORED IN FIGHT OVER BUS FARES

ALLIED TRADE BOARDS HIT MONOPOLY

Counsel Brands Company 'Sacred Cow,' Too Long Coddled in Rate Making

"In India the sacred cow may not be touched though the children starve," said Attorney William George Negley today. "Is the Pittsburgh Railways Company a sacred cow?"

Negley, counsel for the Allied Boards of Trade in its fight before the Public Service Commission against the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company's 25-cent bus fare, was sketching the arguments that will be presented.

The coach company a subsidiary of the railways company sought at the first hearing to justify the 25-cent fare on the ground that if it were reduced the trolley business would suffer.

CODDLED TOO LONG

"The Pittsburgh Railways Company has been regarded too long," said Negley, "as a sacred cow that must be coddled and preserved at any cost. Our answer is well expressed in a saying attributed to Judge E. V. Kuykendall of the State of Washington:

"'No public transportation agency has a right to public support that does not supply a social need to the best public advantage and its right to continued existence is subordinate to the right of the public to substitute for it any better or more economical method of obtaining the service rendered.'

"Our contention," continued Mr. Negley, "is that the trolley is an obsolescent method of transportation and is bound to be superseded by buses. The Public Service Commission has already conceded the need for bus transportation in Pittsburgh by granting the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company a certificate of public convenience."

CANVASS DISTRICT

After the first hearing the Public Service Commission said it would be interested in a study of the Pittsburgh district with reference to its mass transportation needs and difficulties, and in suggestions as to how the needs could be met through bus service. Consideration of the rate case was accordingly deferred until after the study has been made and a report submitted.

John M. Rice and Earl G. Kaltenbach, consulting engineers for the Allied Boards of Trade, will confer with Public Service Commissin engineers at Harrisburg next Wednesday with a view to eliminating from the study matters on which the Public Service Commission does not desire testimony.

Co-Operation Urged For Improvements

Community solidarity as the best agency for obtaining public improvements was stressed by State Senator Herman P. DRIVE STARTED BY CRUSADERS

With a campaign fund of $10,000 subscribed, a drive for enlistment of 150,000 men and women in Allegheny County was being pushed today by the Crusaders, national dry reform organization. The fund was announced at a meeting of the committee of 100 in the William Penn Hotel last night.

More than 300 industrial and business leaders were present with Norman Allderdice, executive commander of the local district of the Crusaders, presiding. Fred G. Clark, national executive commander of the organization, addressed the gathering and talks were made by various members. Among those present were Benedict Crowell, former assistant secretary of war, and Congressman Thomas Phillips of Butler.

Explaining the Crusaders is a non-sectarian non-political group dedicated to constructive dry law reform, Clark declared that the organization has attracted men of every faith, party and station in life. Many of its older members, he claimed, were those who voted for prohibition, but who have come to regard bootlegging as a national evil.

Members of the local executive committee in addition to Allderdice are: A. Rex Flinn, J. M. Schoonmaker Jr., Joseph H. Bialas, Carl L. Pierce Jr., Edgar D. Mason, Herbert A. May, Theodore F. Smith, R. K. Richards, W. Y. Cocken Jr., Earl C. B. Gould, D. J. McLaughlin, F. F. Forchheimer, Joseph D. Watson, Dr. Harry A. Goehring and Preston T. Large.

BRIDGE, FERRY HEADS CLASH

W. H. Williams, inventor, printer, bridge owner and merchant of Jacobs Creek, turned lawyer yesterday and defended himself at a Public Service Commission hearing here. As owner of a suspension bridge 400 feet long and 30 inches wide across the Youghiogheny River at Jacobs Creek, he was haled before the commission charged with operating his bridge without a public service permit. Commissioner Charles H. Young heard the case.

Formal complaint was lodged by Daniel Farkas, owner of an aerial cable ferry at Jacobs Creek, near West Newton, the Williams structure being a competitor. Williams countered, charging that Farkas, operating as the Jacobs Creek Ferry Company is on record in the auditor general's office as being out of business.

DENIES SEEKING PROFIT

Williams says he is trustee for the bridge and claims it is the property of the Jacobs Creek Improvement Association and is a co-operative affair, not run for profit, and not accountable to the Public Service Commission, disputed by Farkas.

Commissioner Young sought to pacify both sides in helping Williams in his legal questions. The hearing reached a climax when Williams called a plaintiff witness, John Gazda, "a liar" in open court, while Gazda was testifying. Williams alleged most of the score of witnesses called by the plaintiff testified out of malice. He also sought to show that no one was allowed to cross his bridge without first signing a contract as member of the improvement association, which was disputed.

Gazda testified he never signed the contract, stipulating membership, but had crossed the foot bridge by putting a 10-cent piece in the slot machine at the gate. When the bell attached to the contrivance rang the gate opened and the foot passenger could cross, Gazda said. Williams invented the slot machine, it was said.

TALKS FOR BOTH SIDES

Williams wanted to know if Gazda and three others had not on the particular occasion attempted to break down the gate. Gazda denied it and countered by charging that Williams had poked a gun into his side. Later, Gazda testified, Williams handed him a dime to pay his toll and he passed on.

Mrs. Anna Dozak, a former toll collector, appeared for the plaintiff and also for the defendant, the latter calling her after he had examined himself, as his own witness on the stand, with the aid of Commissioner Young. Mrs. Dozak told the Commissioner she received 25 per cent commission on tolls, while she lived on the Williams property, but was finally put out of the house on 10 minutes' notice, after a misunderstanding. Williams testified that only members are supposed to use the bridge and employes of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, he having a contract with the latter. A decision will be rendered later.

FETE WORKERS OF COUNTY

Five hundred Allegheny County employes and their families are expected to attend an informal entertainment tonight in the Chamber of Commerce Building as guests of the Women's Club and the Cogaselco Club organization of the Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation.

Chad Thomas will act as master of ceremonies and W. H. Adams, special agent for Pittsburgh properties, will be the main speaker. Miss Agnes Downton is president of the Women's Club and Lou Staude, Jr., heads the men's club. B. S. Cooper, chairman, J. L. Donner, W. E. Kaye, C. A. Aron, C. D. Henderson, Miss Downton, Cally Roberts, Maxine Rollins, Pearl Narrigan, Hellen Dillon and G. K. Campbell make up the committee in charge.

RAIDERS SEIZE PAINT FLUID

Seven hundred gallons of alcoholic fluid shipped from New York to Pittsburgh as "paint and varnish remover" was in the possession of prohibition agents following its seizure yesterday.

Ten drums, each containing 50 gallons, were seized on the freight platform of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in Water street. Four other drums which, agents reported, had been removed from the platform several hours before were found in the basement of Weber Express and Storage Company at 4620 Henry street. No arrests were made.

Edward J. Guckert was arrested in a raid on a club at 3558 Evergreen road, North Side, where 20 pints of whisky were seized, according to the agents' report. Moonshine found in a barroom at 115 Boquet street resulted in the arrest of James Ridge, 25, the agents reported.

The ceremony is to take place at 5:30 o'clock that afternoon in St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal Church, and the Rev. O. D. O'Dell is to be best man. The bride, who will be given in marriage by her uncle, Eugene Murray, of Sewickley, will have no attendants.

Nuptial Parties

Besides the dinner tomorrow evening, the bride and bridegroom-elect will be entertained on Tuesday by the William McBrides of Grant street, at a dinner. Then the very next evening they will be honor guests at a dinner given by the Prescott L. Lyonses, of Orchard terrace, in their home.

* * *

Florida Attracts

Frank L. Loesch, a member of President Hoover's crime commission, and chairman of the Chicago Crime Commission, and Mrs. Loesch, will be guests on Monday of the Samuel A. McClungs, of Murrayville avenue. Mrs. Loesch's mother will also be there.

On Monday evening the Men's Club of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church will give a dinner in honor of Mr. Loesch in the University Club. Shortly afterwards the Loesches will leave for Washington.

MISS DOROTHY DINSMORE JUSTICE was the guest of honor at a bridge tea given by her mother, Mrs. David Earl Justice, of Johnston street, on Saturday. Miss Justice has named her wedding date as March 29, when she will marry Clarence Robert Anderson, of Ben Avon.

The appointments were all in pink, green and orchid. Mr. Anderson's mother, Mrs. Cecil Robert Anderson, who wore green georgette and a corsage of pink roses and lilies of the valley, presided over the tea table. The guest of honor wore pale green georgette and a corsage of orchids and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Justice received in black georgette and lace and wore a corsage of pink roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Mary Florence Taylor, Miss Helen Cloos and Miss Helen Taylor will be bridesmaids at the wedding.

Professional Women Will Hold Banquet At Wilkinsburg

THE Wilkinsburg Business and Professional Women's Club is planning something a bit out of the ordinary for March 29—a banquet to which state and local officials will be invited. It will be held in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel with Miss Lutie Stearns, of Milwaukee, national lecturer, as the guest of honor and speaker. Sharing honors will be Dr. Mildred Rogers, of New Castle, state president, and Mrs. Helen Schluraff, of Erie, former state president and now state membership chairman.

At its regular dinner meeting in the hotel Tuesday evening, the club will be addressed by Miss Miriam Schoenfield, speaking on "Be Yourself." Miss Monita Crane, vice president, will preside in the absence of the president, Mrs. Janet Snyder. In celebration of National Business Women's Week, March 16 to 19, Mrs. Snyder will broadcast over KDKA the message of the national president, Miss Marion McClench, of Detroit, on March 11.

WHEN the Thursday Afternoon Club of Wilkinsburg met yesterday in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel, the women were addressed by Samuel H. Allen, of the Pittsburgh Trust Company, who spoke on "Wills and Estates." Mrs. W. D. Brown, Mrs. F. C. Schroeder and Mrs. R. D. Evans were hostesses.

THE Epoch Club will go "Adventuring" in its program next year, having selected that as its study topic for 1930-31. Continuing its miscellaneous program yesterday, under Mrs. J. Harry Letsche, the wives of the presidents of the United States were discussed, Mrs. G. B. Griffin and Mrs. Hobart B. Ayers having written the papers. Mrs. Ayers' paper, however, was read by Mrs. Harold W. Cope. Mrs. Lamont H. Button gave a paper on "Vivid Personalities of Today," including in her talk Ramsey MacDonald, Gandhi and Mussolini. The club met with Mrs. Frederick Winter, of Beechwood boulevard.

SPRING COLOR MENU IS DELECTABLE THIS YEAR

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Feb. 28.—The menu and the mode meet at the color card, since all shades of yellow and brown are so much favored. Toast brown, butter yellow, tea color, not forgetting coffee and chocolate, orange and lemon yellow, banana and biscuit with a dash of mustard are just some of the items you can indulge in if you are not on a color diet. This year the sunny Riviera skies smile down on these shades which seems to indicate their general acceptance for the spring and summer mode. The brown family has so many members that it should be quite easy to find a suitable shade for every type. It seems hard to realize that brown was formerly thought of as a drab hue with an appeal to those who thought that color was something that had its place only on the artist's palette. It is a far cry to these happy days when each of us express our personality and even create one through the medium of our colorful clothes.

A SURVEY of the pyjama situation discloses the amazing popularity of that easy article of attire that has graduated from the boudoir to the beach with perfect grace and sangfroid. No collection here is complete without its quota of pyjama suits designed for every type and many occasions, in every possible fabric and combination. A salute to the pajama fad that has taught us to relax and lounge, something that is extremely important in these strenuous times. The striking pyjama ensemble offered for your delectation is from Heim, the smart fur house that has only recently entered into the general couture field with highly successful results. The cape and the pyjamas are of earring striped lyseur silk, while the blouse is of white crepe. A wide-brimmed peanut straw beach hat completes the ensemble and has a scarf of the striped lyseur.

THE delightful ensemble which is from Jenny was recently sketched on the Croisette at Cannes. It combines yellow homespun for the coat with a matching crepe de Chine for the frock. The coat is full length and has a black velvet collar and black and yellow silk stitching on the sleeves and pockets. The frock, too, has a collar of black velvet with two little bows, one at the neckline, one at the belt. There is a deep bolero on the blouse, and the finely pleated skirt is held down snugly at the hipline with horizontal bands of the material. Little rippling godets of the material are attached vertically at intervals [illegible] the skirt and on top of the pleats.

A Military Influence is Seen in Spring Coats

$59.50

A militant femininity, as it were,—for some of the very loveliest coats have been inspired by Napoleon's capes, and the Russian Cossack coats. These influences shown in the sketch above.

The $59.50 group of coats finds these new modes expressed in coverts, broadcloths, tweeds, telga, silvertone and other beautiful fabrics. Some of the coats are trimmed with galyac, American broadtail, squirrel, kit fox or lapin. Others untrimmed.

Printed Chiffon Dresses

$15.75

Perhaps it is the loveliness of these printed chiffons alone that makes them so popular for early spring. But it is quite likely that the modest price has something to do with their great demand.

Some have long, decorated sleeves. Some are sleeveless, and have silk crepe jackets in a plain color.

Also at $15.75 a special group of Navy Georgette Dresses

Second Floor

Girls' Silk Dresses

$5.95

Prints, plain crepes, shantungs, and taffetas—in those simple styles which make little girls look so fetching.

Here's the little dress with a large bertha collar, a smocked frock with tucks at the waistline. And ever so many other models!

Prints and plain colors in dark and medium shades. Shantungs in pastel shades. Sizes 7 to 14 years.

$15

Boys like these dressy worsted cheviot suits for spring. Single and double-breasted models. Peak lapels on coats — same as big brother's! Extra well tailored. Sizes 7 to 17. Coat, vest and two pairs full lined golf knickers, $15.00.

Blue "Prep" Suits, $20.00

Single and double-breasted models. Of blue worsted cheviot. Coat, vest and two pairs long trousers, $20.00.

BIGGER and BETTER HEADQUARTERS

We are pleased indeed to announce the completion of our new home, 2813 Brownsville Road, Brentwood, right next door to the old location. It is a permanent home, in our own building, which has been remodeled into an up-to-date office for the comfort and convenience of our clients. You're Welcome Anytime.

BUILDERS OF MODERN HOMES

Here you will find complete facilities for the building of that "dream home" and a plan that will enable you to begin its contruction this Spring. Last year we placed 27 families in homes of their own and made warm friends in each case. We'll be pleased to explain the details of our plan . . . you'll like our courteous methods and the fact that we attend to every little detail, under your supervision, of course, from blueprint to completion.

LOW MONTHLY PAYMENTS

Our resources are ample and enable us to extend a particularly attractive finance plan. We can build on your lot, and make the monthly payments, including interest, probably less than you are paying for rent.

A COMPLETE REALTY SERVICE

To render a complete real estate service under one roof is our aim and our organization has been extended to make this possible. Mr. J. C. Fischer specializes in the building of modern homes, and Mr. L. G. Ackermann and Mr. C. H. McCollum are associated with him in the general renting and brokerage department. An additional service is the placing of first mortgages and the buying of second mortgages.

INSURANCE DEPARTMENT

To add the finishing touch to the completeness of the service we are able to render, connections have been established with several leading Insurance Companies, and reliable protection is available at low cost.

Visit Beautiful Brentwood!

If you are seeking an ideal spot in which to rent, buy or build a home—visit BRENTWOOD. You'll like its scenic beauty, and will find it convenient—only

'THE FORTUNE TELLER' OPENS HERBERT FESTIVAL

The [illegible] the Alvin [illegible] Tuesday evening will be a [illegible] augur[illegible] to Pittsburgh-made comp[illegible] of the Harrington [illegible] "The Fortune Teller" [illegible] the Stage.

At the close of the second act of "Salt Water," the comedy announced for presentation by the George Sharp Players in the Pitt next week, there is a scene showing the burning of a ferry boat that has rammed into the pier. It is the culmination of a series of misunderstandings caused by a young wife's efforts to keep her husband from [illegible] on a seafaring career.

MODEL STORE BEING ERECTED

Friend's and Company Will Open New Furniture House May 1.

Friend & Co., one of Pittsburgh's oldest furniture stores, has announced its proposal to construct a new furniture store—next to the present store, which will be vacated May 1.

This is said to be the first step in Friend's expansion and reorganization program for 1930. A constant increase in business has made larger quarters an absolute necessity, store officials said. The new building will provide not only for present needs but for the future growth. As a result the new Friend's will rank with the largest furniture stores in this country, and will be architecturally beautiful.

The new building, now under construction, is to be six stories high. Every floor will be devoted to the display of furniture and other home furnishings. The entire basement will be given over to electrical appliances and housewares. The new building will be located at 908-910 Penn Ave., extending to Exchange Way.

To Be Model Store.

A model furniture store in every respect is the end proposed. The newest ideas in modern furniture store construction is expected to insure every comfort and convenience to patrons. Model rooms on every floor will enable the customer to see exactly how the furniture will actually look when arranged in the home.

The architectural plans for the front of the building are highly modernistic in spirit. Black vitrolite glass in checkerboard effect is to be used with bronze fitments. At night the building will be floodlighted in the latest and most artistic manner.

Established in 1857

Friend & Co. was established in 1857 by the late Charles H. Friend, and it has been owned and operated by Pittsburghers ever since. "If all the homes that Friend's has furnished could be put together, more than a fair sized city would be the result," officials declared.

The new store will be open May 1. [illegible]

THREE IMPORTANT FACTORS ENTER INTO THE COST OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE

1. How much it costs to make the car

2. How much extra you pay the dealer

3. How much it costs for operation and up-keep

THE PURCHASE of an automobile involves a considerable amount of money and it should be carefully considered from all angles before a final decision is made.

The value of the car to you depends on the value built into it at the factory, how much extra you pay the dealer for distribution, selling, financing and accessories and what it will cost to operate and maintain the car after purchase. Each of these factors, as it relates to the Ford car, is frankly explained below.

Economy in production

THE FORD CAR is made economically because of the efficiency of Ford production methods. The money saved through this efficiency is put back into the car in improved quality of material and in greater care and accuracy in manufacturing. The constant effort is to eliminate waste and find ways to make each part better and better without increasing cost—frequently at lowered cost.

Because of Ford economies in large production and because the Ford organization operates on a low-profit margin, the price you pay for the car is much less than it would be under any other conditions. Yet it brings you many unusual features of construction and performance.

At least $75 extra value is represented alone by the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the Rustless Steel, the four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, and the five steel-spoke wheels. The unusually large number of ball and roller bearings and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings are additional features that reflect the high quality built into every part of the car. Throughout, it is a value far above the price you pay.

Low dealer charges

THE SAME PRINCIPLES of efficiency and economy that characterize the manufacture of the Ford car are applied also to distribution. Obviously it would do the public little good to save in production if these savings were sacrificed later in excessive costs of selling, financing and accessories.

The Ford dealer, therefore, operates on the same low-profit margin as the Ford Motor Company, his discount or commission being the lowest of any automobile dealer. He does a good business because he makes a small profit on many sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales.

NOTE THESE LOW PRICES

Roadster	$435
Phaeton	$440	Tudor Sedan	$500
Coupe	$500	Sport Coupe	$530
Two-window Fordor Sedan	$600
Three-window Fordor Sedan	$625
Cabriolet	$645	Town Sedan	$670

(All prices f. o. b. Detroit)

Low charges for time payments through the Universal Credit Company

The lower cost of selling, combined with the low charges for financing and accessories, means a direct saving of at least $50 to $75 to every purchaser of a Ford, in addition to the savings made possible by economies in manufacturing. The money you pay for a Ford goes into value in the car. It is not wasted in high dealer charges.

Low up-keep costs

IT IS IMPORTANT to remember that the cost of your automobile is not the first cost only, but the total cost after months and years of service. Here again there is a decided saving when you buy a Ford.

The cost of operation and up-keep is lower because of simplicity of design, the high quality of material, and the reduction of friction and wear through unusual accuracy in manufacturing and assembling. The reliability and longer life of the car contribute to its low depreciation per year of use.

The intelligent, painstaking service rendered by Ford dealers is under close factory supervision and is a considerable factor in the low up-keep cost of the Ford. All labor is billed at a flat rate and replacement parts are always available at low prices through Ford dealers in every section of the United States.

In two, three or five years, depending on how much you drive, the saving in operating and maintaining a new Ford will amount to even more than the saving on the first cost of the car.

WEINBERG, FAKE ENVOY, JAILED

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP.)—An international imposter who once gained the confidence of President of the United States was taken into custody after being sought for almost a year to begin service of a prison term for practicing law without a license.

Samuel Weinberg, alias Lieut. Sterling G. Wyman, was arrested as he walked down Broadway unshaven, a sandwich wrapped in a newspaper under his arm and in his pocket two allegedly certified and canceled checks for $1,500,000 which he said he was wont to show to people to indicate the extent of his financial operations.

Taken before the Court of Special Sessions, Weinberg was ordered taken immediately to the penitentiary to begin serving his six-month to three-year sentence. He has served several previous sentences in connection with his fraudulent operations.

In 1922, Weinberg as Lieut. Wyman convinced President Harding that he was a bonafide naval lieutenant and personal representative of "Princess Fatima," a lady who claimed to be a Turkish princess but wasn't. He secured an audience for her with the President.

While serving one jail sentence here in New York, Weinberg wrote to several prominent people telling them he was a retired lawyer and philanthropist and intimated that gifts would be acceptable. When the prison mails began to be clogged with personal presents, letters and books for Weinberg, authorities investigated and put a stop to his letter writing.

He explained his recent disappearance to the parole authorities as having been occasioned by large financial operations which required his presence in Canada and Great Britain.

Scrap All Warships, Swarthmore Urges

SWARTHMORE, Pa., Feb. 28 (AP.)—A cable advocating "drastic disarmament" was addressed to Secretary Stimson at the London naval conference by 450 students of Swarthmore College.

Abolition of all battleships and submarines and reduction of other war vessels was called for by the students of the Quaker institution who indorsed President Hoover's opinion that "it cannot be too low for us." The cable was in response to Stimson's recent speech asking to hear American views on the conference. Approximately 90 per cent of the student body voted to send the message.

Wife of Retired Missionary Dies

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 28 (AP.)—Mrs. Catherine Elson Stone, 68, of Wheeling, New Rochelle, N. Y., and Deland, Fla., died at the latter city yesterday, according to word received here. Death was due to heart disease. Mrs. Stone was the wife of Dr. J. Summer Stone, retired Methodist missionary to India. The body will be buried here.

Sister M. Callista

Funeral services for Sister Mary Callista, formerly Mary Steggert, of Pittsburgh, who died yesterday in St. Joseph's convent, Bloomfield, will be held tomorrow in the Mt. Alvernia cemetery, chapel, Millvale. Interment will follow in Mt. Alvernia cemetery. Sister Callista was born in Pittsburgh, the daughter of the late Henry and Catherine Steggert. During the last 30 years she had taught at St. Joseph's School, Bloomfield, where she was teaching at the time of her death; St. Michael's school, South Side, and St. Augustine's School, Lawrenceville. She leaves two sisters, Sister Mary Tharsilla, a teacher in St. Henry's school, Mt. Oliver, and Sister Mary Loyola, superior of St. Anthony's school, Millvale, and two brothers, J. Albert Steggert, of Pittsburgh, and Bertram J. Steggert, registar of Loyola University, Chicago.

Mrs. Lydia W. Snowdon

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 28.—Mrs. Lydia Warren Snowdon, 75, widow of Capt. Edward Snowdon, died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. J. I. Raymond, here. She was born in Allegheny, Pa., October 30, 1855, and spent her early life at Greensburg. Her husband, who captained steamers between here and New Orleans for more than a score years, died in 1904.

She leaves the following children: Mrs. Wayne C. Stem, of Pittsburgh; W. E. Snowdon, of Scottdale; John R. Snowdon, of Roscoe; Mrs. Dora Reed, of Chicago, Ill.; Ross Snowdon and Mrs. Harry S. Byers, of West Brownsville, and Mrs. G. H. Edwards and Mrs. J. I. Raymond, both of South Brownsville. Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at the daughter's home with burial in Redstone cemetery.

Mrs. Agnes B. Hawthorne

Mrs. Agnes Burns Hawthorne, 73, wife of Frank P. Hawthorne, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edwin I. Wesemann, at 817 Maryland avenue. She was born in Pittsburgh and was the daughter of the late Alexander and Mary J. Burns. She was a member of the East End Christian Church. Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon and interment will be made Monday in the Homewood Cemetery. Besides her husband and daughter, Mrs. Hawthorne leaves another daughter, Mrs. Laura I. Dietz; six sons, Harry C., Simeral, of Kansas City, Millard, Ollie, Blaine, Wilbur and Albert Hawthorne, all of Pittsburgh; 12 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Maud Sarver

SHARPSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 28.—Word has been received here of the death in Detroit, Mich., of Mrs. Maud Sarver, 63, formerly of this place. The body will be brought here for burial. She leaves one son, Robert, and one brother, Matthew Reeser, of Pittsburgh.

Cullen Funeral

Funeral services for John C. Cullen, 68, of 170 Kendall avenue, Bellevue, who died Wednesday in his home, will be held tomorrow in the home. Mr. Cullen was a lifelong resident of Pittsburgh and a veteran employe of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He had been retired on a pension for three years. He was a member of the Holy Name Society of the Church of the Nativity, Perrysville avenue, and at the time of his death was a member of the Church of the Assumption, Bellevue. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Anna B. Kratzer Cullen; five daughters, Mrs. Bertha McLaughlin, Mrs. Blanche Smeltzer, Mrs. Pauline Luke, Mrs. Mercedes Mannninger and Miss Bernadine Cullen, and three sons, William, Wilbur and Arthur Cullen.

Boyd Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Belle Larock Boyd, wife of Robert S. Boyd, and daughter of the late Andrew J. and Jemima Sterritt Larock, who died Wednesday at her home, 5825 Phillips avenue, Squirrel Hill, were to be held today in her late residence. Services were to be conducted by Dr. E. J. Van Etten, rector of Calvary Episcopal Church, of which she was a member. Interment was to be made in Mt. Royal Mausoleum. Mrs. Boyd was a teacher in the Mary J. Cowley School before her marriage in 1901. She leaves her husband, one daughter, Jemima S. Boyd, two sons, Robert S. Boyd, Jr., and John B. Boyd, all at home, a sister, Grace N. Larock, and a brother, John S. Larock, both of Pittsburgh.

Miller Funeral

Funeral services for William F. Miller, 80, who died Wednesday in his home, 382 Forty-second street, will be held tomorrow from his late residence. Interment will be in Allegheny cemetery. Mr. Miller was born in Germany and had lived in the Lawrenceville district since his arrival in this country many years ago. He was a member of Bricklayers Union, local No. 2 and of the Grace Reformed Lutheran Church, Forty-fourth street. He leaves his widow, Catherine Miller, and a son and a daughter.

MAN CONVICTED OF MURDER

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Feb. 28.—August Kerschka, Benwood World War veteran and millworker, was convicted of first degree murder by a jury here after deliberating for three days. The jury recommended mercy, which means that he will face a life sentence.

Kerschka was charged with the murder of Eli Yourkovich, a confectionery operator of Benwood. It was the second time that he was tried. The first time the jury failed to agree upon a verdict.

Judge James F. Shipman deferred sentence.

Three Acquitted On Sedition Charge

EASTON, Pa., Feb. 28.—(AP.)—After W. J. Murdock, Albert Burnbaum and Anna Brulak, all of Bethlehem, had been acquitted on charges of sedition, indictments against 10 others similarly charged were nolle prossed upon application of the district attorney. They were arrested in a raid on the workers' home at Bethlehem last May.

BLIND CHURCH HEAD IN PEN

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 28 (AP.)—Albert Nisbet, blind ex-magistrate and former treasurer of the Baptist tabernacle building fund, left for Frankfort, Ky., yesterday in an ambulance to start serving a four-year sentence imposed upon him when he was convicted of embezzlement of tabernacle funds.

Nisbet arrived at the Circuit Court Building here and remained outside in the ambulance as a second count against him, charging him with embezzlement of $20,000, was filed away with leave to reinstate. The second indictment was filed away through an agreement with the commonwealth providing Nisbet did not appeal his four-year sentence.

Papers for Nisbet's commitment to prison already had been drawn and a few minutes later the blind man, formerly known as the "hard-boiled magistrate" because of the severity of sentences he dealt out to prohibition law violators, was on his way to the Frankfort reformatory.

Throughout his trial Nisbet was carried to the court room on a cot. His pleas of a nervous breakdown failed him several times in the case.

ON WITH THE DANCE

A True Story of the Younger Set

THE Friday evening dancing party was the week's high spot for the young folks of a certain small country club. A four-piece orchestra always supplied the rhythm until older members conceived the idea that mechanical music would serve the youngsters just as well—and cost less.

Accordingly, a music machine was installed. The plan worked once, but the next Friday the little band triumphantly returned to the job.

"What's wrong with your new music box?" a father asked. "Wouldn't you rather dance to Whiteman and Vallee records than to a tin-pan band?"

Junior shook his head and quoted the sadder of the Two Black Crows:

"'Even if that was good we wouldn't like it.' Mechanical music is fine at home but it hasn't the right kick for a dance."

Junior and his friends were not concerned about aesthetic values; they simply knew that mechanical music lacked emotional appeal and, therefore, did not suit their purpose.

What is true of dancing must be equally true of the theatre, where living music is needed for glamorous atmosphere.

Philadelphia Physician Makes Remarkable Statement

Dr. Arthur W. Shultz (M. D., N. D.), Who Advises All Pittsburghers to Give Flaxolyn a Trial

"I Have Faith in the Health-Power of Flaxolyn Since I Have Seen the Wonderful Results it Has Brought to Tired, Run-down, Worn-out People!"

"A number of my patients who have seen the Flaxolyn notices in the papers, have asked me my frank opinion as to the merits of the product, and to them as well as all others I give the answer that I know FROM PERSONAL EXPERIENCE that Vitaminized Herbal Flaxolyn is a wonderful health product." Dr. Shultz continues with the following:

"If a person requires relief from the devastating effects of constipation, which show in the form of headaches, restless sleep, poor appetite, sallow complexion and dull, lustreless eyes, I can say no more than 'Get a bottle of Flaxolyn,' because I am delighted with its natural action in this condition.

"If a patient is weak, rundown, tired out, or has a temporary nervous condition, and a good tonic is required, again I can say nothing better than 'Take Flaxolyn.'

"The new Flaxolyn is pleasant to take, and has a healthful influence on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. I am happy of this opportunity to make my feelings public, as I believe fully 90% of the men and women in this country would receive quick benefit from this splendid opportunity."

Three More Doctors Who Praise Flaxolyn After Splendid Personal Experience With It.

DR. T. A. WALLACE, OF NEW YORK

A. E. F. Physician Says Flaxolyn Tones Stomach

Drives Out Toxic Poisons

"You will be interested to know of the splendid success I have had with Flaxolyn," writes Dr. Wallace. "Through its use sound sleep and nonthral nerves are obtained in a short time, by the counteraction of the toxic poisons. At the same time, Flaxolyn is a good aid to digestion and a good liver and stomach stimulant. You have succeeded admirably in producing an efficient herbal, vitaminized health aid."

Dr. Esther C. Wallin, of Cleveland, Who Shows How Constipation Often Causes Skin Blemishes, and Tells How Flaxolyn Removed the Cause in Her Own Case. "I recommend Flaxolyn with all sincerity."

DR. E. THAYER WARD, OF CLEVELAND

"FLAXOLYN ASSISTED NATURE"

States Dr. E. Thayer Ward

"People to whom I have recommended Flaxolyn readily testify to its beneficial results," says Dr. Ward. "Constipation, kidney and stomach troubles, headaches and nervousness respond to this natural remedy in a most splendid manner.

"No harmful or irritating habit-forming ingredients are contained in this Flaxolyn formula. Flaxolyn assists Nature in restoring a normal condition."

Vitaminized Flaxolyn Discovery Relieves Constipation Naturally; Aids the Action of the Liver, Helps to Perfect the Digestion, and Assists the Functioning of the Kidneys

Thousands of men and women here, who formerly suffered from restlessness at night, and stomach or intestinal distress by day, now feel fit, sleep soundly, eat with hearty appetite and go about their work with happiness in their hearts, thanks to the help accorded by Dr. Luntz's Flaxolyn.

Dizzy spells and yellow complexion, caused by liver sluggishness, have been corrected through Flaxolyn. It has likewise been of benefit to improper kidney elimination, gas on stomach, nervous indigestion, loss of strength and other symptoms.

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE It is absolutely guaranteed in writing that Flaxolyn will help cases of general exhaustion, biliousness, sleeplessness, headaches, backaches, dizzy spells, due to constipation gases—or Druggists refund the purchase price.

Every reader of this paper who would like to feel better, eat better, sleep better and look better, can obtain a bottle of the wonderful new vitaminized herbal Flaxolyn on this liberal offer. That if Flaxolyn does not bring satisfactory results by the sixth spoonful, you may bring back the partly used bottle and have the full purchase price refunded.

Flaxolyn contains nothing that can hurt you, and it may prove to be the means of bringing joy to your existence.

Don't wait. Start taking Flaxolyn. You will feel the tonic change at once. You will enjoy renewed vigor, and new and better grip on life.

Cereals Have Important Part in Our Diet

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Former Health Commissioner of New York City
United States Senator From New York

WINTER is a time to include the heartier foods in the diet. Cereals have come to occupy a most important place in the morning meal. We need these energy and heat producing foods at this time of the year, especially in order to cope with cold, and the more strenuous activities of the season.

There [illegible] food in early life [illegible] with the possible [illegible] the child [illegible] a balanced [illegible] Breakfast [illegible] no exception. [illegible] have a [illegible] all cream [illegible]

There [illegible] race in the [illegible] people [illegible] eaten [illegible]

In many [illegible] most valuable [illegible] seems to have been [illegible] grain [illegible] been used [illegible] years.

EASILY DIGESTED

This [illegible] amount [illegible] content. Most [illegible] its nitrogenous [illegible] form of [illegible] digested.

Oats [illegible] wheat but [illegible]

Its [illegible] and of much [illegible] digestion.

The oatmeal [illegible] quired long cooking [illegible] palatable. But we have the modern partly prepared rolled oats and other oatmeals which require less time to cook. They are excellent foods for the morning meal.

Cereals made from the whole wheat are preferable to those from the more starchy portions of the grain.

CULTIVATED CENTURIES AGO

Wheat was [illegible] earliest times. The ancient Egyptians and the Chinese used it. It was introduced into Great Britain by the Romans. A unique method of "braying the grain between two stones no doubt gave us the name "bread" of the brayed product.

Some of the breakfast cereals are divested of the outer layers of grain, the bran, and the nutrient and protein-carrying germ. The hearts of the kernels are sometimes removed. This leaves in the cereal only the starchy substances. Such cereals are [illegible] wholesome [illegible] cereals made from the whole germ of the whole grain.

The carbohydrates, that is, the starch and sugars, have [illegible] ment a place in the average meal. It is easily possible [illegible] them. Of course we need [illegible] them but they should be [illegible] tributed, that the proteins, [illegible] complement them in the diet.

POPULAR SONG SAVED BY WAR

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS.)—"Write a good war song, no matter when, and a good war will be provided."

This was one of the philosophical thoughts offered by Stoddard King, verse writer, lecturer and columnist, to the Oregon Yale alumni association here.

Speaking before the association, King revealed the origin of the war-time ballad, "There's a Long, Long Trail," whose words he wrote in collaboration with Alonzo Elliot, who furnished the music. King explained the song had been written as a prelude to a "play act" they had perpetrated, to win a trip to a fraternity convention in Boston. The chorus was written during a class lecture on the private life of Byron, the first verse that night and the second verse on the train.

Song publishers in New York rejected it. Published in London it proved a complete flop, King related. Then the war came and saved his first and last sentimental effort from oblivion.

False Eyelashes Add To Milady's Charm

LONDON, (INS.)—False hair, teeth, eyebrows and noses have made many people beautiful. Now artificial eyelashes have made their appearance to help nature improve the looks of her mortals.

These optic transformations are made over half an inch long, thick, curling, silky and seductive. One great advantage is that they can be "mascared" on a plate before being gummed to the eyelids.

When open, they make the eyes round and large, while they sweep the cheek demurely when closed.

Many actresses have found great use for these false eyelashes. They help to give them an expression of "exaggerated innocence" they often require in their acting.

Colds Cost British $75,000,000 Yearly

LONDON, (INS.)—It is estimated that common colds result in a total yearly loss of $75,000,000 in England.

This enormous sum is lost in wages, doctor bills and diminished industrial output.

Schools Form Model League of Nations

DENVER, (INS.)—Representatives of eight Colorado institutions of higher learning will assemble here March 7 in a model League of Nations assembly sponsored by the University of Denver.

Each of the 54 colleges in the league will be represented by students of the various colleges and mandates, war guilt, disarmament and the World Court will come up for consideration and debate.

Tenor's Silence May Cost Him 1,000,000

SUNDAY DINNER.

Crab Cocktail.
Beefsteak Pie.
Spiced Beets. Baked Succotash.
Lettuce with Thousand Island Dressing.
Deep Dish Apple Pie.
Coffee.

A CRAB cocktail is a splendid introduction to any meal so let's choose it for our Sunday dinner! You may use the delicious canned crabmeat and serve it with this piquant cocktail sauce. Mix together 3 tablespoons ketchup, 2 tablespoons horseradish, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce. Add salt to taste.

All the ingredients must be very cold and cocktail glasses thoroughly chilled. Set each glass in a dish of cracked ice and garnish with a sprig of parsley or an oblong slice of lemon.

All prepared for the beefsteak pie which follows? Here then is the recipe. Cut 2 pounds of chuck steak in 1-inch cubes and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Simmer the meat for 1 hour in boiling water to cover. It should be tender in that time. Put the meat in a baking dish. Thicken the meat stock with 2 tablespoons flour which has been mixed to a paste with 3 tablespoons cold water.

TO the meat in the baking dish add 1 cup cooked cubed carrots; 2 cups cooked diced potatoes; 1 cup cooked celery cut in pieces, and 6 cooked medium sized onions. Pour the thickened gravy over the vegetables and dot with butter or fat. Cover the top with a pie crust and bake in a quick oven for the first 10 minutes. Then reduce the heat to a moderate oven and bake 20 to 25 minutes longer.

Like the beefsteak pie, the deep-dish apple pie is made without an undercrust and thus saves our dinner from "too much pastry." The pie is made in a baking dish about 3 inches deep, with an inverted cup placed in the middle. The cup supports the top crust and prevents it from soaking up the juice during the baking.

In cutting the pie remove the inverted cup as soon as possible to permit the juices to escape. Serve each portion with a slice of cheese.

COCOANUT PUDDING. Mix 1-3 cup of cornstarch, 1-3 cup of sugar and ¼ teaspoon of salt with enough milk to make a smooth paste. Scald 3 cups of milk in a double boiler and when it is hot stir in the cornstarch mixture. Keep stirring until smooth and thick. Add 1 cup of shredded cocoanut, cover and cook 30 minutes in the double boiler. Remove from the fire, add the stiffly beaten whites of 3 eggs and 1 teaspoon of vanilla. Pour into a mold and chill. Serve with whipped cream and garnish with maraschino cherries.

BAKED HAM WITH RAISIN SAUCE—If baked ham held the place of honor at your dinner last night, and if you are fortunate enough to have any of it left, serve it with raisin sauce. Cut slices of the meat and heat for a few minutes in a moderate oven. Then pour over it this sauce.

Raisin Sauce. Measure 1 cup of water. Reserve enough of it to mix 2 level teaspoons of cornstarch into a paste, pour the remainder of the water into a saucepan, add ¼ cup of vinegar and a cup of brown sugar. Let come to a boil and carefully add the cornstarch paste, stirring constantly to avoid lumps. Cook until the mixture is clear, then add ¼ cup of raisins.

When the ham has cooked for 40 minutes, pour the sauce over it, stirring a bit to blend with the fat, then return to the oven to cook about 10 minutes more. Serve on a hot platter with the sauce poured over, or in a separate dish, if preferred.

BAKED APPLES. If you love baked apples, but find yourself wishing for just a little variety, try this.

Peel and core the apples and place in a buttered baking dish. Fill the cavities with stoned dates and blanched almonds. Grate lemon rind over the top, sprinkle with a little cinnamon and pour in the bottom of the baking dish 1 cup of water in which 4 tablespoons of sugar have been dissolved.

Baste the apples with this liquid from time to time. It may be necessary to add more fluid if it evaporates before the apples are tender.

COCOANUT CREAM FILLING. To make a cocoanut cream filling—and who doesn't like it?—add 3 tablespoons of cocoanut to 1 cup of milk and scald in a double boiler. Mix together a ½ cup of sugar and 1-3 cup of flour, pour the hot milk over these ingredients and return to the double boiler. Cook until slightly thickened, stirring constantly, then add 2 beaten egg yolks and cook slowly until very thick. Cool and add 1 teaspoon each of lemon and orange flavoring.

* * *

LEFT-OVER MASHED POTATOES. Left-over mashed potatoes may be moistened with milk, shaped into little cakes, placed on a buttered pan of cookie sheet, brushed over with cream, then heated through and browned on the broiler rack. The cakes may be turned if the under side is liked brown.

HALVING PECANS. Here's a simple way of halving pecans. Drop the pecans in boiling water for about 5 minutes before cracking them. Then the kernals will come out in halves without the inner wall tissue.

* * *

PEACH AND RAISIN PIE. Wash 2 cups dried peaches and stew them. Chop the peaches, add 1 cup seeded raisins, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, and ½ cup sugar. Bring the mixture to the boiling point. Mix 2 teaspoons cornstarch with ½ cup of the cold peach liquid. Add to the peaches and cook until the mixture is creamy. Pour while hot into a pie pan lined with pastry. Cover

KROGER-EAGLE STORES

We have built our business by selling standard merchandise at a savings to the consumer. We simplify the method of getting standard merchandise from the producer to the consumer by handling it in one organization, thereby cutting unnecessary cost, waste and effort, and expense wherever possible.

No business as large as ours could survive except under fundamental economic methods, and on fair and square dealings with the public.

This business was founded on principles as sound as the Constitution which governs our Country and we pledge the continuance of these principles.

Briefly, we are supplying the consuming public with the highest quality of standard foods obtainable and for these foods we are asking the minimum price for which they can be sold.

WE firmly believe that this is what the public expects of any institution.

ALL-BRAN RELIEVES COMMON AILMENT

Millions Already Know Its Effectiveness

One of the most common ailments in the world is constipation. It is also one of the most dangerous diseases known to mankind. It is the source of many complaints which sap life of its pleasure.

Many people have constipation in a milder form and do not know it. Perhaps they are suffering with headaches, backaches, indigestion, bad breath, and general physical depression. These are often symptoms.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed to relieve by its regular use, or money will be refunded.

The most frequent cause of constipation is lack of "bulk" in the food. Modern, soft foods seldom contain enough.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains "bulk." It is the original ALL-BRAN, introduced by Kellogg for relieving millions of people from the misery of constipation and slavery to habit-forming pills and drugs. It also adds iron to the blood.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is delicious with milk or cream. Over cereals and fruits. In soups. In cooked foods. Your grocer has ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

U. S. WAR HERO DIES IN CRASH

CHICAGO, Feb. 28. (AP.)—William V. Kelley, Jr., 33, son of the chairman of the board of the Miehle Press and Manufacturing Company and head of the Beverly Hills (Cal.) branch of that company, was fatally injured in an automobile crash at Sydney, Australia, last night, his father said today. The father was advised of the accident by cable.

Kelley, Jr., served in the ambulance corps during the World War and because of his extreme bravery under fire gained the soubriquet "Wild Bill" and a Croix de Guerre. The French medal was pinned to his chest by Marshal Foch at Soissons. He later served in the tank corps.

Previous to his enlistment in the army, Kelley attended the Hotchkiss School at Lakeville, Conn., and achieved high honors. After the Armistice he returned to Chicago. Surviving are his widow and two children.

WHISKY STAMP SUSPECT FREED

Michael Sampo, aged 41, of Thirtieth street, was paroled today for two years by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, on a charge of possessing 50 counterfeit whisky stamps, to which he pleaded guilty May 27, 1927.

It developed that after the Federal charge was made against Sampo, he was tried in the County Court on charges similar to those involved in the Federal proceedings, and was acquitted. Some witnesses who had appeared in the case tried in the lower court afterwards were indicted.

of until it forms a soft ball when tested in cold water.

Pour this mixture over 2 quarts of popped corn from which all hard kernels have been discarded. Stir until every kernel is coated with sugar.

If you would like it red or pink, add a wee bit of color paste to the syrup before you pour it over the corn.

If you want some molasses pop corn that's easy, too—Pick over the popped corn, discard all the kernels that did not pop nicely and measure 3 quarts into a measuring kettle.

In a saucepan, melt a tablespoon of butter, add a cup of molasses and a half cup of granulated sugar. Bring to the boiling point, cooking until a little of it tested in cold water becomes brittle (270 degrees, if you use a candy thermometer).

In the meantime sprinkle the corn with a teaspoon of salt. Pour the cooked syrup gradually over the corn, stirring so that all kernels are coated. Shape in balls, using as little pressure as possible. When molded, wrap in waxed papers.

APRICOT BREAD PUDDING.—Scald 2 cups of milk, when cooled add 1 cup stale bread crumbs, beat 3 egg yolks until thick and lemon colored, add 1 cup sugar then 1 tablespoon butter (melted) and ½ teaspoon salt, a few gratings of nutmeg. Mix with the milk and crumbs. Then pour into a buttered baking pan and bake 1½ to 2 hours in a 275-degree oven, until the pudding is set. Spread canned apricots or apricot jam over the top. Then cover with a meringue made from the whites of the stiffly beaten eggs and 3 level tablespoons of confectioner's sugar. Return to the oven and bake until the meringue is firm and a delicate brown in color, about 30 minutes at 275 degrees.

VANILLA SOUFFLE.—Make a sauce of 1 cup scalded milk, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons fat and 1-3 cup sugar. Add the beaten yolks of 3 eggs. Lastly fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the 3 eggs and pour into a greased baking dish. Set the dish in another pan of hot water and place in the oven until the egg white is set.

* * *

PEARS AU PORT.—Put 2 cups water, 1 cup sugar, rind of ½ lemon, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1-inch stick cinnamon and a few whole cloves into a pan. Bring to the boiling point, add a little red vegetable coloring. Have the pears peeled and cored, and poach in this syrup until done, not having syrup cooking too hard, for the pears should be cooked through, but not broken. When pears are done, remove from the pan, strain juice, adding a sweet port flavoring, again pour the syrup over the pears and set aside to chill. Serve garnished with whipped cream.

HAYS TERMINAL PLAN FAVORED

River and industrial representatives today indorsed the Monongahela River terminal proposed by the city at a public hearing before Col. Jarvis J. Bain, United States engineer, for this district, in the Federal Building.

Increased river tonnage and additional revenue for the city were cited as being possible under the plan. There were no opposing witnesses. Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang, Assistant City Solicitor C. P. Lang, Chief Engineer C. M. Reppert, Assistant Designing Engineer R. M. Reigel, E. K. Morris and George M. Lehman represented the city.

Transportation and other representatives who spoke in favor of the site at Hays on the left side of the river included James F. Hillman, Hillman Coal and Coke Company; J. N. Tilley, Pittsburgh Coal Exchange; William S. Linderman, Chamber of Commerce; A. L. Ackard, United States Steel Corporation; C. C. Bunton, Pittsburgh Coal Company; W. M. Jacoby, Inland Transportation Corporation; W. B. Rodgers, McCready-Rodgers Company; John L. Taylor, American Bridge Company, and John L. Howler, Hillman Transportation Company.

Judge Refuses Speeder's Wife As Security

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 28. (INS.)—"Wives are not negotiable." Magistrate William Black decreed during the hearing of a Pennsylvania motorist here, charged with violating speed laws.

The magistrate's unusual edict came about when Felix Lauffer, of Ardmore, Pa., was arraigned on charges of driving more than 50 miles an hour. He fined Lauffer $10 and costs. The motorist told him that he did not have the money, but offered his wife as security until he could return with the cash.

Magistrate Black refused to hold the wife but she came to her husband's rescue and left her diamond engagement ring as security.

The magistrate was still holding the ring today.

Druggist Routs 3 In Holdup Attempt

Police today were seeking three masked men whose attempt to rob the Keagy Drug Store, 2823 Perrysville avenue, was frustrated when E. W. Keagy, the proprietor, grappled with one of the men.

Mrs. Margaret Keagy, his wife, screamed for help when one of the men struck her husband with the butt end of his gun, and the men ran.

3 BOYS ADMIT ROBBERIES

Three Negro boys admitted in East End Police Court today that they had stolen nine autos for joy-riding, and abandoned the cars, and executed petty robs to proprietors of three poolrooms.

The proprietors were arrested and fined $25 each today. They were Jacob Oberman, 6323 Station street; Nick Karnig, 6367 Frankstown avenue, and Jack Gochigian, 6427 Frankstown avenue.

The boys were turned over to Morals Court.

Housewife Quizzed On Marriage Swindle

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—(INS.)—Because she sent letters to lonesome men in various cities, offering to marry them if they would send her transportation, Mrs. Billie Nelson, housewife, was questioned at her Lake Forest home by postal inspectors.

The federal agents said Mrs. Nelson admitted she had sent her picture through the mail with an announcement she was a widow and willing to marry some lonesome man. She realized several hundred dollars from her scheme, postal inspectors said.

PARLEY WIVES VISIT QUEEN

LONDON, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Seventeen wives of American naval delegates and advisers were thrilled yesterday when they received at Buckingham Palace Queen Mary.

But the magnificent Throne room and the presence of the Queen were almost overshadowed for the Americans by the fact that the palace was delightfully and comfortably warm. After five weeks in London without steam heat and suffering from the chill weather, the American women went in the pink of preparedness. They found fires blazing in all the rooms and sunshine streaming through the windows against the light furnishings.

40 WOMEN IN PARTY

Forty women in all, from the five naval delegations were received by the Queen. Included was Mme. Aime de Fleuriau, wife of the French ambassador in London, who is the only French delegate left.

They were ushered first into the green room, where gentlemen of the court gave instructions on the form of presentation. Unlike the usual courts the women were told to leave both gloves off.

The American delegation was first ushered into the Queen's presence and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson was presented by the lord chamberlain. Mrs. Stimson then presented each woman accompanying her, beginning with Mrs. Charles G. Dawes. Each curtsied and took the hand of Her Majesty waiting for the Queen to speak.

The Queen, gowned in rich blue brocade, greeted each cordially. She chatted at length with Mrs. Arthur Page about her father-in-law, Walter Hines Page, formerly ambassador to the court of St. James.

ISHBEL LEADS BRITISH

After the Americans came the British, headed by Ishbel MacDonald. The women of other delegations and the whole party adjourned to the white room, where the Queen chatted for half an hour with the wives of the chief delegates.

The women were interested by the Queen's departure through a concealed mirrored door to which was attached a console table that swung silently open for Her Majesty to pass through. The guests then were served tea.

Mrs. Stimson wore a golden brown velvet costume and Mrs. Dawes wore royal blue velvet. Velvet appeared a favorite material and most of the women wore large fur neckpieces.

Only the women whose husbands already had been presented to King George were invited to be received by the Queen. After the ceremony all declared that they had been greatly impressed by the simple dignity of the ceremony and the kindly graciousness of Her Majesty.

100 AUTOS BURN IN N. Y. BLAZE

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Fire last night swept a large garage in the United States Trucking Company on West Eighteenth street, destroying about 100 automobile trucks and causing damage estimated by officials of the company at more than $300,000.

Two employes of the garage who attempted to fight the blaze with hand extinguishers when it was first discovered were burned on the hands and arms. Firemen, summoned by three alarms, got the fire under control after it had swept the second floor of the building. Many of the trucks on the second floor were loaded with merchandise.

Gasoline Found In Pit Under Store

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 28.—Discovery of 25 gallons of gasoline in a pit in the basement of a downtown store caused the fire department and State Department of Labor to start an investigation to prevent a repetition of the blast in July, 1928, which cost five lives. Gasoline was found in samples of water taken from the pit.

County Must Pay $317 for False Arrest

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 28.—[illegible] verdict of $317.50 be rendered here on a charge that [illegible] Pleas Judge [illegible] by the grand jury in Common Pleas Court here has decided.

After hearing the case of [illegible] Bell Furnace, of Scottdale, Township, awarded the plaintiff Mrs. Clara [illegible] which the former charged the latter with having [illegible] falsely arrested on a larceny charge, the jury returned a verdict for damages in favor of Bandinelli.

Death Car Driver Held By Coroner

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 28.—Max Herskovitz, of Ligonier, driver of an automobile which fatally injured Miss Iola Snyder, 20, of Ligonier Township, while she was walking with her sister on the Lincoln highway on February 20, was ordered held following the coroner's inquest.

APPEAL DENIED ASA KEYES

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Asa Keyes, former district attorney of Los Angeles County, and E. H. Rosenberg, yesterday lost their appeal to the State Supreme Court for a new trial or the ninety chances which they settled in their conviction in the Los Angeles Superior Court.

The District Court of Appeals at Los Angeles last month upheld the conviction and sentence of Keyes and Rosenberg, former Julian Petroleum Corporation officials, and denied Keyes a rehearing. Rosenberg had also petitioned for a rehearing but gave up the fight and started to serve his sentence in San Quentin prison. Keyes is in the Los Angeles County jail.

Keyes and Rosenberg were sentenced to serve from one to 14 years in San Quentin prison following their conviction of bribery conspiracy in connection with the stock over issue collapse of the Julian corporation and the subsequent allegedly lax prosecution of the principals involved.

Belgian Party Wins Fight to Bar French

BRUSSELS, Feb. 28.—(AP)—The Flemish extremists in the Belgian Parliament won a victory when the chamber decided to transform the University of Ghent into an exclusively Flemish institution, eliminating the French language entirely. The vote was 154 to 10.

The Jaspar cabinet was overthrown on this issue last fall, the Liberal and Socialist members of the chamber opposing the change. The Linguistic problem in Belgium threatened to bring about a serious situation between the Flemish provinces and the Walloon, or French provinces.

WHEY OF MILK RICKETS CURE

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 28.—(INS)—A dry powder made from the Whey of Milk may be of great benefit in the treatment of rickets and possibly of tuberculosis, according to results of experiments announced by Dean Ernest Little at the research laboratories of Rutgers University College of Pharmacy located here.

After two years of study, Dr. Lloyd K. Riggs, director of research, has found that the addition of a few milligrams of Whey powder to the diet of rats suffering from rickets results in a cure in from seven to ten days. This discovery is believed to have a great economic as well as scientific significance, inasmuch as tremendous amounts of the Whey of Milk are poured into the sewers as useless every day.

Accident to Finger Brings Death To Miner

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Feb. 28.—Joseph Mandarino, aged 54, of Rossiter, died of heart failure in the Adrian Hospital Wednesday evening, following a slight mine accident in which he got a finger caught in a machine and crushed.

The man was rushed to the Adrian Hospital where he succumbed while the finger was being dressed, of heart trouble. The shock of the accident seemed to have been too much for his weakened heart.

He leaves a family in Italy.

Woman Injured By Skidding Auto

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 28.—Mrs. Edith Dayton, 50, of Thompson No. 1, was injured when struck by an automobile driven by John Fresarges, Ralph, after his car skidded and went out of control in front of the Dayton home, police reported.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

LAVARRE FREE UNDER BOND

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(AP.)—William J. Lavarre's hearing on a Federal warrant, charging contempt of court in Georgia, was continued until March 13, and the Columbia, S. C., newspaper publisher was freed under $7,500 bail by U. S. Commissioner Francis A. O'Neill.

The delay in Lavarre's arraignment on the warrant, issued by the Federal court at Macon, Ga., was at the request of his attorney, C. B. Ruskay, who asked for further time to familiarize himself with the case.

Ruskay's plea that Lavarre be freed in his custody pending the hearing was denied by Commissioner O'Neill, who also refused to set a higher bail at the request of Elmer Gary, assistant U. S. attorney. Ruskay contended that a contempt of court charge, almost identical in form to that contained in the Georgia warrant, is pending against Lavarre in the South Carolina Federal courts and that his client is under $7,500 bail there pending an appeal. The warrant here, Ruskay charged, was filed at the instigation of Lavarre's enemies in a civil suit over his newspapers' interests in the South.

"This is a rank persecution of Mr. Lavarre who came to New York on a business trip," Ruskay said. "The action was cowardly in that the warrant was not served upon Mr. Lavarre until 5 o'clock in the evening, after every court was closed and every Federal official had gone to his home. He was taken from his hotel room like a criminal and forced to spend the night in jail."

The Georgia warrant cites two specific instances in which Lavarre is alleged to have violated a court order issued in the litigation between him and his former partner, Harold Hall, over control of their four newspapers which they purchased with funds supplied by the International Paper Company.

BANKER TAKES DEBT POST

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(AP.)—The Federal Reserve Board announced late yesterday that Gates M. McGarrah, chairman of the New York Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Reserve agent, had resigned to accept directorship of the Bank of International Settlements and would be succeeded by J. H. Case, deputy governor of the New York bank.

The board announced that Case had been appointed a Class C director and designated chairman of the bank and federal reserve agent in New York.

Case, a native of Elizabeth, N. J., was vice president of the Farmers Loan and Trust Company when he was appointed deputy governor of the New York Federal Reserve Bank on October 8, 1917.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(AP.)—Gates W. McGarrah, who resigned as chairman of the New York Federal Reserve Bank to become associated with the Bank of International Settlements, presumably as chairman, said that he would sail tomorrow for Europe to participate in formal organization of the bank.

Regarding the relations of the new bank with the Federal Reserve system, he said:

"They will be about as close as the relations of the Bank of England and the Bank of France with the system, but no closer."

Slain Woman's Husband Arrested

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 28.—Clarence R. Jacobs, 33, husband of Martha Jacobs, Negro, who was slain several months ago, is held here for forgery, it being charged that he operated in McDonald, Midway, Burgettstown, Avella and Washington.

William McCoy was convicted of having killed Jacobs' wife and sentenced to life in prison.

Worried Over Debt Man Kills Himself

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Feb. 28.—Harvey Kissick, 38, former resident of Springdale, Pa., hanged himself from a beam in his barn. Worry over farm indebtedness is believed to have been the cause. Coroner P. J. Caldwell found that his death was due to suicide.

Increase Tax Levy To Improve Roads

MERCER, Pa., Feb. 28.—Judge J. A. McLaughry has made an order permitting the supervisors of Delaware Township to increase the township tax levy to 15 mills. The increased revenue will be used for highway improvements.

Mayor Sets Trap, Nabs Bootlegger And Priest

STEUBENVILLE, O., Feb. 28.—Mayor George Turvey, of Amsterdam, O., west of here, set a trap for rum runners operating between lake ports and Steubenville and today bagged two cargoes.

The first was an automobile filled with eighty gallons of liquor. Harry Lucian, 33, Steubenville, pleaded guilty to transporting and in default of a fine of five hundred dollars, went to the county jail.

In the second car a Catholic priest of Tiltonville, O., had five cases of sacramental wine he was taking from Cleveland to his parish under permit. The priest was not detained but Mayor Turvey held his wine until the Prohibition Department tells him that the clergyman had a legal right to transport it.

PHILA. SOCIETY MAN FREED

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28.—(AP.)—A verdict of acquittal in the case of Maj. W. Griffin Gribbel, socially prominent man, charged with the murder of John Blackburn, a police inspector, was returned last night in Quarter Sessions Court. The jury reached its decision after deliberating six hours and 35 minutes.

After the verdict of acquittal, indictments charging Gribbel with voluntary and involuntary manslaughter were quashed on motion of the district attorney.

Blackburn was shot January 17, 1929, when he led a detail of police to a room where Gribbel, a member of a prominent Philadelphia family, had barricaded himself. Another policeman and Gribbel were wounded in the battle to dislodge the major.

Hans Andersen's Fairy Tales Hold Their Charm for Fay King

By FAY KING

NEARLY every child has read Hans Christian Andersen's beautiful fairy tales. Who of us does not remember "The Little Match Girl," and "The Ugly Duckling?"

Grown ups should read them again.

The kindly, beloved Danish author said again and again in his autobiography that life itself is "the most beautiful fairy tale of all."

And for him it was. Poor, homely, ragged youth that he was, his noble statue now stands in the garden of the King.

Andersen never married. He was in love many times, but the ladies he loved chose to marry handsome men. He found solace in visits to friends and other countries where he was welcomed and honored.

He wrote other books, but his fairy tales have made him immortal.

LOVEJOY

By BEATRICE BURTON

Baby Is Ill and Lovejoy Leaves for Home

CHAPTER XLV.

AFTERWARD it always seemed to Lovejoy that she knew what was in that telegram before she read it.

"Aunt Em's probably wiring to let me know that the baby is all right, because I couldn't reach her by telephone last night," she said to Steve as she tore open the yellow envelope.

But her lips were dry and stiff as she spoke, and there was a lump of fear and terror in her throat. She unfolded the telegram and read it.

"Tommy very sick of cholera infantum. Norrie says to come home at once. Aunt Em."

Tommy very sick—

The hall with its ivory-white walls, its bowls of pink and yellow roses, its empty fireplace, seemed to whirl dizzily around her head. The floor felt as if it were slipping away from under her feet—

Everything went black before her eyes.

The next thing she knew she was lying on the bed in the big double bedroom at the west end of the house. She knew that she was there before she opened her eyes. She could hear the distant boom of the ocean and she could smell the flowers just outside her windows.

Then she opened her eyes and found Steve's eyes fixed on her. . . . What had just happened came back to her.

In a moment she was alert. She sat up on the bed, her eyes sweeping the room in search of the telegram.

"What time did that thing come, Steve?" she asked. "Sheila said it came some time this morning, didn't she?—Oh if I'd only been here then!"

She gave a cry, like a child's whimper as Steve leaned forward and took her in his arms.

"Now, you mustn't cry, Lovejoy," he said, smoothing her hair back from her face with tender hands. "This is the time to keep a stiff upper lip. Sheila says there is a train from Los Angeles early tomorrow morning—and she's trying to get your aunt on the telephone right now. I'm sure everything must be all right by this time or she would have wired again."

Lovejoy Frantic

Lovejoy shook her head. "She probably thinks I'm on the train this minute," she said, her voice breaking on a dry sob.

She closed her eyes. "Steve, I had a feeling before I left my baby that something like this would happen. I knew that I shouldn't have left him—"

Suddenly she tore herself out of his arms and threw herself across the bed in an agony of tears. "What are all the divorces in the world to me if I lose my baby?" she cried, her face buried in the soft pillows. "I'll never be happy again if anything happens to my baby—oh, if you had any sense you'd know that!"

She pushed him violently away from her when he bent over her.

"Just go and tell the long-distance operator to get Aunt Em on the telephone—if you want to do something to help me!" she wailed. "And see if there isn't a train I can get tonight!—I can't stay here, doing nothing, while my baby's dying—"

She was beside herself, almost. She lay sobbing, across the bed while Steve and Sheila talked to Aunt Em on the telephone.

It was Sheila who came back to her with the news.

"We just talked to your aunt, Lovejoy," she said quietly, sitting down upon the edge of the tumbled bed.

Lovejoy looked up at her with swollen, red-rimmed eyes.

"There's no doubt that the baby is awfully sick." She put her arm in its thin chiffon sleeve, around Lovejoy's shaking shoulders, stroking them. "But babies are wiry little things. They can be very, very sick—and a few hours later they can be perfectly well."

Prepares to Leave

"Is that so?" Lovejoy was like a drowning woman clutching at a straw. She did not stop to realize that the childless Sheila probably knew less about babies that she herself knew about them. "Are you sure that's so, Sheila?"

Steve opened the door and came into the light from the little salmon-pink lamp beside the bed.

"The first train you can get leaves Los Angeles at eight in the morning," he said. "Suppose you pack your things, Lovejoy, and I'll drive you down there. The ride will do you good and you can go to a hotel for what's left of the night by the time we get there."

"That's an inspiration, Steve!" Sheila agreed eagerly. "If the poor infant stays here, doing nothing, she'll lose her mind. You help her pack up her things and I'll make some coffee and put a thermos jug of it in the car."

It did not take Lovejoy long to pack up her belongings. Most of her clothes were at the Hill ranch in Nevada where she was supposed to be while she established her legal residence there.

By half past ten she was ready to start.

Sheila had put pillows and a blanket into the back seat of the car, and slipped a thermos bottle of coffee into each of the side pockets.

"You may want to sleep on your way down to Los Angeles," she said. "You've been up since the crack of dawn."

But Lovejoy had never been farther from sleep in her life.

Her head was as clear as a bell. Twice as clear as it had been during the last days back home when she had been trying to make up her mind what to do about the baby. She could see now what she ought to have done about him.

Calls Self Bad Mother

"I thought that he'd be better off at home with Aunt Em," she said thoughtfully as the car slipped down the slope of the hills and into the streets of Santa Barbara. "I hated the thought of having him with me in hotels where his crying might have disturbed people. It's so hard to fix bottles of milk and orange juice for a baby, too, unless you're at home in your own kitchen—"

"Hush! You did the right thing when you left him with your Aunt Em," Steve interrupted her gently. "If you'd tried to bring him out here with you your husband would have kicked up no end of a fuss. Besides that, the trip would have been hard on the baby. It was much better to do just what you did."

But Lovejoy shook her head firmly.

"If Tommy had been with me he wouldn't have had birthday cake to eat! You remember the night at the ranch when we talked to Aunt Em and she told me she had given him 'just a tiny bit' of cake? You remember how it worried me, Steve? —And now I'm sure that it was the beginning of this sickness of his—" She broke down again, her face against the sleeve of his coat dampening it with her tears.

"Please don't cry, dearest," she heard him say. "Everything's going to be all right. You go home and get him, Lovejoy, and bring him out here. While you're gone I'll rent some kind of a house for you in Minden and get a nurse who can take care of him for you—"

"No, no, no!" sobbed Lovejoy. "If he gets well I never let anybody ever touch him again! I never should have let anybody take care of him!—But I was a bad mother—"

Crying, she fell asleep at last with her head pillowed on Steve's shoulder and his arm around her holding her close.

Promises to Return

She slept until three o'clock when they drove into Los Angeles and came to a stop before the Biltmore Hotel in Pershing Square.

A sleepy doorman came to lift her bags out of the car.

"Don't let him take them out, Steve!" she said quickly. "I can't sleep—and I can't bear the thought of shutting myself up in a hotel room for four or five hours. What are you going to do?"

"Well, I was going down to the station to get a drawing room for you," Steve answered, "and then I was going to find a hotel for myself. But I'm not tired, Lovejoy. You'd rather stay in the car wouldn't you?"

She nodded and they drove away, leaving the doorman to stare after them with a puzzled look in his sleepy eyes.

Down through Chinatown they went to the railroad station. They got Lovejoy's tickets and checked her bags there.

Then they got into the car once more and went back through Los Angeles and Hollywood and Beverly Hills to the ocean.

"We'll drive up the Malibu road as far as we can," said Steve, "and see the sun rise."

The wide road that curves along the shore under the cliffs was deserted at this hour. They drove to the very end of it and stopped there to drink their coffee and see the sun come up over the Malibu mountains.

Steve's face was white and haggard that morning when he said good-bye to her in the stuffy drawing room on the train.

"Lovejoy," he said, holding her hands so tight that the new ring with its enormous stone cut into her flesh, "promise me that you'll come back to me!"

"Of course, I'll come back to you." There was no other thought in her mind. "No matter what happens, I'll come back. You know that, Steve."

She put her arms around his neck and kissed him good-bye.

Love's Reawakening

Continuation of Love's Awakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge and Lillian Agree on Plan to Bolster Noel's Income

LILLIAN always admits somewhat shamefacedly that her mind works best when as she says, "some Legree is cracking his whip over my shrinking back." We, who love and admire her, have often had occasion to notice this idiosyncrasy of hers, but I never have seen it function more admirably than when in order to ward off my praise of her unselfishness, she announced that she had a plan to aid Noel.

With a wisdom born of long experience of her moods, I made no query concerning her plan. I knew that she had not as yet perfected it herself, but it was less than a minute before she turned to me with a wry grin.

"I cannot tell a lie, Missis Graham," she said. "I just thought of this since I told you I had it. But, of course, you know that already. Now listen and tell me what you think of this."

She put her hands behind her head and looked at the ceiling, a favorite position of hers when she is outlining a plan.

"We can't do anything more in the secretary line," she said slowly.

"Hardly," I returned as she paused, "considering that Harry is already paying him liberally for the work he does."

"Not more than Noel deserves," she answered. "Remember, he attends to all the routine work for both Harry and me, and he is most efficient. Indeed I do not see where such meticulous attention to detail as he gives could be housed in the same brain that produces those exquisite Boris Raminoff bits of melody."

"The two are not always incompatible," I said, and Lillian shot a laughing glance at me.

"Why don't you say what you think," she mocked, "that just because I have no room for detail in my disorderly mind is no reason other people should be deprived of it."

"I meant no such thing," I said indignantly.

"All right, all right, you didn't," she soothed. "We've agreed we can't pay him anything more for secretarial work without arousing his suspicions. But do you see anything the matter with my discovering that some of my clients would like to have my jingles set to music, or for Harry's finding a market for a vaudeville sketch if he can interpolate a lot of incidental music, or with—"

"I see," I interposed breathlessly. "It's a wonderful idea, but I'm going to consent to it only on one condition—that you let Dicky and me finance the thing. It's not fair that—"

"You're racing your engine," she told me with an impudent grin. "Haven't you learned yet that I always fall on my feet? That idea of mine is much better than I planned. I was trying to find something that we could pretend to offer Noel and then stall along afterward until we could get hold of his father. But if I can't make some of those bally advertisers sit up on their hind legs with their paws in the air barking for some of my jingles set to music then I've been running on the rim for the last 50 miles."

"Really?" I asked, almost too excited to get the banal query out.

"Really and truly," she returned. "Now the next question is whether the young man is too soulful and artistic to prostitute his musical genius to writing scores for my jingles and drawings. They're pretty low-brow stuff, you know, some of 'em."

I put down my embroidery abruptly, though, indeed, I had not taken a stitch for several minutes, and, going over to her, I took her by the shoulders and shook her soundly.

"I told you long ago," I said sternly, "what you would get from me if you persisted in running down your own work the way you do. The next time it won't be a shaking, but an old-fashioned slippering. To think that you, with your cleverness—"

"Spare me the rest of it," she pleaded, wriggling out of my clasp. "I'll admit that I am the most brilliant woman in the literary and artistic world. I'll go farther and say that I am the most half dozen women. Does that satisfy you?"

"Partly," I said laughing. "But I'll tell you now that if Noel even looks an objection to the scheme I shan't let Mary marry him. But he won't. You may be sure he'll be most grateful for the chance to do the work."

"But," she said gravely, "you must remember one thing. He cannot do anything as trivial as that under the name of Boris Raminoff. Don't say anything yet," as I opened by lips in protest. "That's only common sense. He has made that name known in the ethereal heights, where our most highly-sensitive musicians float, and he mustn't do anything under it which would jar their padded spines."

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

A Problem of the Physician's Wife.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you be so kind as to settle a question that affords me much brow-wrinkling exercise?

I am about to be married to a young physician who is just getting established and consequently guards his professional dignity with particular zeal. Naturally I am anxious to commit no "faux paus." When speaking of my husband to other than strangers or servants, is it not correct to refer to him as "John," or should I call him "Dr. Blank," or even (as I have heard physicians' wives call their husbands) "the doctor" to all impartially?

JULIA.

I CAN'T tell you how happy I am that you were so kind as to let me talk this question over with you! Of all unattractive appellations I think that "the doctor" is about the dullest. And I beg you not to use it. When you are speaking to servants or to tradesmen, you will, of course, refer to your husband as "Doctor Bryan." When you are speaking to close friends or even to more-or-less-close friends, you will say "John." To in-between people you would refer to him as "my husband." But promise me that you will never descend to referring to him as "the doctor."

And may I add that I hope that you will thus succeed in suggesting to your husband's patients that he be referred to by his surname; that is, that they do not refer to him as "Doctor," but as "Doctor Bryan."

An Enthusiastic "Thank You!"

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it correct to thank a young man every time he takes you out? My mother says to just say "I had a wonderful time" and not to add "Thank you." Is she correct?

JUST for good measure, I see no reason why you should not say both—a mannerly and gracious and appreciative "Thank you," and an enthusiastic and friendly "I had a wonderful time." Both, I am sure, will make your companion and host happy and convinced. And after all why shouldn't you say both? There isn't any reason to be skimpy!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, March 1

THE astral indications for this day accent a generally progressive and pleasant state of affairs. A day of enterprise and adventure, with gratifying returns for hard work and faithful application to affairs in hand which should be pushed to high goals. Personal affiliations should flourish and bring much happiness.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a prosperous, progressive and personally pleasant year, with initiative and industry evoking high rewards. All matters should be aggressively pushed to this goal.

A child born on this day should have an all-round equipment for success, happiness and prosperity in its career.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Mrs. Solomon's Sayings.

VERILY, a woman may be as the weather which changeth with the moon and the seasons. But a man is a paradox, yesterday and forever!

Behold, he saith: "Feed me with apples and stay me with flagons! For I am FED UP with women! And no woman can get me going!"

* * *

Yet upon the morrow he meeteth another Blonde Moron; and his pulse leapeth and his heart skippeth, and he shareth the flagons WITH her.

He saith, "Not another drop shall pass my lips! For this stuff is rotten—yea, it is all poisonous, and only a fool would swallow it!"

* * *

Yet within the hour, he meeteth a friend with a pocket-flask and a "pre-war" argument. And lo, he hath signed up for another case.

He voweth, "I admire a discreet woman, and only a reserved and well-bred damsel attracteth me."

* * *

Yet doth he seek his ideal in the midnight cafe. And a work of art with gilded hair and a loud laugh getteth 10 dancing partners, while the modest violet sitteth against the wall and pretendeth to rejoice.

He saith, "I like a frank and honest woman, and vampishness revolteth me." Yet he falleth for a subtle worker with a cryptic smile and a veiled glance and a sensuous sachet. And she that speaketh the frank and honest truth, cutteth her throat with her own tongue!"

* * *

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Danger in Neglecting Health of Young Folks

BEFORE the baby is born, all its nourishment comes from the mother. The blood from her heart, purified in her lungs, supplies the needs of the child.

DR. COPELAND

Not until the baby is born and "on its own," does the infant make use of its own lungs.

An anxious time is that half minute after a baby's birth! The attendants are on tiptoe, waiting for that expected cry from the infant. It is a moment like David of old experienced when he demanded news of his son. "Is the young man Absalom safe?" When the welcome cry is heard, everybody feels that the baby is safe.

Independent life for the infant begins when the air cells open the first time. Sometimes the newly born suffer from their failure to dilate. This is true of weak, puny, undernourished infants. They have not enough vitality to draw in the air necessary to open the lungs.

Older children may suffer from a serious ailment known as collapse of the lungs. Anything that intereferes with the free passage of air into the finer tubes and air cells of the lungs, may result in collapse of that portion of the lung.

Many times I have told you of the dangers faced by a child who has a cold, with bronchial involvement. This is particularly true of the feeble, weak youngster. But any child might have one of the small branches of the bronchial tubes plugged by a pellet of mucus. Such a plug might act as a valve, permitting air to pass and none to enter that part of the lung.

Or a plug of mucus could effectively close the tube. Then it is only a question of time when the air behind it is absorbed. Very soon the lung will collapse.

There are cases in older persons where paralysis of the muscular equipment of the lung occurs. Collapse of part or all of the lung follows.

In measles, whooping cough, influenza, in any condition producing broncho-pneumonia, this unpleasant complication may appear. Wounds of the chest wall, with perforation, may cause the same trouble.

My purpose in speaking of lung collapse is more to warn against it than anything else. There is little to do for it if it actually takes place. But plenty can be done to prevent it.

An infant and young child should be guarded against colds. Their care should be such that resistance to infection is high as possible. Fresh air, sunlight, cleanliness, nourishing food, regular habits—in these are found the surest means of guarding against cold and, for that matter, against all other diseases.

It was all right for Topsy to "just grow." But we want our babies brought up in the best possible manner. Today is the time to begin.

Answers to Health Queries

Mrs. M. Q.—What foods will increase the amount of calcium in the system?

A—Milk, butter, eggs, fish, fruits and vegetables.

S. I. Q.—What causes terrible itching and burning sensation on the body and legs?

A—You are probably troubled with pruritis due to many causes.

W. P. Q.—What causes the face to be flushed and burning upon arising in the morning?

A—This may be due to poor circulation.

E. B. Q.—Would it be advisable for a man of 70 to take aspirin for headache or a weak feeling? I have been advised to take it but not by a doctor.

A—Do not attempt treatment of any kind unless it has been specifically prescribed for you by a doctor. The practice of taking drugs or medicines indiscriminately is most unwise.

Household Hints

To prevent cheese from becoming moldy wrap it around with a piece of thin muslin wrung out in vinegar. As the cloth dries, moisten it again.

All old furniture should be overhauled frequently for woodworm. Should there be any crevices or small holes which show signs of this pest, saturate the wood with paraffin.

Select short, firm, canned asparagus tips. Arrange three or four of these upright on a lettuce leaf and bind with a ring of green or red pepper to represent a sheaf of wheat or corn. Place mayonnaise on the lettuce, not on the sheaf.

Put forks and spoons into a basin of hot soapy water with a little soda dissolved in it. Wash carefully, brushing forks between the prongs, and drying thoroughly on a dry cloth. A final rub with a soft polishing duster will bring up the shine.

CHICKIE

again. Didn't you tell me once that when you found bogies in the parlor you closed your eyes and ran? Well—don't run when there are no bogies, Chickie—put it on and wear it and God bless you. Do—" He laughed, his eyes surveying her with a pleased humor.

She felt relieved and glad and triumphant. She put the pin in her waist.

It made no difference between them. It seemed only to heighten the half smiling gallantry of his manner. Often his eyes dwelt on hers with a sudden look of startled eagerness, like Jimmy's. Then an amused glint would pass into them like a shade pulled down.

Wears Pin

One Sunday morning when she and Barry Dunne were going for a walk she wore a tweed suit with a white waist that had a little frilled collar. And impulsively she took out the pin and set it at the neck.

It was morning, a soft wind blowing. They stood at the beach against some tall, weedy grasses, watching a man and a girl running into the waves. Chickie was remembering with a wistful smile that Sunday so long ago when she and Arthur Sontag had come out here and she had been so tremulous and brave with young emotion. She felt like that now—only then it had been as though gentle, distant hands played lightly over the keys of her heart, raising a faint music, poignant in its sweetness. Now the hands were quick and vital, as though they would sweep into tremendous chords.

By a strange coincidence Barry turned to her and, as he often did, pushed a few blown hairs from her forehead. He said, laughingly: "Ah, hasn't she the pretty eyes?" And noticed the pin. "Hey—what's this!"

Barry Questions

Her throat felt dry and tight. "Got it yesterday. Pretty nifty, isn't it? Three seventy-five over the counter of the Novelty Shop."

After a moment he said absently, "You love stunning things, don't you?"

"Who doesn't?"

"But yet you say money doesn't make much difference to you."

"That's never what I said. It would make a heap of difference to me. I only said I wouldn't marry a man just because he was rich and could give me all the things I'd like. I wouldn't marry a man unless I loved him so much that I couldn't be happy a moment without him."

He nodded, winking: "Wouldn't be very hard to love a fellow who could toss you a limousine for breakfast, a country estate for lunch and a diamond necklace for dinner, would it?"

She sighed, but all her pulses grew warm and quickened. She said flippantly: "May I take this as a proposal, Red, you wistful thing?"

"You may not, fair one. This is a mere question—sounding the depths of the crystal spring, as it were."

"Then I can afford to be truthful, I suppose, though poor, proud gals like me find lies much better economy. Well, I'll say that one Helena Bryce could much enjoy country estate, limousines and diamonds. As for marriage, however, I'd just as lief dispense with it for four or five years."

"You would? Why?"

"Marriage is the beginning of the end. No more adventure. No more gaiety. It always seems to me that a girl just goes down into a tunnel to live out her days in darkness."

"Optimistic, aren't you? But if she brings enough love with her, isn't that supposed to light up the dungeon?"

"So they say. But I think the love light only binds her so that she doesn't know she's going into the dungeon—"

Discuss Marriage

He laughed and took the words from her: "Until she strikes her foot against a cold, rough stone and tumbles and the light goes out. Then she knows what she's got into! Humph, lots of ways out of that tunnel today. People enter it as they do a gambling game—to win. If they lose, they quit."

"That's terrible, I think."

"Well, I guess your plan is right. If you've got to go into a dungeon, be sure you bring the wherewithal to make it darn comfortable. If the light goes out, at least there'll be cushions and chairs and grub around, and perhaps diamonds to give a sparkle."

Within her an excitement that she couldn't understand made her answer breathless: "I never said anything of the kind I never once said I wouldn't marry a poor man."

"You did, too! Humph, a girl has a right to expect a few things when she signs up for life. Fellow'd have a nerve to expect her to sacrifice for him."

"They say when you love, you ache to sacrifice—that you even want to suffer."

"Would you, Chickie?"

"I don't know—I'd be afraid to think much about it."

He had hold of her hand and they faced each other, their eyes mingling in a long, startled glance that she felt going down like a silver blade into her heart. With a frightened bewilderment she found herself trembling, staring at his eyes, his mouth—waiting breathless and hoping. She said abruptly, with a little nervous laugh: "Well, take a good look, my dear!"

SCOTT TRUE TO FORM IN FOUL CLAIMS

FIFTY MILLION fight fans couldn't be wrong. Practically everybody who had ever seen a boxing glove or possessed the slightest knowledge of the relative fistic qualities of Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott picked Sharkey to win last night's alleged fight in Miami on superior punching power just about as quickly as he could get to his opponent, and Boston's former sailor bore out the almost unanimous opinion by making the English heavyweight quit in the third round.

Phil Scott

It wasn't a satisfactory finish, by any means, with Scott claiming fouls, being allowed a minute's rest, then consenting to continue and finally quitting after vainly claiming another foul on a clearly fair punch, following scenes of confusion such as never before marred any heavyweight bout. But the unprecedented ending of the fiasco was only in line with the nature of the match itself, and does not alter the fact that Sharkey's superiority and Scott's utter unfitness for titular competition were clearly established.

THERE is no sympathy due the promoters for the financial losses they suffered in the big flop, as they invited the same and did the fight game an injury by making and staging such a ridiculous match. The farcical ending proved what had been generally believed from the start—that the match never should have been made. Scott had absolutely no business in the ring with Sharkey. Evidently he knew this himself, and went in merely for the purpose of putting on his old sinking act and trying to win on a foul.

Referee Magnolia was guilty of contradicting himself in allowing Scott a minute's rest and declaring afterward that he had not seen Sharkey strike a single foul blow. If there was no foul there should have been no rest allowed. But that Magnolia was right in giving Sharkey the fight in the end and ruling that Scott was faking in his foul claims is indicated by the Englishman's previous record. Scott has won no fewer than six bouts on fouls—against Jack Humbeck, George Cooke, Armando de Coralis, Yale Okun, Ted Sandwina and Otto Von Porat. That's enough to warrant the conviction that he went in only to try to pull something of the same sort last night.

Jack Cummings

JACK CUMMINGS, North Side catcher, is back in baseball's big show. Shipped by the Giants to Newark, going from Newark to the Braves, and being released unconditionally later by the Boston management, the Pittsburgher has been signed as a free agent by the Brooklyn club.

Manager Robinson already had three catchers in Val Picinich, Hank DeBerry and Al Lopez, but he says he picked up Cummings on account of his batting ability and will carry him as a pinch-hitter. There is also said to be a possibility that one of the other catchers may be let go in a trade for a left-hand pitcher.

THE owners of the Johnstown Middle-Atlantic League club have made a popular move in engaging Wilbur Good as manager for the 1930 season. Good was one of the smartest and best liked players developed in this part of the country a quarter of a century ago, and since he made his professional start as a pitcher for Johnstown in the Tri-State League in 1905, with Hans Lobert, Slats McConnell, George Atherton and others as mates, a team that was beaten out for the pennant by Williamsport by only a halfgame, he has gained a world of experience that leaves him admirably fitted for his new post in the Flood City.

THOUGH starting as a pitcher, Good was converted into an outfielder and became one of the best in the game. The Yankees gave him a tryout late in 1905 and in the first part of 1906, and following engagements with Montreal and Akron he went up to the majors again as an outfielder for Cleveland in 1908 and 1909.

In 1910 he began with the Athletics, was shifted to Baltimore and wound up the season with the Boston Nationals. On June 10, 1911, Wilbur was traded to the Cubs by the Braves, with George Graham, Cliff Curtis and Bill Collins for Johnny Kling, Al Kaiser, Hank Weaver and Clinton Griffin.

FRED TENNEY, Boston skipper, traded himself out of a job when he made that deal, as in 1912 Kling was appointed to succeed him as manager of the Braves. Good played with the Cubs until 1916, when the Phillies obtained him by the waiver route.

Dr. H. C. Carlson

The season of 1916 was Wilbur's last in the big show, but he has since made a splendid record as a manager in Kansas City, Macon and Atlanta, a record that holds out to Johnstown fans plenty of hope that he will succeed in giving them a winning club.

HOW would you like to see a post-season basketball series between Dr. Carlson's Pitt stars and Chick Davies crack Duquesne University quintet? You'd relish it a heap, no doubt, as would many other floor fans in the district if a suggestion sent in by J. E. Maloney were adopted. He proposes such a series "to decide the city championship and satisfy the wishes of quite a few boosters of each team." It would be a popular attraction, beyond question, but it develops that there isn't a chance. Coach Davies is out of the city, with his Duquesne passers, but when the suggestion was laid before W. Don Harrison, Pitt's director of athletics, said he regretted that such an arrangement could not be made at this time. "Post-season competition is rarely advisable," he said, "because when you put together a schedule you make it include just about all the work the players can do in a season. Besides, the Pitt boys are playing the longest schedule they ever undertook—24 games—and they could not fairly be asked to take on any more work at the end of that long grind."

FROM Charleroi, "A Fellow Townsman of Bill Phillips" sends the following: "I noticed in your write-up of Bill McKechnie a few days ago that you stated McKechnie relieved Bill Phillips at Newark in 1915 and brought that club up in the Federal League race after being made manager. Are you certain they were down in the race at that time? Is being third 'down?' I think that is where they were, though I may be wrong."

For the correspondent's information, when McKechnie succeeded Phillips on June 19, Newark was in sixth place, being trailed by only Baltimore and Buffalo. It had won 26 games and lost 27 for a percentage of .491. While McKechnie was in charge during the remainder of the season, the club won 54 games and lost 45 for a percentage of .547. It finished fifth, only three points below fourth place, with 80 games won and 72 lost for a final percentage of .527, just a half game behind Kansas City, which landed fourth with 81 games won and 72 lost for a percentage of .530.

CONTINUING, the Charleroi reader writes: "Phillips, who pitched for 23 years and was in the game for 27 seasons, taught McKechnie his baseball, also Burt Shotton, of the Phillies, two pretty good managers. He turned out many good minor league clubs that finished one-two-three, and always made money for the owners, which cannot be said of many today.

"Phillips sent as many young players to higher leagues as the best of them, such as Howard Shanks, Everett Scott, Bill Doak, Eddie Roush, Benny Kauff, Red Ainsworth, Earl Mosley and others in ad-

BUCS REFUSE SALARY ASKED BY DICK

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

PASO ROBLES, Feb. 28.—The peaceful quiet of the Pirates training camp was shattered this morning by Shortstop Dick Bartell. Richard, the Lionhearted, informed Vice President Sam Dreyfuss and Manager Jewel Ens that he was a bonafide holdout and "there's no use of my going to camp unless you meet my figure."

The shell was tossed by Sam Dreyfuss, who has been in touch with the little infielder who played stellar ball for the Buccos last summer.

The Pittsburgh bosses did not seem to be worried over the ultimatum delivered by Bartell.

ASKS BIG CONTRACT

"You'd be surprised at the size of the contract Bartell is asking," said Dreyfuss. "He's away off the mark. We suggested that he take a run down to talk over terms, but he has just notified us that nothing could be gained by such a move. He says he will stay out until we meet his demands.

"We offered Dick a fine contract. It's up to him to sign it or leave it," continued Dreyfuss. "Fortunately we have picked up two clever shortstops in Engle and Sankey. We have Clarke also. We hope to have Bartell, but unless he changes his mind, he will not be signed."

GRIMES STILL OUT

Bartell's home is in Alameda, Calif., a suburb of Oakland. He was to have reported here Sunday, the date of the scheduled arrival of the second squad, but it is a foregone conclusion that he will not be here at that time. Perhaps he will have a different mood when the other infielders begin to show their stuff.

So it would appear that the Buccos have two stubborn holdouts. The Pittsburgh directors say they have nothing whatever to give out on the status of Burleigh Grimes, who is feeling a big increase in salary as well as a two-year contract is necessary.

If the worst comes to the worst on Bartell, the Pirates bosses aver they will be able to start the race with a fine ball club. Skipper Ens thinks a lot of Engle and Sankey—either of whom would get a crack at the shortfield job in the event of Bartell staying away. That would leave Clarke available for any of the three positions.

Bartell's stand is a big surprise. The peppery infielder likes baseball so well that he might not be satisfied in any other calling. The concensus of opinion seems to be that he and his employers will be able to reach an agreement while the Pirates are in California.

GOOD DRILL YESTERDAY

Jupiter Pluvius is giving Jewel Ens a lot of anxious moments, but the Pirate boss is faring better since he started to gamble with the mythical rainmaker. Ens will watch the roll of the clouds today before he makes any decision as to practice and even after his athletes reach the field is liable to make a fast change in his plans.

About 30 minutes later, one of the town oracles came into the hotel lobby and, being acquainted with Manager Ens, he struck up a conversation. Ens, by the way, has been riding this citizen about "unusual weather" that has prevailed from the day the Pirates landed.

"Well, old boy, you came through for us today in great shape," said Jewel.

"Yes, by cracky," replied the village wiseman. "You should have a right smart workout this morning, but I don't reckon you can do much this afternoon."

"What do you mean," demanded Ens. "The sun is out and there is nothing to suggest rain for a week."

"Don't be too sure of that," said the oracle. "'Pears to me as though we will have a downpour before evenin'."

LONG DRILL

The sally of the Paso Robles prophet alarmed Ens to the extent that he began to consider other plans. Jewel had his big squad in action on the ball park at 10:30. The sun was so com-

$161,000 Is Net Fight Gate At Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 28.—(AP.)—Official figures announced today placed the paid attendance at the Scott-Sharkey fight show last night at 18,600, the gross receipts at $190,000 and the net "gate" at only $161,000 after deduction of tax.

The loss to the Madison Square Garden Corporation was estimated at $50,000, but may run as high as $75,000.

Sharkey, receiving 25 per cent, drew $40,000 for his share, as compared with $100,000 he received for his victory over Young Stribling here a year ago. Scott, getting 20 per cent, drew $32,000. The guarantees to preliminary boxers totaled $52,000, with $10,000 each going to the semi-finalists, Johnny Risko and Victorio Campolo.

SCOTT'S DEFEAT RAISES 'FAIR OR FOUL' CRY

BULLETIN.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 28.—(AP.)—The Miami Boxing Commission today formally upheld the decision of Referee Lou Magnolia in favor of Jack Sharkey in the latter's bout with Phil Scott here last night.

MIAMI, Feb. 28.—(AP.)—The cry of "fair or foul" was raised again today amidst the chaos of the heavyweight fistic realm, wafted out upon the balmy southern breezes as a result of Jack Sharkey's technical knockout victory over Phil Scott in the third round of the weirdest contest any tropical moon has shone upon.

In a finish that was as balmy as the weather Sharkey was declared the winner by Referee Lou Magnolia last night after the lanky British champion had claimed a foul, taken a complete minute's rest to recuperate as the claim was disallowed, and then refused altogether to continue as he swayed against the ropes from the effects of a terrific left hook to the pit of the stomach.

REAL SPECTACLE

The spectacle of this third round, the climax to a carnival of clout that was a financial as well as a fistic flop, probably has no precedent in the history of American heavyweight boxing — with Sharkey first warned for hitting low, Scott then sinking with an agonized look and cry of foul, police and handlers in the ring as the referee helped drag Scott to his corner for an examination and a minute's rest, Sharkey raging around the ring with tears streaming down his face as of feared disqualification, Scott then limping out to continue the bout with pain written all over his face and, finally, the abrupt ending with Scott erect, but virtually helpless on the ropes, protesting his inability to continue from the effects of body blows or an alleged foul or both.

Sharkey won the decision and as a result the right to battle Max Schmeling, the German champion, for a bout that will be billed for the world championship in June at the Yankee Stadium, New York. The Boston Sailor, however, in the opinion of most critics, fought an unsatisfactory fight, jeopardized his chances of winning from an opponent he obviously outclassed and added nothing to his prestige as the leading American title contender.

GENE MORETTI BOXES SAYLOR

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

A young boxer who made two trips from Atlantic City to McKeesport to break in new territory and met up with stiff battles and small gate receipts each time will begin to collect his reward in the Moose Temple arena, downtown, tonight.

The young man is Gene Moretti, Italian-American product, who is managed by Frank Taylor, also of the resort city, a brother of Herman (Muggsy) Taylor, well-known promoter of open-air shows in Philadelphia.

Gene Moretti

Moretti meets a cagy foe tonight in Young Saylor, of Charleroi, who in his most recent start here bested Tommy Maico only to be deprived of the decision. Gene will enter the ring the favorite to win, as a result of his work in McKeesport. He originally was matched to box Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, but Mickey became ill and K. O. Kelley, unorthodox Negro, of Akron, O., was substituted and was generally credited with outfighting Moretti in a rough battle, although the official decision was a draw. Last week Moretti came back to box Solmen and defeated Mickey in impressive fashion.

VICTOR OVER SOLMEN

Mickey is held in high esteem hereabouts and Moretti's fight against him has established Gene to the extent that he was signed for two fights at the Moose. He will return here March 21 to meet Rudy Ceder, of Tarentum. If he wins both of his Moose fights, bigger things are in store for him at Motor Square Garden and in the summer months at the Meyers Bowl in North Braddock, and he said yesterday he is taking the

TUNNEY SAYS SCOTT QUIT

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 28.—(AP.)—Two big broad-shouldered men looked at the skirmish of the tropics last night with expert eyes. One would not have climbed into the ring to box for any amount of money although he could have beaten any of the 10 men in it. The other refused an offer of $15,000 to take part in the second show when he had been a principal in the first one a year ago.

The first was Gene Tunney and the second Young Stribling.

"Scott quit," said Tunney.

"Scott's a bum," said Stribling.

Watching boxing bouts from seats among the spectators was a novelty for both Gene and "W. L." Tunney was looking at his first big boxing bout since he left the ring forever after his defeat of Tom Heeney a year and a half ago. Stribling usually is in a corner as a participant.

The former heavyweight champion, polite as always, said that the card as a whole was "very interesting." Tunney, who attended with Mrs. Tunney and a group of friends, arrived just before the opening six-rounder and remained until the close. He was attired in dinner clothes, but took no chances on retarding his convalescence from a recent operation by catching cold and wore a wide-brimmed Panama hat.

The youthful Stribling had no hat and wore a sports suit. He, too, liked the affair in general, but could not say much for the act occupying the headline spot.

"Just think," lamented the flying Georgian, "they wouldn't give me $25,000 to fight on this card and let a fellow like Scott get in there for the main bout." The Madison Square Garden management offered Stribling $15,000, but he countered with a proposal to box for $25,000, which was respectfully declined by the promoters.

"It would have paid them to pay me $25,000," said the boxer. "I would have drawn much more than that. Not in the $25

BRITISH PRESS BACKS PHIL

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Although never an overwhelmingly popular fighter even in his own home town, Phil Scott, London's fighting fireman, today was the center of an avalanche of sympathetic comment.

Rallying with true British fervor to the support of a man who is down, press and public throughout the Island Kingdom united in protesting against Scott's disqualification in the Miami Beach fight last night with Jack Sharkey. The general opinion prevailing today was that Scott was literally "robbed of victory."

Many British fistic experts, including a number who reported the battle for their London papers from the ringside, inclined to the opinion that Referee Lou Magnolia had treated Scot unfairly by failing to disqualify Sharkey for low blows in the third round.

As a matter of fact, there is less feeling against Sharkey than there is against Magnolia. Some experts infer that Magnolia's refereeing was "questionable" throughout the fight, while one newspaper, the Star, takes a different tack by hinting that the fight was a deliberate set-up.

"It was a disgusting, degrading exhibition," declaims the Star. "It proves that British boxers should keep away from America."

All the newspapers carry the fight in detail, and all make much of the supposedly low blows dealt out by Sharkey. They maintain unanimously that Scott was fouled in the third, and criticize Magnolia on two counts—one for not disqualifying Sharkey, and the other for not giving the British boxer a chance to carry on.

Phil Scott's wife collapsed at her home when she learned early this morning how the fight had ended.

"Oh! What a disappointment," she cried. "But I believe Phil is capable of licking Sharkey in a fair fight."

MIAMI BOUT BY ROUNDS

MIAMI, Feb. 28.—(AP.)—The blow-for-blow story of Jack Sharkey's three-round technical knockout over Phil Scott, English champion, here last night follows:

ROUND ONE

Scott, with the British flag sewed on the side of his trunks, took some time to adjust his gloves and go out for instructions. Sharkey wore the Navy emblem. Sharkey opened with a rush, but failed to connect. Scott clinched as the American rushed again. They sparred and exchanged rights to the body. Scott adopted a half crouch and ducked away from Sharkey's wild rush. The Briton chopped a right to the side of the head and clinched. Sharkey smashed a left hook to the ribs, but was tied up as he came to close quarters. The Englishman was boxing coolly. Phil picked a right hand out of the air and boxed. Sharkey was short with both hands, and they clinched again. Phil showed no disposition to mix at close quarters, but fired a long right to the ear at the bell.

ROUND TWO

Sharkey bobbed and shifted, chopping a right to the head as they clinched. Scott went down in a corner as they fought at close range, but got up at the count of six. It was a left to the head, the force of Jack's rush putting Phil down. Sharkey missed with his left, but punished the Briton as they came to a clinch and blood trickled from Phil's right nostril. They exchanged lefts to the body, but Scott showed agility in tying up the American at close range. Sharkey dug a stiff left to the stomach, but missed an overhand

NEW CASTLE TOPS N. UNION, 39-14

Grove City Battles Westminster Tonight

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS

CITY LEAGUE SERIES OPENS TODAY

W. P. I. A. L. RESULTS.
First Round Score.
(Upper Bracket.)

New Castle ..... 39—N. Union 14

A basketball team apparently destined to go places and do things in the W. P. I. A. L. title elimination tourney, which it helped to open last night, turned in a convincing upper bracket first round triumph, as New Castle, coached by the astute Phil Bridenbaugh experienced little difficulty in downing North Union 39 to 14 in the Pitt Stadium before a fair-sized crowd.

North Union, a better team that it appeared in last night's walloping, stage struck and unable to function in the way it has been coached by its young mentor, Ray Welch, trailed from the first and was never even close to the clever attacking Castlites.

ALEXANDER SCORES

Led by Arthur "The Great" Alexander, New Castle stepped off to a 11-3 lead in the first period. Alexander was either scoring himself, or aiding one of his teammates to count, and at half time, he and Red McAuley and Bill Hammon had worked the Red and Black out to a 18-8 advantage. North Union was held to a pair of field goals, one being shot from the center of the floor late in the second quarter by Uhazie, a clever little guard.

Alexander continued his fine under-the-basket play as the third period got under way, and with Hammon and the two Uram boys aiding, the Lawrence Countians piled up a commanding lead. North Union failed to register a field goal in the third period, and got but one in the fourth. The Section XIII team was outscored by 11 to 1 in the third canto and 10 to 5 in the fourth, with a flock of New Castle reserves in the ball game.

Alexander set a scoring record that may stand for the entire tourney. He bagged six field goals and dropped three out of three fouls for 15 points. The lineup:

New Castle		North Union
Waino	b	Fisher
Hammon	f	Lewis
Alexander (C)	f	Shaffhauser
A. Uram	g	Shira
McAuley	g	Brown

Score by periods:

New Castle	11	7	11	10	39
North Union	3	5	1	5	14

Substitutes—New Castle, Jones, Fair, Rowe, McKitrick, Shafer, Marks, Winkler; North Union, Chaffee, Kimmerly, Goodrich, Richel, Reddy.

Field goals—Alexander 6, Hammon 3, A. Uram, McAuley 2, J. Uram, Waino, Shaffhauser, Uhazie, Brown, Fisher, Winkler. Foul goals—Alexander 3 out of 3, Hammon 3 out of 3, McAuley 0 out of 1, J. Uram, 1 out of 2, Fisher 1 out of 1, Lewis, 1 out of 1, Shaffhauser 1 out of 1, Chaffee, 0 out of 1, Brown, 1 out of 3, Chaffee, 1 out of 1, Reddy, 0 out of 1.

Team fouls—New Castle 11 out of 15, North Union, 8 out of 15.

Time of periods, 8 minutes.

Referee—Cal Bolster.

Umpire—Dan Brawley.

CITY SERIES OPENS

The next W. P. I. A. L. tourney game will be played tomorrow night, when Aliquippa and Ambridge clash. There are a number of important scholastic clashes listed for today, including one City League title series fracas and four sectional playoffs.

In the City League contest, Fifth Avenue and South Hills will open their duel for the league crown, meeting in the first of what is supposed to be a three-game affair in the Stadium this afternoon.

Fifth Avenue won the Section I title without a play-off, but South Hills had to take Perry Tuesday in an extra-schedule game to win the Section II pennant. Fifth is a top heavy favorite to retain its City League title. The second game of the series will be played next Tuesday and the third, if one be necessary, on Friday.

RANKIN FACES TEST

North Braddock and Rankin will meet on the Stadium floor tonight for the Section VIII W. P. I. A. L. crown. This pair wound up the regular season in a deadlock, defeating each other once. Tonight's struggle will decide the issue, with the result generally conceded to be a toss-up.

In another play-off battle Coraopolis and McKees Rocks meet on the Duquesne University floor for the Section IX crown while at New Kensington, Harbrack and New Kensington hook up to settle the question of supremacy in Section I.

Section XV, where a three way tie resulted from play during the regular season, also will start an untangling process tonight.

FINTEX ENTERS CENTRAL LOOP

By TOM BIRKS.

The entrance of the Fintex team in the Central Baseball League is going to provide a kick for the other members of the loop. Morry Goldman, who is sponsoring the Fifth Avenue aggregation is known to have more than a mere smattering of sports, and Morry will have a winning aggregation.

Just who will manage Fintex has not yet been decided. Goldman has been dickering with a number of aspirants to managerial jobs, and there is a chance the ultimate selection will be a former County League player and the makeup of the team from the South Hills W. O. W. which copped the title last season, has entered the City League and the Central League officers and teams are wishing the Jedinak outfit pots of luck. Jedinak was very popular in the Central.

The Central League meets next Tuesday at Wagners and all preliminary business will be settled. Etna Furnitures headed by Bill Sherman will be the big shot of that side of the river. Whitey Alperman sat in the meeting with Sherman and his valuable experience is going to help the Etna entry.

Bunts

Many baseball meetings are scheduled for Sunday afternoon. Etna Furnitures will get together in the bowling alleys. Sherman wants all the players to be on deck at 2:30. The Wesley Hale Club of Turtle Creek, which will be in the Steel City League, will have a reorganization meeting at 3 p. m.

A big meeting will be held in the club rooms of the Edgewood Club on Sunday at 2:30. It is reported Edgewood will be one of the outstanding teams of the district. Ray Bond is reported headed toward the Pirates camp.

Dormont will hold its midnight show this evening at the Dormont Harris Theater. The hard working committee has lined up quite a galaxy of stars and sandlotters and their friends are invited.

GROVERS MEET TITAN FIVE

By JESS CARVER.

When friendly enemies meet in basketball it's high time to buy liniment stock on margin.

Two such foes clash in the big topping game of the tri-state district college basketball show tonight as Grove City and Westminster meet at New Wilmington. Tonight's contest has little at stake save the satisfaction that comes from knocking the ears off a pal. It is a return match, the Titans having won a more or less sythetic victory over the Grovers at Grove City earlier in the year, when the scorers became all screwed up and permitted a game to go into an extra period that Grove City rightfully won by a single point in regular time.

TITANS SEEK TITLE

Westminster has run its winning streak to sizeable proportions and is headed directly for the Conference and possibly the district title. A defeat for Pitt and in go the United Presbyterians who will be handed the laurels by virtue of the fact that they play more district opponents than the Panthers. Grove City by tripping Johnny Lawther's proteges tonight can serve the U. P's a terrific jolt, meanwhile making up for some of the defeats that blot Brother Thorn's record.

The contest will feature the final varsity appearance at New Wilmington of sensational Marcus Rankin, football and basketball star at Grove City for the past four years. Rankin will make it tough for Westminster's various forward combinations—or should.

Duquesne and Pitt begin their task of upholding the honor of this section along the seaboard battle front. The Panthers [illegible]

Carnera, Manager Go Into Oil Business

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 28 (AP).—The combination of Primo Canera, Italian boxer, and Leon See, his French manager, has branched into Oklahoma oil.

See saw opportunities to augment the income from Carnera's crushing of challengers while he was here last week. Articles of incorporation for Leon See, Inc., with See listed as president and Carnera as vice president, were on file today with the secretary of state. The new company will deal in oil properties.

SWIM MEETS TONIGHT

The University of Cincinnati swimming team opens a two-day stand here by engaging the varsity mermen of Pitt in a dual meet in the K. A. C. pool tonight. Tomorrow the Cincy aquatists will [illegible] fitness with Tech's tankers in the Tartan pool. This meet will be a matinee affair.

Tonight the Carnegie Tech tankers have a dual meet with Wash Jeff to take care of. Coach Tom Norris has so many [illegible] the Tartar squad that [illegible]

The Tartan squad has been weakened for the meets tonight and tomorrow due to the loss of Rudger Ellis, breast stroke star, who is suffering from an attack of [illegible].

Capt. Pete Brown, Ed Kaufmann and Everett Utterback, a trio of first-rate track performers at Pitt, make the New York trip to compete in the I. C. A. A. A. A. annual indoor meet tomorrow night. Brown promises to finish high up in the 70-yard dash. Kaufmann will run in the 70-yard low hurdles and Utterback needs [illegible] a good bet to place in the high jump, the broad jump and the pole vault.

They expect to accumulate a record crowd at the Arena, and Pittsburgh Chapter luncheon for the Track footballers at the William Penn at 1:00 p. m. on the morrow.

Being a matinee affair, there will be no [illegible] of raised stipend, as the Amalgamated Association of Banquet Workers does not function until after 6 in the evening.

The feature of the luncheon, in addition to the presentation of letters and numerals will be the appointing of a captain for next year. Judge Walter P. Stadtfeld, [illegible] coach, will attend to this detail. So far, the Judge has given no inkling as to which of the eighty players he will appoint.

DUKES DEFEAT SETON HALL

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., Feb. 28.—Duquesne University started its Eastern invasion with a 32-23 victory over Seton Hall College here last night. The Dukes presented a fine attack with Gantz, Benedict and Ben Liebe leading the assault with four field goals each.

Liebe also contributed three fouls for an 11 total, which tied him for high honors of the game with Singleton, home forward. The lineup:

Duquesne	32	Seton Hall	23
Benedict	f	Singleton	f
Gantz	f	Hayes	f

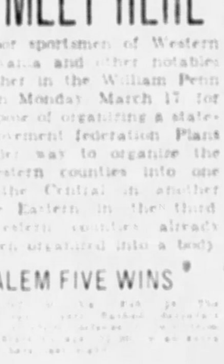
dition to McKechnie and Shotton. Bill deserved a shot at managing a big league club, but his connection with the Federals no doubt deprived him of that chance.

"MANAGER WATKINS, of Indianapolis, once pitched Bill in seven games in one week, and Phillips not only pitched but won all seven (Believe It or Not), the last being an exhibition game against Anson's Colts. Phillips' half brother, Barney Wolfe, of Monessen, was also a pitcher, one with the Washington and New York Americans. Bill's oldest son managed the Charleroi club in the Middle Atlantic League in 1928 and Lew is still playing center field for the Governors. Incidently, Bill and Mrs. Phillips are to leave Saturday for St. Petersburg, Fla., where McKechnie's Braves and the Yankees are training. They have just returned from the Mayo clinic and are going South for a rest."



Art Shires

BASEBALL fans are awaiting with much interest the outcome of the conference which ended for today at the White Sox camp at San Antonio between Manager Donie Bush and the celebrated Art Shires, who is a holdout. Bush is a smooth hand at getting players into a satisfied state of mind, and at times is noted for having a will of his own, there is much speculation as to how the Art-Bush heart-talk will result.

Originally Shires was quoted as having said that he wanted $25,000 for this year and that there was a difference of $5,000 between the club's terms and his own. That implied that the Sox management had offered him a $20,000 contract. Most fans set it down as the bunk, and developments proved that they had the right dope, as reliable reports say that the clubs offer was only $11,000, a $6,000 raise above last year's pay, and that Shires' demand is for $15,000.

IT develops that Burleigh Grimes is the only holdout on the Pittsburgh baseball club. Infielder Dick Bartell also has kicked over the traces and says he will not report unless given a salary that Vice President Sam Dreyfuss says is far more than the club will consent to pay him.

Further complications are thus added to the toughest of all the spring problems confronting Manager Jewel Ens, that of filling the vacancy at shortstop. It would have been an open job in any event, with Bartell, Charley Engle, Ben Sankey and Stuart Clarke listed as candidates. Now the uncertainty surrounding the post for 1930 is increased. However, it's a long way to opening day, and there's better than an even chance that Bartell will change his mind before that time.

Referee Magnolia refused to allow the claim and promptly hailed the fight as Scott was dragged to his corner for an examination. Sharkey, meanwhile, raced about the ring laughing and gesticulating he had not fouled his man. Magnolia consulted Scott and his handlers, finally refusing to allow a claim of foul and gave Scott the alternative of losing the decision or continuing. After a minute's rest the Britton elected to fight again. He limped out again and again was left all over his face and backed from Sharkey's rush. After a few seconds of mixing, Sharkey smashed a left hook to the stomach as Scott staggered along the ropes. Phil dropped his hands and ... registered helplessness. Magnolia asked him whether he wanted to continue as he stepped in between the fighters. Scott shook his head slowly and Magnolia then went over to lift Sharkey's hand in token of a technical knockout.

HERMAN FLOORED

In the second Herman was floored after taking a right to the chin but was up at the count of one. He continued to take it throughout the remainder of the fight and flashed occasionally with a two-fisted body attack which failed to halt the aggressiveness of Beatty, who forced the milling in every round. Beatty weighed in at 149, being one pound lighter than Herman.

Teddy Welch, of McKeesport, came back after a long layoff to take the decision in the second bout of six rounds from Danny Russell of Braddock. The fight was a good one all the way with both boys landing hard, clean punches. Welch's lead, which he piled up in the early rounds, offset a late rally on the part of Russell. Both judges, Jimmy McLaughlin of Braddock and Frank Brown of Pittsburgh, cast their votes for Welch, while Referee Robinson ruled a draw. Welch weighed 144, and Russell came in at 148.

SHADE VICTOR

John Montebano of Braddock, weighing 128 pounds, got the six-round opening bout to Jimmy Shade, 133, of Pittsburgh. The fight was a corker all the way, with Shade doing the greater part of the punching and having Montebano in a bad way near the finish.

MICKEY SOLMEN WINS

CUMBERLAND, Md., Feb. 28 (AP)—Mickey Solmen, 154, New Castle, Pa., decisively defeated Willie Phomey, 159, pounds, of Washington, in their eight-round bout here last night. Phomey was down for the count of two in the first round.

In the semi-final Buck Griffiths, 138, defeated Mike Fettas, of Hagerstown, 138, in a close eight-round bout.

forting that Ens immediately decided to combine the two sessions hence the players remained at the park until almost 1 o'clock and they certainly did partake of a fine drill.

To the golfers in the party the long workout was just the right caper, the lovers of the links game had time to get in a lively round before reporting for the evening meal.

The best session of the year was marked by the initial batting workout. Ens sent six young pitchers to the mound to throw to the catchers and infielders. Ervin Brame, the home-run socker, also joined in the fun at the plate. The rookie pitchers used in the joust were Green Erickson, W. Meine, Lang, Walter and Sanders.

Batting will feature the session today and Ens will continue to emphasize this important phase of the sport.

Levine Is Elected W.-J. Grid Leader

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP.)—Walter Levine, of Lock Haven, right tackle and senior at W. and J., has been named captain of the 1930 varsity.

Levine's choice by the Athletic Council is a radical departure in the history of the local school, he being the first to be named by this method. It followed the failure of the letter men of the squad to make a choice in two meetings held for the purpose. Once before in the history of the school the athletes failed to elect under this rule, Bill Amos and Frank Pauly being named co-captains.

rowful impression as a fighter, in spite of his apparent show of gameness in deciding to continue in the third round after a claim of foul. Regardless of the questionable blows struck or the merits of the referee's action, Scott put up a performance that served only to emphasize his reputation for claiming disputed fouls.

The argument as to whether or not Scott was fouled, whether it has any ultimate importance or not, may go on for some time to come without being settled. Experts at the ringside differed sharply on the question, some maintaining that Scott was hit low at least six times and that Sharkey should have been disqualified; others equally as emphatic in asserting that while the American hit low several times on Scott's thigh, he did not deliver any directly foul punches.

SAW NO LOW BLOWS

Referee Magnolia, veteran New York ring arbiter and the sole ruling official of the bout, declared he saw no low punches, but after the fight, examination of Scott showed a lump on the right leg several inches below the waistline.

An examining physician described the injury as traumatic sciatica, producing a partial paralysis which contributed to Scott's apparent collapse and the limping manner in which he went out to resume fighting. In the ring, however, at the height of the confusion and during the minute's armistice that Magnolia declared to make his examination, both the referee and the official boxing commission physician decided Scott was neither fouled nor hurt.

Magnolia explained that his extraordinary action in stopping the fight for a full minute was prompted by a desire to avoid any possible "squawk" or charge of unfair dealing. The referee, in the opinion of some observers, indicated at first a motion to disqualify Sharkey, but Magnolia denied he ever entertained this idea. The somewhat general view, however, was that Magnolia, instead of playing safe either should have counted Scott out as he went down and rolled over on his back, manifesting agony, or immediately disqualified Sharkey.

The opinion as to where Sharkey's blows landed differed, according to the ringside viewpoint. Even Magnolia admitted he did not have an unobstructed view at all the questionable punches. The blow which sent Scott down, claiming foul, was curiously similar to the one struck by Otto Von Porat against the Briton in Madison Square Garden some months ago and which resulted in the disqualification of the Norwegian. As on that occasion, however, Scott acted somewhat uncertain as to just what to do until finally sinking to the canvas. The Englishman, after the minute's respite, was in no mood to continue and did so only after the ultimatum of the referee to go on or be declared the loser. It took Scott not much longer to decide he had had enough for the evening as he slumped against the ropes from a vicious left hook to the stomach. There was no question of the fairness of this blow.

LONG ROUND

The third round lasted three minutes and 34 seconds, including the minute devoted to debate and rest. All told, Scott was on the floor three times for a count, once in the second round after being rushed to his corner and flipped by a left to the head. He took a count of six and lasted out the round without much trouble. Another wild rush by Sharkey, early in the third round, put Scott down for a count of three along the ropes. The Briton was down for another count of six before the blow that aroused the big controversy.

GOB OUTSMARTED

To sum it up, Scott refused to fight and Sharkey failed to fight at least in a manner calculated to enhance his championship prospects. The Boston sailor was extremely wild in his over-anxiety to land a killing punch, fairly raging as he came out of his corner. He was outboxed and outsmarted by Scott in a good portion of the first two rounds, though there was never any question of which was the harder hitter. Scott's only advantage was in weight. He scaled 205 to Sharkey's 197.

The result of the semi-final between Johnny Risko, of Cleveland, and Victorio Campolo, of the Argentine, declared a draw by Referee Kid McPartland, of New York, also was unsatisfactory to the majority of spectators and experts who considered Risko held a winning edge. Campolo finished spectacularly, staggering Risko in the tenth round with solid smashes.

FINANCIAL FLOP

Financially, the second annual battle of the cocoanut palms was apparently as big a failure as it was disappointing in a competitive way. The paid attendance was less than 20,000.

GOODMAN WINS TWICE

CLEVELAND, Feb. 28. (AP.)—Fred Goodman, of Detroit, and Barry Collins, of Minneapolis, were winners in the afternoon games and R. S. Hubbell, of Cleveland, and Goodman were the winners in the evening games yesterday at the Western amateur three-cushion billiard tournament here.

Total Dividend Payments Are 33 Per Cent Ahead of Year Ago

HEAVY payments in interest and dividends going out today were put through without creating as much as a ripple on the surface of the money market. Disbursements totaled about $608,442,000, a new record for March 1, and compared with a total of $528,970,000 dispatched on the same date a year ago. Of the total, $328,400,000 was made up of dividends as against $264,000,000 last year, and $280,042,000 was represented by payments of interest, this figure comparing with $264,170,000 a year ago. This brought total payments for the first quarter of 1930 to $694,000,000, an increase of $221,000,000 or roughly 33 per cent over the total of $673,000,000 for the first quarter of 1929.

Though the Pittsburgh Coal Company came through the year 1929 in the black for the first time since 1924, the showing of the company was hardly of a nature to create any stirring enthusiasm. Net profit for the year was $15,592, equal to four cents a share on the 350,000 shares of preferred stock outstanding. No dividends have been paid on the senior issue on which payments are cumulative since 1926 and payments due as of October 1 last, amounted to 22½ per cent. The company's 1929 showing would indicate some progress toward improvement in the soft coal industry when it is realized that deficits ranging from $493,856 in 1928 to $2,114,676 in 1926 were reported for the years since 1924.

THE red metal shares came back with a rush following a determined effort to depress the group shortly after the opening in New York. Anaconda was the target for concentrated selling pressure and yielded almost two points before substantial resistance developed, figures compiled by the American Metals Statistical Bureau showed exports of refined copper from November 1 to January 1 30 totaled 68,949 tons, while imports for the same period aggregated 97,124 tons. These figures would appear to indicate that companies are drawing rather heavily on their low-cost producing facilities to the detriment of their higher cost domestic plants. But along about midmorning there was a run of bullish gossip on the coppers including reports of improved demand and increasing activity at the plants of leading fabricators. This Important developments in the affairs of Westinghouse Air Brake are the basis of current strength in the stock. It is pointed out that the formation of a subsidiary jointly owned by Westinghouse and Bendix will assure the company of a larger proportion of the possible automotive business, which should add additional revenue to company's income. Westinghouse Airbrake in the railroad field also has good prospects since it is believed that its new braking equipment will be eventually required for all trains in the country. Company also has a favorable French contract, which will place its European subsidiaries in a position to contribute important earning power to the parent company.

IN recent market sessions Consolidated Gas has been the outstanding feature in the public utility list. Early in the week annual report for last year was released showing a substantial increase in earnings applicable to the common. Then Public Service, in stockholders' letter, told of the betterments and improvements which had been made to plants and properties in 1929. Following reading of its annual report, John A. Garcia, general counsel and director of the company, commented on the fact that the stockholders' list had been increased by some 25,000 names, declared that a group of 200 investment experts who recently investigated 50 common stocks as investment vehicles placed Consolidated Gas common at the head of the list.

Standard Gas and Electric is one of the favorites in utilities quarters which has been active. The company is a holding organization controlling the second largest system of utilities in the country. Through subsidiaries it serves more than 1,500 communities in 19 states. In addition to its gas, electric and street railway activities, Standard controls an oil subsidiary, the Shaffer Oil and Refining Company. Interests who have been prominent in the stock on several occasions in the past have been credited with quiet accumulation in the past few weeks and are known to be optimistic on the long-range outlook for the company.

Pittsburgh Coal Shows Profit of $15,592

By GEORGE P. SNYDER

FOR the first time since 1924 the Pittsburgh Coal Company has completed a year's operations at a profit. Earnings were small, amounting to only $15,592 before provision for Federal taxes, but the report was distinctly favorable in view of the records of previous years.

A slow but fairly consistent recovery has been shown by the company since 1926 when a deficit of $2,114,677 was reported. In 1927 the deficit was cut $1,955,092, while in 1927 the loss was pared down to $551,781.

The improved results for 1929 were shown in the face of increased interest expense and greater charges for depreciation and depletion.

Production Increased

INCREASED production and greater operating efficiency were important contributing factors in taking the company's operations out of red ink. During 1929 production was 13,378,304 tons, the greatest of any year since 1923. Output compared with 11,395,085 tons in 1928. In addition the company purchased more coal from other producers. A total of 2,464,756 tons were so got in 1929 as compared with 2,287,765 tons in 1928.

Steady progress was made during the year in producing better coal at a lower cost and in securing markets in a wider range of territory. The gain of nearly 2,000,000 tons in coal produced was obtained in a more highly competitive market than in 1928. Prices for coal remained at low levels last year.

Mechanical Cleaning

MECHANICAL cleaning of coal is being used to make a product which enjoys an improved demand. The fourth cleaning plant was put into production in June, 1929. This plant treats the coal produced at two mines. In January, 1929, 29 per cent of the coal sold was mechanicaly treated. In December, 1929, 56 per cent was specially prepared.

The company is also increasing the use of machinery within the mines. In January, 1929, the coal loaded into pit cars by machines represented 4.5 per cent of the total mined. In December the mechanically loaded coal was 17.6 per cent. In October, 1929, the month of peak production for the year, 8 per cent more coal was mined in the Pittsburgh district with 3 per cent fewer men working in the mines than in the same months of 1929 when 20 mines were operated. The Gallatin mine tipple was abandoned in May, 1929, and the underground workings were consolidated with the Warden mine.

Old Plants Abandoned

IN 1929 obsolete mine plants and equipment scrapped and unavailable coal acreage charged off made necessary a reduction of $1,803,497 in the surplus account. This was not charged against profits for the year.

After charging off depreciation of $2,076,623 and depletion of $1,437,485 during the year, the balance sheet showed physical properties carried at $137,096,832. The company had 164,991 acres of unmined coal lands at the end of the year. This included only veins being worked at present. It has been estimated that the company has coal deposits sufficient to last at the present rate of output from 75 to 100 years.

STABILIZATION SEEN IN FALL OF PRICES

Setback in Commodities Result of Recessions Under Way Since Summer

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—In assessing the business consequences of the recent precipitous decline in raw commodity prices, there is an increasing disposition to consider the probability that the world may be at the threshold of stabilization.

It would be rash to assume that when new crops leave the farms that prices will continue to be at the record-breaking low levels established early this week. The setback in commodity prices since the middle of January is an effect of the trade recession which has been under way since last summer, and is also a reflex of the punitive monetary policy, which the central banks of the world recently abandoned in favor of the new easy credit policy.

Irrespective of the immediate course of the commodity markets, it would appear that most of the bad news is out and is well known. The constructive effects of such trade recovery as may come in the spring and of the new worldwide changes in central bank policy have not yet been manifest, and may receive more attention as the year wears on.

Accordingly, though the results of political interference with supply and demand have been disappointing, it is only fair to the Federal Farm Board to concede that the cycle has not yet been completed. On the other hand, even if in the long run the farm board's speculation in commodities may prove less disastrous than indicated earlier in the week, scientific economists doubtless will continue to question the wisdom of the policy.

DISBURSEMENTS HIGHER

The recent technical readjustment in the stock market again brings some issues to levels which may seem attractive to investment buyers. Accordingly, the prospective disbursement on March 1 of $500,000,000 in interest and dividends, a larger amount than on the corresponding day a year ago on account of dividend increases, extra disbursements and dividend resumptions, should release considerable investment purchasing power. Although the new mood will doubtless divert some of this to the bond market, it is probable that the higher grade stocks will also be bought.

Incidentally, the enlargement of dividend disbursements since the business recession on the face of things seems paradoxical. With a shrinkage of business profits, it would be normal to expect a curtailment of dividends. But after results of accumulating huge surpluses, the great corporations have tapped their large reservoirs of funds somewhat in order to release investment purchasing power when the interest of the country and opportunities for their own stockholders seemed to justify such a policy.

Accordingly dividends have been consciously employed as a weapon toward economic stabilization. Companies feel justified in doing this not only because of accumulated profits from the past, but also because of a widespread belief on the part of corporate directors that business recession will be comparatively short lived. Stockholders, I think, are warranted in drawing the latter inference from the dividend policies of the outstanding corporations.

REPARATION FINANCING

In his recent address on the new bank for international settlements, Jackson E. Reynolds, president of the First National Bank of New York, and one of the experts who set up the statutes for the international bank, foreshadowed important reparation financing. Doubtless when the bankers think the American bond market is ready, they will offer reparation bonds to private investors in this country, raising delicate political as well as financial questions.

"A very important function of the bank in connection with the reparations," Mr. Reynolds pointed out, "will be the mobilization of these loans, in which case the bank will be trustee, and will also, in a sense, be the promoter of the rate of interest and the amount at which they will be sold, and discuss the matter with the particular creditor government interested in the reparation. As an example, if France wanted to issue a mobilization bond, she of course would have allocatable to her a percentage of each of these annuities which is established by the Young plan, and mobilized bonds could be set up and sold in very much the same manner that you would sell an equipment bond, or any salable maturity, the amount payable under the annuity serving for payment of interest, amortization, maturities, or all three."

Foreign observers have been amazed at the rapidity with which Americans psychologically recovered from the panic psychology of last autumn. Perhaps the explanation lies in the fact that the American is forward looking, rather than retrospective.

The American spirit is exemplified by the natural capacity for joking, instead of crying, over spilled milk. For example, Ed Wynn, political economist of the musical comedy world, offers the subjoined comment on the economic outlook:

"Business is looking up. It is flat on its back."

Teamwork Held Key to Salesmanship of Business of Today

By B. C. FORBES

THE greatest salesmanship feats used to be achieved by individuals, by men like Carnegie, Schwab, "Diamond Jim" Brady, Farrell.

Today the greatest salesmanship feats are achieved by organizations, by institutions, by communities.

As in other phases of business, individualism has given place to teamwork.

WESTINGHOUSE recently made a dazzlingly important sale. Knowing that its chairman, A. W. Robertson, is always keen to give credit to whom credit is due, I tried to get the inside story of the coup, with a view to having the hero tell just how he did it. But the fact was that so many different men and departments had had a hand in handling the contract that no one person could be singled out for special commendation.

An order running into millions is far from uncommon these days, especially in the steel, motor, public utility, construction, coal, oil, copper, shipping, paper, chemical and other heavy industries.

Sometimes the engineering department has more to do with securing a big order than the sales department. Sometimes a brain in the research department conceives a need, solves the problem of how to fill it, and, for all the practical purposes, becomes entitled to credit for bagging the new business.

CERTAIN corporation presidents devote more time to selling than to anything else. They love the competitive game. They love to pit their wits against the other fellow. James A. Farrell, head of the U. S. Steel Corporation, is a master salesman. Schwab during the war brought off unique salesmanship feats—he was the first American industrialist Kitchener cabled to hurry over to London to see him. Mack trucks' president, A. J. Brosseau, is the sales type par excellence. Numbers of utility presidents get on the job when a sizeable possible order appears in the offing. So do even the biggest of our railway presidents. Ditto insurance company presidents.

Few business heads nowadays consider themselves above jumping in when they see the possibility of capturing a contract their subordinates are having insuperable difficulty in lassoing.

DID you know that public utility companies are today the most aggressive of all in attracting new industries, new business to their territories?

They now vie with the most energetic of go-getting cities and communities in bringing in new enterprises, new payrolls.

Read this, from a news story in a Miami paper about Col. R. A. Mitchell, brother of Sidney Z. Mitchell and senior vice president of the Alabama Power Company.

"In the last few years the Alabama Power Company has brought important industries into the state, including the first copper wire plant built south of the Ohio River, at Mobile. This concern, the General Cable Corporation, is a $2,000,000 business, and turns out transmission lines and other copper wire products.

"The Alabama Power Company also located the International Paper Company's Kraft paper plant at Mobile, an $8,000,000 concern. Another such plant, involving $6,000,000, was attracted through the company to Tuscaloosa, where a paper bag company operates in conjunction.

"Silk plants at Brewton and Decatur, Ala., were attracted through the efforts of the Alabama Power Company, Col. Mitchell stated, as was the Dixie plant of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, built at Gadsden at a cost of $8,000,000. A rubber reclamation plant was also located at Gadsden, where castoff rubber shoes, tires and other products are manufactured into necessary rubber items."

MY PRESENT hurried trip through part of the South caused me to give attention to another form of non-individual salesmanship. The conclusion reached is that the South, as well as the Far West, has learned better than the East how to attract new industries.

Atlanta has just issued a most elaborate publication describing operations of the forward Atlanta campaign of 1926-1929. The results revealed will interest leaders in other cities because of going ahead. Atlanta's four-year advertising campaign has brought 679 new factories, warehouses and sales offices to the city, 17,421 employes were added to the payrolls, and the estimate of money annually paid to these employes is over $30,000,000. Of the 679 new concerns attracted, 167 came from New York, 88 from Illinois, 47 from Ohio, 46 from Georgia, 35 from Michigan, 35 from Pennsylvania, 31 from Massachusetts.

Advertising brought over 9,000 inquiries and 35,400 personal visits and calls. Comparing the years 1922-1925 with 1926-1929, an acceleration of two hundred per cent of gain to new payrolls in excess of "normal" is credited to the city's ably-conducted campaign.

YES, salesmanship takes many and varied forms these days. But nearly all forms involve harmonious teamwork.

BROKERS LOANS DECREASE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by reporting Federal Reserve banks in New York City decreased $5,000,000 during the week ended February 26 to $3,489,000,000. This compares with $3,494,000,000 in the preceding week and with the high record of $6,804,000,000 on October 2, 1929. The low so far in 1930 was $3,341,000,000, established January 22.

Member bank borrowings from the New York Federal Reserve Bank on February 26 totaled $1,000,000 against $37,000,000 for preceding week and $134,000,000 a year ago.

Roosevelt Names Commission Head

ALBANY, Feb. 28.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt announced the nomination of Milo R. Maltbie, public utilities expert of New York City, for chairman of the public service commission, succeeding William A. Prendergast, resigned.

SEARS ROEBUCK SALES GAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—(AP.)—Sears, Roebuck & Co. today reported sales totaling $27,624,978 for the second period of 1930, from January 30 to February 26. The company is operating on a 53-month calendar. In the same period of 1929 the sales were $26,776,500, indicating an increase of 3.2 per cent this year.

For the first two periods, January 2 to February 26 this year, the sales totaled $54,445,143, compared with $51,277,508 a year ago, an advance of 6.2 per cent.

The comparative number of retail stores operating at the corresponding periods were not made public.

Nat'l Fireproofing Board Re-elected

John S. Craig, Norman F. Brown, Andrew B. Berger and H. M. Keasbey have been re-elected to the board of the National Fireproofing Corporation for a term of three years. The annual meeting was held yesterday.

A quicker, more thorough, more expert service for WILKINSBURG and PITTSBURGH motorists at Penn Avenue and Hay Street, Wilkinsburg, Pa.

YOU pay the same price for gasoline wherever you buy it. Why not get quick-starting "Standard" Gasoline and the extra services given at this "Standard" station—at no extra cost.

A real windshield wipe with a clean soft cloth, clean water for the radiator, distilled water for the battery. Your motor oil is "checked" by experienced men who serve hundreds of other motorists every week. Free maps are yours for the asking. Free air for the tires.

Now, while the weather is cold and you can spare your car for half an hour, have the entire lubrication system looked over. The crank case, transmission and differential probably need cleaning and a refill of clean, fresh "Standard" lubricant. The work is done by skilled, especially trained "Standard" motor doctors. Greases are put in under pressure. Modern equipment is used. No parts are slighted.

Drive up to this new station at Penn Avenue and Hay Street today. If you have time, let the men inspect your car. But at all events have your gas tank filled with "Standard" Gasoline or ESSO—the Giant Power Fuel—anti-knock—containing Ethyl. Have your oil "checked" and "Standard," the long-life motor oil, added. You'll get away to a fast start and—you'll enjoy driving all winter.

■ Fast Service from the very latest electric meter pumps. And no gasoline spilled on the car.

■ These Little Extras are a part of the service. Neat and clean rest rooms, too, with all modern conveniences.

■ A Lubrication Expert who not only knows when you need oil but which viscosity of "Standard" Motor Oil is the RIGHT one for your motor winter or summer.

■ Modern Equipment and experienced motor doctors to give your car thorough greasing. No parts slighted.

■ For Your Convenience air pumps are placed handily close to the big red "Standard" Gasoline pumps.

STOCK MARKET CONTINUES TO CREEP UP

Progress Interrupted at Times by Profit-Taking; New 1930 Highs Made

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP.)—The stock market continued to creep upward today although its progress was interrupted now and then by profit taking and occasional flurries of short selling. Gains of 1 to 6 points were quickly distributed with more than a score of issues including Auburn, Radio, Westinghouse Electric, Paramount Famous Lasky and Sears Roebuck reporting new high prices for the year.

There was no change in the character of the business news, more 1929 favorable earnings reports, mostly those of railroad companies, made their appearance. Sears Roebuck reported a small gain in sales for the first eight weeks of the year, and an extra dividend of 25 cents was declared on Congress Cigar.

MERGERS ANNOUNCED

Acquisition of the Fleischmann Company by the Standard Brands Corporation and of the Kraft Phenix Cheese Company by the National Dairy Products Company was announced during the day.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent, but again dropped to 4 when the supply of funds became so plentiful that the official opening rate was shaded in the outside market. The time money market was quiet with the undertone easier.

No change was announced in the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank rate. The drop of $5,000,000 in federal reserve brokers' loans yesterday was somewhat less than generally expected.

Coppers displayed a sharp reversal of form in today's market, early declines of 1 to 2 points being replaced by gains of similar extent in the early afternoon. Anaconda Copper rallied from a low of 71⅛ to above 73.

TELEPHONES ADVANCE

Recent strength of American Telephone, which ran up 3 points to 241 today, has been accompanied by reports of an early announcement regarding future development of sound reproducing devices by the company as well as by talk of an early issue of stock purchase rights. International Telephone, which recently acquired a controlling interest in a large German telephone concern, rallied in sympathy.

Farm implement shares made a brisk response to the further recovery in wheat prices. J. I. Case ran up 5 points and Oliver Farm Equipment convertible preferred and Minneapolis-Moline Plow each advanced more than 3 points. Office Appliance shares also were in brisk demand. International Business Machines and Underwood-Elliott-Fisher showing sharp gains.

REACH NEW HIGHS

Among the many other issues to reach new high ground were Parmelee Transportation, Warner Brothers Pictures, North American Company, Best & Co., American International, Remington Rand and United Aircraft.

Simmons, after touching a new low at 62, rallied to 64. American Rolling Mills, Gillette Safety Razor, American Bank Note and American Tobacco B also were heavy in the early trading, but most of them made good recovery from the day's lows.

Allegheny Steel Earnings Up 50%

The Allegheny Steel Company reports for 1929 net profit after charges, depreciation and federal taxes of $3,311,493, compared with $2,193,235 in 1928.

After paying preferred and common dividends there was a surplus of $1,313,817 for the year. Gross sales for the year increased $8,400,000 over previous year.

In May last year the Allegheny Steel Company took over the West Penn Steel Company, whose property adjoined that of Allegheny Steel.

Halsey Gets Blyth Business in Boston

C. D. Halsey & Co., members of the New York and Pittsburgh Stock exchanges and the New York Curb, have taken over the stock department of Blyth & Co.'s Boston office, it was announced today. The latter firm has disposed of its stock departments in various cities and has arranged to sell its membership on the New York Stock Exchange. Several members of the Blyth personnel will remain in the Boston office under the Halsey banner.

Exports of Crude Copper Decrease

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Imports of unmanufactured copper in January totaled 35,895 tons, compared with 28,488 tons in December and 32,941 tons in November, says the American Bureau of Metal Statistics. Exports in January totaled 20,760 tons against 25,227 in December and 22,962 in November.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP.)—Prices drifted about uncertainly on the curb market today as trading turned dull and speculators were inclined to curtail operations pending such developments as may give the market definite direction. Utilities maintained a fairly firm undertone despite considerable selling while heavy Industrials were quiet and irregular.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded in (00 omitted in sales column); stocks in 100 shares or unit of trading, bonds (000 omitted in sales column) for period 2:15 p. m. to 4:15 p. m.

N. Y. Store Sales Gain in January

NEW YORK Feb 28 — The March review of credit and business conditions in the New York Federal Reserve district states that the January sales of department stores showed an increase of 2 per cent over a year ago, with a gain of 4 per cent for the New York City stores. The Rochester and Albany district stores also showed substantial increases. Chain stores in the district were credited with sales averaging 9 per cent higher than the corresponding month in 1929.

I. T. & T. Big Holder In Standard Electric

NEW YORK Feb 28 — The International Telephone and Telegraph Company was revealed today as a controlling stockholder in the Standard Electric A C, a holding company formed last October to acquire stocks of German telephone and telegraph apparatus manufacturing companies. Of the 10 000 000 marks common voting stock I T & T owns 6 200 000 marks and of the 15 000 000 marks non-voting common it owns 8 300 000 marks.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK Feb 28 (AP) — Increasing confidence supported by an easier tone in the money markets extended bond trading today. The list was thin in spots but high grade issues in the early dealings gave evidence of further ability to strengthen their positions on the appearance of buying orders.

NEW YORK Feb 28 (AP) — Sales in the bond ward in thousands of New York Stock Exchange dollars were as follows: 000 omitted in cases involving foreign bonds in dollars and 000 omitted in cases involving bonds in terms of foreign currencies, the latter being converted into terms of dollars at current rates of exchange.

CITY OF PITTSBURGH
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
Separate and sealed proposals will be received at the office of the city controller, City-County Building, until 10 o'clock A. M., eastern standard time, March 12, 1930, and will be publicly opened and read at that hour, for making the following improvements:
FOR BUREAU OF BRIDGES AND STRUCTURES
Boulevard of the Allies, extension of drainage system, Contract No. 2.
Construction of a foot bridge over Irvine st. and the P. & O. Railroad, near Bellefield st.
FOR BUREAU OF WATER
Hauling, casting, wrought iron or steel water pipe castings, gate valves, gate boxes, fire hydrants, miscellaneous castings to the East End, downtown, North side and South side districts of the city.
FOR BUREAU OF ENGINEERING, GRADING, PAVING AND CURBING AND OTHERWISE IMPROVING
Brewing avenue, E. E. sidewalk and paving, about 1,200 sq. yards; about 1,200 feet, E. E. of Oneata street to the existing sewer on Brewing avenue at a point about 1,000 feet S. E. of Oneata street, 12-inch V. C. pipe.
Fifth avenue, South sidewalks, from a point about 40 feet west of Murtland avenue to the existing sewer on said Fifth avenue, about 200 feet, 8-inch V. C. pipe.
Swan way and Vilsack street, from a point about 140 feet south of Vilsack street to the existing sewer on the south sidewalk of Chislett street, 12-inch V. C. pipe.
Bryan avenue and F. F. of the City of Pittsburgh, from a point about 865 feet N. of Tredegar street to the existing sewer on the east sidewalk of Irvine street, 15-inch V. C. pipe.
All bids must be made upon the printed form of proposal to be obtained at the office of the contract clerk, room 450 City-County Building, on and after March 10, 1930, and must be accompanied by a deposit required for contract plans and specifications. Proposals containing any additions, erasures, omissions, alterations, additions not called for, or additional bids of any kind may be rejected as informal, and no bidder will be allowed to withdraw his bid.
Bids must be accompanied by a bond in the amount of fifty (50%) per centum of the estimated cost of the proposed improvement, duly and legally executed with a surety company authorized to do surety business in the State of Pennsylvania, or a certified check in the amount required, complied with the city ordinances relating thereto; said bond shall be in the form of bond furnished by the city of Pittsburgh.
A deposit equal to cost of contract plans and specifications must be obtained at room 450, City-County Building. Deposits of $2.00 will be required for each set of specifications and blueprint copies of contract plans for each of the above-named improvements. Deposits for said specifications will be refunded when bids are received, provided bidder returns plans and specifications in good condition and without marking, writing in days of the date bids are opened.
The Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works reserve the right to increase or decrease the amounts of any portion of the work which they deem necessary to reject any or all proposals or to accept any proposal which, in their opinion, is for the best interest of the city.
CHARLES H. KLINE, MAYOR.
EDWARD G. LANG, DIRECTOR, DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS.

DAILY TRUE STORY

WHEN Andy King changed his "job" in a factory in the Bronx to a "position" as head of the shipping department of a big downtown establishment, he had forty minutes to kill every morning and night on the subway.

He didn't mind that.

To step from the small wages that an ordinary job paid to the [illegible] salary the new position paid, made it all worth while.

Besides he was a cross-word puzzle fan.

He usually got a seat in the morning because he was so far uptown that the crowds weren't picked up to the suffocation point at his station.

After scanning the headlines and the pictures in his favorite tabloid he settled back with a pencil and proceeded to try and guess what color qualities in five letters or so to make easier to endure in nine letters could be.

It was great sport to Andy. It killed time during the long ride, took his mind from the stuffiness of the car and got him rather mentally keen for his day's work of seeing that orders were properly packed and shipped by the eight men under him.

This had been going on for several weeks.

One morning Andy was chewing the end of the pencil and scowling.

What the devil could mean a wing-like process in three letters? Plainly it was not "ala" because none of these letters would fit in the verticals he had proven up.

Andy had a vague impression that someone was looking at him.

Peachy Looking

He was right. It was a girl. She, too, had her tabloid turned to the cross-word puzzle page. She, too, chewed a pencil, but she wasn't scowling. She was smiling at Andy.

He took a second look and felt his face burning.

She probably thought he must be awfully dumb to be stuck on one of these easy daily puzzles.

The girl caught his troubled glances. She looked down at her own puzzle and started to work it out. A little color added to her cheeks indicated embarrassment at being caught staring at a strange young man.

Andy forgot for the moment about some three-letter word meaning a wing-like process.

That girl sure was peachy looking. Gosh, what pretty yellow hair—no peroxide stuff either—and her eyes were blue. Same shade as her hat, funny, he thought, she happened to have a hat the same color as her eyes.

And that gives you an idea of how dumb Andy was at times. If he had only known how many days Pearl Hilton had searched for just that shade of hat—one that didn't cost over four dollars—he would have been surprised.

Pearl looked up at him again, so he thought. She didn't see him this time, she was trying to guess what five-letter word beginning with C would mean disorder.

Andy returned to his puzzle.

What three-letter word meant a wing-like process?

The train stopped.

The word came to Andy.

"Fin" by thunder," he exclaimed aloud, glanced out and, seeing that it was his station, hopped up.

The pretty girl with the yellow hair and blue eyes was just ahead of him, also getting out. Someone tried to enter and push her back. Andy reached around her and shoved the man away.

"Let 'em out, Buddy," he said.

The pretty girl got out and shot Andy a grateful look, but Andy had already turned toward the upper exit. The girl had to make the lower exit and save a block's walk.

When Pearl got to the bookkeeping department of the Acme Exporting Company on the seventh floor of its big building and was at her desk with the stack of loose ledger leaves, she glanced at her paper. Hers was the same as the young man had.

Tough Problems

What did he mean, shouting "Fin" at her? Did he think she was a Laplander or Finn or something? There wasn't any "Fin" in her puzzle that she could find.

After luncheon as she started to finish up her puzzle, it wouldn't work out. She had used "ala" for wing-like process. That was wrong — the word down was "cleft"—Pearl suddenly chuckled. The pleasant-faced young man hadn't been calling her a Finn, he had been smart enough to find the word, and it wasn't ala, it was fin—she guessed she was kind of dumb, all right.

Andy was busy with his puzzle the next morning. He hadn't thought much of the pretty girl with yellow hair and blue eyes, at least not that morning.

Suddenly he discovered that the girl was across the car looking at him. Why the devil hadn't he watched where she got on?

And here was a tough hole to solve, something that decreases in four letters. Andy moved nervously. The girl was staring right at him. This wouldn't do. She'd think he was terribly dumb. Andy had a brilliant idea. He tried to appear somewhat bored, and with great speed he proceeded to fill out all of the little squares.

The girl looked at him with amazement. He would glance at a definition and, slam-bang, without a second's delay, he'd jot it down in the squares.

Pearl had only five words done when the young man had filled the whole puzzle. He glanced at it, nodded as if satisfied with himself and turned the page to start reading.

Pearl decided that this young man must have a marvelous brain, a great education and an almost perfect vocabulary. She had never seen anyone fill out a cross-word puzzle so rapidly as this.

It's a good thing Pearl didn't see what Andy had set down. It would have amazed her. In order to make her think he was a mighty smart cross-word puzzle fan he had jotted down anything. There in the eight spaces where HEAVENLY should have been written Andy had merely hastily scrawled UNBVSGFD. All the rest of the puzzle was the same way. When he got to the office he tore that page out and tossed it away. If anyone saw it they'd think him crazy.

He thought quite often about the pretty girl with the yellow hair and blue eyes and blue hat. By this time he knew that she had a cute little nose, rather pert but nice. He knew that her cheeks were really pink and only her lips rouged.

She Appears

He'd like to dance with Blue-eyes. He wished he had nerve enough to get acquainted with her, but he didn't want her to think he was a chap out to date up all the girls he could see, and he didn't want to think that she was the sort of girl who would let a strange young man date her up.

The next morning he scanned the headlines and pictures on the front page of his tabloid, then folded over to the cross-word puzzle. The train was stopping. He remembered Blue-eyes and looked up. No, she wasn't getting on there, perhaps it was the next sta —

Blue-eyes appeared. She had entered by a middle door. She found a seat opposite from him, about four people away. He saw her look at him.

Again the bored pose.

Again Andy glanced and wrote. He had that cross-word blank filled in no time.

What a laugh. Blue-eyes would have had if she had known that he wrote anything that came to him just to fill the spaces, such as WMNMM and OLLJT and other nonsensical arrangements of meaningless letters.

Pearl forgot her puzzle. She was fascinated. My goodness, she thought, she never did see anyone so smart. He filled out his puzzles without hardly hesitating. One glance at a definition and he knew and wrote the word.

They got out at the same station as usual, but Blue-eyes went to one exit and the phenomenal puzzle-solver went to the other.

So matters kept up.

Now and then there'd be a day or two days when they wouldn't see each other on the subway. It got so that it half spoiled the day for Andy King when he failed to see his Blue-eyes.

And Pearl Hilton used to wonder all day, when she missed him, if she'd see him next day.

Andy Bored

Andy got bored of pretending about cross-word puzzles. He started filling in the little squares with letters that meant something, although they had nothing to do with the solution of the puzzle.

It must have been several months after Andy first saw Blue-eyes that, at the station before their own, something went wrong. There was a severe crash. An empty going north had jumped a switch and jammed into the laden downtown train.

No one was badly injured, but many were thrown down.

"All out—take next train!" the guards shouted.

Blue-eyes hopped up. Andy was helping brush an old man and asking him if he were bruised. Andy's paper lay on the seat. Pearl Hilton grabbed his paper, folded it into her own and sneaked out.

She didn't see Andy in the next train, but she dare not look at his paper, he might be somewhere about.

At her desk she opened it. He hadn't filled out the cross-word puzzle at all! But he had partly filled it, like this:

I
GIRL

"The nerve of him!" gasped Pearl.

But she couldn't have been very angry, for she was singing to herself all day.

Next morning as they were getting out at their downtown station, Pearl edged to Andy.

"You forgot your paper in the accident yesterday," she said, offering it to him.

Andy gasped, got red and then took Blue-eyes by the arm.

"All right, kid me," he said, "but I meant every word of it!"

"I hoped you did," Pearl confessed.

Andy took her around to where she worked.

"Can you tie this?" he cried. "You take the front elevator entrance and I take the rear shipping entrance—we both work for the Acme Company!"

They did. And they continued to work there some four years after their marriage until—well, more important duties kept Pearl at home, such as working on a layette.

Cabmen to Vote Today On Plan to End Strike

The striking taxicab drivers are to vote today on proposals which, if accepted, will end a strike that has endured since early in January. The proposals submitted to the men are the result of conferences that were held in the office of Mayor Kline. The Mayor, himself, has said that he did not initiate the movement, but was asked to do so by the strikers.

The Mayor seems to want to shun any responsibility in the matter. Surely, he could not have been hanged, shot, slapped on the wrist, or even justly criticized if he had invited the cab owners and their employes into his office of his own volition. Since nobody really made him do it, he did it at his own volition in the final analysis, anyway, so we give him the credit for instigating the conference whether he is willing to accept it or not.

And we are certain that, if the men return to work on a basis of negotiations worked out with his assistance, he will be as pleased as anyone—and will have every right to be. And a right to be thanked by the public, too.

Everybody hopes the strike will end speedily, of course, the convenience of the public being paramount in such a desire.

Over We Go

And as We Go, Poor Fools, We Humbly Salute.

LOST IN THE LONDON FOG.

Congratulations to Robert McCormick, of Chicago, who prints this cartoon on the front page of his newspaper.

It tells the story so well that no other words are needed.

The gentleman walking off the dock into the deep waters of "naval inferiority" is the official representative of your Uncle Sam in London.

Off to the right with the clock you see the House of Parliament and you see our poor American "boob" humbly saluting as he takes the next step which will land him just where the British WANT him.

Why must an American statesman, when he comes in contact with the British, become suddenly a snob and a fool?

Have you ever tried to answer that question?

Why could one old Britisher in feeble health, Lord Balfour, go over to Washington and take billions of dollars out of the Treasury to be spent in Europe killing people?

And why are we so humbly grateful when Britain pays us back PART of it, and so patient when other nations pay us back NONE of it?

They are starting a school for statesmen at Princeton.

They ought to start forty in each of our big universities. We need them.

Better still, they ought to send some people while they are going to London to sit in the House of Commons where Balfour was raised and find how they develop statesmen over there.

Thanks for your cartoon, Mr. McCormick. You ought to spend some of your hard-earned money printing it at advertising rates in every paper in the United States, particularly in Washington.

Women Want to Be Hanged

And Why Not?

Englishwomen are demanding the right to be hanged, the same as men. That strikes you as funny. But think it over.

Miss Florence Underwood, secretary of the Women's Freedom League, one of the best known of British feminist organizations, puts it this way:

"I am strongly OPPOSED to capital punishment, but I am against women being exempt from the death penalty when men are not exempt."

Miss Underwood says something.

Capital punishment is a blot on civilization. It seems a BIGGER blot, though, when its barbarous "social vengeance" is wreaked on a woman.

While we have it, let us, therefore, hang women as well as men, and if possible with trimmings thrown in like those in Arizona last week, when a woman's head was torn from her shoulders by the noose.

A few more incidents like that might shock us into sanity.

SUN TELEGRAPH'S PLATFORM

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Rough But Polite

THE sub-debs have written their own book of etiquet. Members of the Junior League have edited this tasty little dish because they were sick of being educated on catalogues of the old bicycle days.

"Bugs" Baer

They recommend cool, calm profanity for flappettes. But never swear in front of your chaperon unless you want to lose the robust spelling bee on points.

Do nice girls pet? Answers from Bryn Mawr and Smith Colleges indicate the affirmative is unanimous.

Necking is a matter of inclination and opportunity. The turtle shall never neck with the giraffe, yea, even unto the third generation.

Be kind to the old folks. If grandma is forced to run an errand in a blizzard, always open the door for her.

Is it bad form to kiss a girl with whom you are not in love? Answers from Amherst, Harvard and the National Guard indicate the boys never met a nice girl with whom they were not in love.

Shall you take off your hat while talking to a young lady on the street? That depends. At Springfield they pull the hat down over the eyes while at Yale they toss the hat over the goalposts.

How late should you stay out motoring with a young man? There were three sets of answers to this lamentable query. Until daylight. As long as it is dark. Until the young man is old.

In order to honor and obey the Eighteenth Amendment should we drink the Scotch before or after the soup course? From Princeton, Dartmouth and Wellesley comes the fair and square compromise to avoid all legal encroachments by pouring the Scotch in the soup.

Is it wrong for a young lady to smoke? A young lady should smoke if she doesn't want to be considered effeminate.

When a gentleman takes a young lady out to dine how many chairs do they require? One.

When the romance is blistered and the paint is peeling off the engagement shall the girl give back the ring to the jilted citizen? Sure. Never take away a collegian's stock in trade.

These, and many more haphazard questions of pro rata etiquet are answered by the life members of the Junior League. The increase in illiteracy in America seems to be due to the fact that the younger generation is educating itself.

A CHAMPION SPENDTHRIFT

By Herbert Kaufman

YOUR Uncle Samuel is in a fair way of becoming history's champion spendthrift.

When one considers his adolescent poverty and reflects that he began without a penny to his name, it seems as though the memory of those early pinches—not to omit some comparatively RECENT experiences with financial stringency—should warn him to abate extravagance and save more of his income for INEVITABLE rainy days.

Last year, we contributed from our collective earnings FOUR BILLION dollars to defray the expense of federal government—a government which, as late as Cleveland's administration, found itself at wit's end where to lay hands on FIFTY MILLION dollars to meet Treasury obligations.

Since then, of course, the country has prospered prodigiously. Infant industries have grown to world-conquering giants. Lumber, steel, mining, transportation, power, manufacturing, the textile and packing trades and agriculture, produce more revenue per present WEEK than they then created per MONTH.

IN Cleveland's time, the telephone, the electric motor, the harvester and the incandescent light were toddling in diapers. Not an imagination on earth was potent enough to envision a future which would daily mine millions out of the air, and sow the continent with radio and flying machine factories, before we were half through GASPING at the overnight affluence of that OTHER infant prodigy, the motion picture.

No facts at Mr. Cleveland's command justified expectation of our approaching chemical and petroleum riches. Consequently, contemporary Congresses were prone to reflect twice before appropriating ONCE and executive caution exercised a corresponding restraint on the size of pork-barrels.

Since 1918, however, Congress has splurged like a cross between Coal-Oil Johnny and a Roman profligate.

LOG-ROLLING politicians, for a dozen years, have emptied the Treasury into VOTE BAIT cans as fast as Washington could collect its dues.

But the Capitol, as Mr. Hoover has just warned party leaders, has so overdrawn the year's estimated receipts in pending bills that Mr. Mellon, instead of crediting another tidy SURPLUS to reserve, may face a BILLION, SEVEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY MILLION DOLLAR SHORTAGE.

To prevent the embarrassing situation, taxes would have to be increased by 40 per cent, and every PENNY of it would come—directly or indirectly—from both capital's profits and labor's wages.

Business is in no condition to stand such a tooth-rattler. Economics are in a state of transition and confusion.

We're passing through a period of adjustment which will indefinitely restrict employment and intimidate promotion.

The stock market hasn't BEGUN to recover from its November knockout.

BUILDING commitments are 32 per cent off peak, automobile output is far under par, and radio's immediate prospects are still under the doctor's care. We've infinitely more wheat and cotton than demand can absorb, and consumption hasn't digestive capacity sufficient to liquidate unsold remainders.

In face of which, Congress threatens to pile Pelion on Ossa by scheduling measures which will mulct every family in the land for federal pay raises, unnecessary reclamation projects, enlarged Civil War pensions, postponable road-building, conservation, and regardless flood relief.

A fine way to restore business confidence and coax investment out of the CYCLONE CELLAR!

∴ LISTEN, WORLD! ∴

By Elsie Robinson

DOES big business two-time women?

Does it discriminate against them, and take advantage of them, merely because they're females?

Miss Agnes L. Peterson, assistant director of the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor, believes it does and says so, plenty, in a recent report on women workers.

"The double standard in wages," says Miss Peterson, "and the absence of chivalry have resulted in unscrupulous exploitation of potential motherhood . . . The general custom of paying ages on the basis of sex is a relic of the dark ages . . . The majority of employed women are at a great disadvantage, either because they do not care to bargain about a job, for fear of losing out altogether, or because they are too young and inexperienced to choose or bargain among the jobs available."

All of which sounds mighty pathetic. And I suppose, as a female, I'm expected to indorse it with big moans of self pity. But I won't! For personally, Agnes, as from one Lady Laborer to another, I consider it pure piffle.

"Exploitation of potential motherhood . . . . . I admit that listens grand, but just what has it to do with the price of beans? Potential mothers make lovely poetry but, as a matter of actual performance, they're no more precious than potential fathers and no more frail as file clerks. If the potential mothers of the race can swim channels, make trans-continental air trips, grab off all tennis records and generally outplay, out-eat and out-smart all males of the species I guess they can bear up under eight hours of plain typing. And, at any rate, why bring up motherhood in office hours?

"Absence of chivalry?" Why have chivalry if we're fit for equality? Why insist on the deference due to a clinging vine when you're spreading yourself like a sturdy oak? As a matter of fact, chivalry never amounted to much anyway. It was just a fancy bunch of gestures that tickled the girls and let the boys get by with murder. Women aren't naturally any weaker than men. They don't need protection. They only need an even break. And they'll get an even break as soon as they can qualify.

Women are handicapped not because they're females but because the average woman is still unskilled labor. As a sex they're not yet a safe bet, industrially.

"The general custom of paying wages on the basis of sex is a relic of the dark ages," says Miss Peterson. It is indeed. And so is the average female performance a relic of the dark ages. Most women still think industrially as though Knighthood Were in Flower. And get mad because it isn't! This doesn't mean that women aren't naturally as bright as men. Maybe they're brighter. But they're inexperienced. Men have been rotarians for thousands of years. Women haven't even started.

Women will be paid as much as men when their performance becomes as standardized as men's . . . when their viewpoint becomes as abstract . . . When they can think collectively and bargain collectively as men now do.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

GENERALLY the streams in one direction are longer a stronger than those in others, and so the mass of thin flu jelly surges along. Its motion is so slow as to be barely perceptible; nevertheless, it creeps with an appearance of appetit and purpose.

Normally (unless it is about to form spores) it avoids light and makes its way into damp, dark corners.

H. G. Wells.

At its advancing fringe it puts out and withdraws lobes, like the lobes of an amoeba, and it can flow around and thus consume the matters upon which it lives.

It will turn aside from its course to flow over an attractive lump of food. In most cases only dead and decaying things are taken into this shapeless interior to be digested, but there are species which feed on living vegetable prey — on fungi, for example.

Sometimes, under adverse conditions (such as drought) the creature passes into a resting condition. Part of its substance hardens to a horny consistency in order to protect the rest and forms a number of hollow capsules, each capsule housing a mass of fluid protoplasm with 10 or 20 nuclei in it.

This mass of capsules can live, motionless, without giving a sign of life, for as long as three years. When conditions become more favorable, when the resting mass is moistened, for example, the hard cyst-walls are absorbed and the contents flow together into a single sheet again, and continue their slow, creeping life as if their long inanition had been only the sleep of a night.

So far our slime-mould has behaved more like an animal than a plant. It creeps about like an extremely sluggish animal; not being green, it feeds like an animal. But its reproductive processes are definitely plant-like.

Because of this alternation between an animal mode of life and a vegetable mode of reproduction the group is one of those frontier forms that have found a place both in zoological and botanical textbooks.

The slime-mould reproduces itself by means of spores, contained in fructifications that are very like those of the true moulds. These sporangia, as they are called, are of various shapes, depending on the species to which they belong.

They may be spherical or ov or cylindrical; they may rise on short stalks as knobs or cups or mushroom-like umbrellas. Usually they are extremely small and have to be examined with a low-power lens.

Besides containing spores, they may have tangled fibers in them, which uncoil like springs when they are moistened, thus jerking out the spores which are then distributed by wind.

The process by which the inchoate, creeping film of protoplasm converts itself into a number of highly specialized and elaborated sporangia is extraordinarily interesting.

It is almost as if a lump of plasticine were suddenly to pull itself together and model itself into a working clock. In those species which have stalked sporangia, for example, the protoplasmic sheet slowly heaps together in a number of places, acquiring a warty surface; the warts grow slowly upwards and a solid stalk is formed at their core by a hardening of their own substance; the viscid, living fluid climbs up this stalk as it makes it and at the top, it hardens and elaborates itself into the complicated structure that we have briefly described.

In this manner the whole plasmodium turns itself into a tiny forest of sporangia—the process taking somewhere about a day.

The ripe spores, a few thousandths of a milimeter across, are blown about by the wind, and if they settle in a damp place with a supply of decaying organic matter for food they hatch and develop.

The creature that escapes from the hard spore-shell is of microscopic dimensions; it is like a combination of an amoeba and a flagellate, having a plastic body and a long whip-like tail. It can either creep like an amoeba or dance like a flagellate.

Moreover, it reproduces by division as the protozoa do, and so may give rise to a great number of similar "swarm cells." After a time the swarm cells show a sociable tendency; they collect together in groups, and they fuse with each other in pairs, completely and unreservedly, like the spermatozoon with the ovum.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Thoughts while strolling: Whatever became of Turkish Corners? The original Beefsteak Charley. Not so many window displays of cocktail shakers and flasks. The self consciousness of a lone passenger on an escalator. So many colored maids named Nettie, Karl E, Harriman and Frank Craven look alike.

Those out yonder lads who visit New York several times a year. And are known back home as One of the Boys. Neysa McMein, a Quincy, Ill., girl, who made good in the city. Sour, beery smell from speak-easies. Alan Dwan's double who is a well-known head waiter.

Who remembers when a neighbor came over to borrow a buckwheat "starter?" Old time shopkeepers who still sweep their own sidewalk fronts. Soft and sulky ladies who sit in hotel waiting rooms. Percy Crosby is also a window shopper. Dick Berlin and his mother. Hope Williams' swagger.

Raymond Duncan, Isadore's brother, and his long gray locks and sandals. The display of foreign periodicals on the Bryant Park corner. George McManus, the acquitted Rothstein prospect, and his Page One smile. The chestnut vendor with little cart and blind pony.

Half-dollar tie sales. Bargains in harmonicas. Dollar dog baths. Three penny arcades in a block, and all flourishing. Delegates who wear huge badges and eat in automats. Old actors in frayed spats clutching at frozen dreams. Bugs Baer and Damon Runyon. Whatever became of rat terriers?

Those clubs upholstered in stiff leather. Where members tip-toe about. Saving bank sign: "Save your first thousand and you are made." The rakish dip to J. P. McEvoy's hat. And the indefinable chic of saleladies in the dressmaking establishments. Alice Ziegfeld's celebrated telephone operator.

The cafe that excludes women and where men may light pipes. A ditch digger bursts forth in an aria from "Faust." Two young girls assist a teetering old gray head into a taxi. Blow him a farewell kiss—and turn quickly to giggle. C'est la vie!

The largest bathroom in New York is under construction in a new apartment building on upper Park avenue for a prosperous bachelor. It is 32 feet long and 24 feet wide. The bath itself is a pool gradually reaching a depth of five feet. There are four different booths for various showers and sprays and a violet ray cabinet. Complete, it cost $36,000. The owner came to New York 12 years ago as a $25-a-week stenographer.

A new wrinkle is a window closer that will close your window automatically a half hour or so before getting up. On retiring it is set like an alarm clock and the appointed time releases a coil spring and down glides the window noiselessly. It would be my luck to be engaged in a little early morning spying on neighbors when the alarm went off. I have caught my neck in three revolving doors as it is.

The Woolworth building, no longer the tallest structure, continues to attract more attention than any skyscraper in town. The Woolworth was erected about 17 years ago, and it has been estimated 500 daily visit the observation tower. The edifice has a sentimental attachment for outlanders. They perhaps feel that if it were not for the five and tens in their town there would be no gigantic monument of this sort in New York.

Those who wonder why columnists often begin to roll their eyes and bark like a dog are offered this telegram just received from Detroit:

A professional toe dancer is trying for world's record walking on toes today. Wire world's record on toe and held by whom, when and where. Must have answer by noon as we start at 2:30.

"You spoke some time ago," writes Tippy, "of taking another one of your jaunts to Europe. You are still here. What's the trouble?"

Money trouble—so long as you are so nosey.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

YOU are favoring yourself in your job because you have an idea that if you work hard you will wear out sooner than you will if you take it easy.

Men rust out of their jobs before they wear out of them.

If more men kept to a stiff schedule fewer would be without positions when they are older.

Naturally you grow more tired at your work as you grow older. Also you have to exert more will-power to keep going if you are older. And you will have to take more real rest during leisure moments or time. You will have to deny yourself certain pastimes that take too much out of you if you want to keep fit and hold your job. You need energy and vigor and resting time, so you will have to cut out some things you formerly enjoyed. For even though your job may not be of a physical nature, you need more time to recuperate after each day's work than you did when you were a younger man.

This may be a disturbing thought, but you will have it to face.

Don't worry over it.

Accept conditions as they come and make the best of it like a philosopher.

Old age and its demands will come, it is something you cannot avoid; it makes necessary taking better care of yourself.
